SELASSIE O.K.'S PEACE PARLEY

BUILDING TIEUP SPREADS; TRUCE MOVES WRECKED

5,000 More Are Hit in New Strike Call.

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Orders extending the building service employes' strike to approximately 5,000 more buildings in the Harlem and Washington Heights sections of Manhattan were issued by the union late this afternoon following the apparent collapse of the peace negotiations instituted by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia.

Union officials estimated that about 11,000 additional workers would be affected by the extension order. James J. Bambrick, president of the union, had announced earlier in the afternoon that employes would be called out in Brooklyn and in Queens, thus making the strike city-wide.

Union leaders indicated the strike would be extended tomorrow to the Grand Central area. Chris Houlihan, president of local 32-C of the union, said workers would be called out of fifteen of the biggest hotels in the city. Elevator operators, porters, chambermaids, doormen, and watchmen would be summoned to join the walkout, he said.

"General Strike" Talk Hushed.

Some further talk of a "general strike" of other labor unions was heard, but the heads of the service organizations were not so outspoken in their threats along this line as they were yesterday. Bambrick was summoned to the district attorney's office during the afternoon and questioned at length regarding threats attributed to him, but so far as the announcements went this interrogation was all the prosecutor's "investigation" of the strike amounted to.

Determined to continue the fight the union called a massmeeting of strikers in Rockland Palace for tomorrow night, when a report will be presented on the strike situation and the men urged to hold out to the last. The meeting, it is expected, will be addressed by the local strike leaders and international officers of the union, who will arrive here tomorrow from Chicago. Among those en route to New York with "unlimited funds" are Jerry Horan, international president of the Building Service Employés' union, and Gus Van Hecht, a vice president.

Tells of Wire from Green.

Before going down to the district attorney's office Bambrick made public a telegram from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, offering encouragement and urging the assistance of organized labor in support of the strike.

"I [illegible] with interest the developments which are taking place in New York," Green's telegram stated. "I urge the organized labor movement in New York to extend to you such help and assistance as it may be able to give."

Bambrick asserted that Sol Metz, general manager of local 102 of the teamsters' union, which is affiliated with the International Ladies' Garment Workers union, had agreed to stop all deliveries in 240 buildings in the garment center, beginning this afternoon.

Savings Banks to Act.

Meanwhile the Savings Banks association of New York, controling through individual savings banks an enormous amount of real estate, was expected to take a hand in the strike situation in the hope of aiding an amicable settlement. Participation of the bankers apparently was predicated on the failure of Mayor La Guardia and Edward F. McGrady, assistant secretary of labor, to break the existing deadlock.

Hopes of any immediate settlement of the strike vanished early in the day when the realty interests refused to accept the offer of the striking union to arbitrate all issues in the dispute.

The realty advisory board on labor relations announced through its attorney, Walter Gordon Merritt, that its position remained the same, that a definite stand against arbitration of any sort will prevail, and that negotiations are at an end so far as the building operators are concerned.

Battle for 14 Hours.

The board's refusal to arbitrate came after a fourteen hour conference between representatives of the realty

ASSAILS RFC FIFTY MILLION LOAN AS FRAUD

Lawyer Hits Dawes Bank Deal.

Charges that officials of the old Central Republic Bank and Trust company connived with the Reconstruction Finance corporation to deceive the bank's stockholders while arranging $90,000,000 of loans and then "scuttled the ship as they transferred their allegiance" to the new City National Bank and Trust company, were hurled yesterday in the federal court of Judge James H. Wilkerson.

Without a jury, Judge Wilkerson is hearing the suit of the RFC to recover 14 million dollars from stockholders of the Central Republic by forcing them to pay double indemnity on their holdings. There are 4,500 of these stockholders and they are fighting bitterly to prevent the double assessment against them.

Contend Loan Is Illegal.

It is their contention that the final $50,000,000 of the huge loan made upon the old bank's assets in 1932 was illegal; first, because the RFC had no legal right to make a loan to a bank that was closed, and second, because the money was not used for the benefit of the Central Republic, but to finance the new City National bank.

The direct charge of fraud was made by Franklin J. Stransky, counsel for 1,450 of the shareholders. In the course of a long closing argument he averred that the stockholders had no power to stop the "illegal" loan, and that the decision to make, and to accept it, was solely the work of the "key men" and RFC officials.

"Your honor," he shouted, "I charge that in this case there has been a deliberate, conscious, systematic concealment of facts."

O. J. Rogge of the RFC counsel interrupted with an objection. The statement of Stransky, he held, was highly improper.

"Why All the Silence?"

"I again say, and feel I am right," said Stransky, "that there is a deliberate and systematic concealment by the RFC and the bank. We are not so dumb as to believe the 50 million was advanced without a word from the higher ups. I may be charged with not being a gentleman, but the interests of my clients are paramount.

"Why all the silence? Why were signatures of key men proved by subordinates? I am not indulging in personalities, but why were key men not called as witnesses?" [Rogge said they could have been called by the defense.]

"Who was the generalissimo? There is a silence as to that. The personality of Charles G. Dawes stalks through the case, but his voice is not here. Harry B. Hurd, for whom I have highest regard, flits from table to table, but his voice is not heard here." Hurd was counsel for the Central Republic bank and now is counsel for the City National.

Stockholders Helpless, He Says.

"We of the defense are coöperating to protect innocent stockholders who were victims of a transaction they could not stop and who had no knowledge of what went on.

"If there was a conspiracy between the RFC and officers of the old and new banks to violate the law, then in a proper action those people could be held liable, but not the stockholders."

The record is strangely silent, he added, as to what was said between those in the "star chamber" meeting in Chicago and one held in Washington at the same time when the loan was arranged.

Some directors were as ignorant of what was going on as many stockholders, Stransky asserted.

"The old bank could have gone on with the $50,000,000 loan," he said. "The money was diverted from it by the promoters in control of both the old and new banks.

"What was the reason? Some fertile mind knew if the loan were saddled on the old bank it would have to pay $2,900,000 a year in interest, instead of the new bank which received it. There's the nigger in the wood pile.

"This money [referring to the final advance of Oct. 6] was borrowed after the bank closed to give sub-

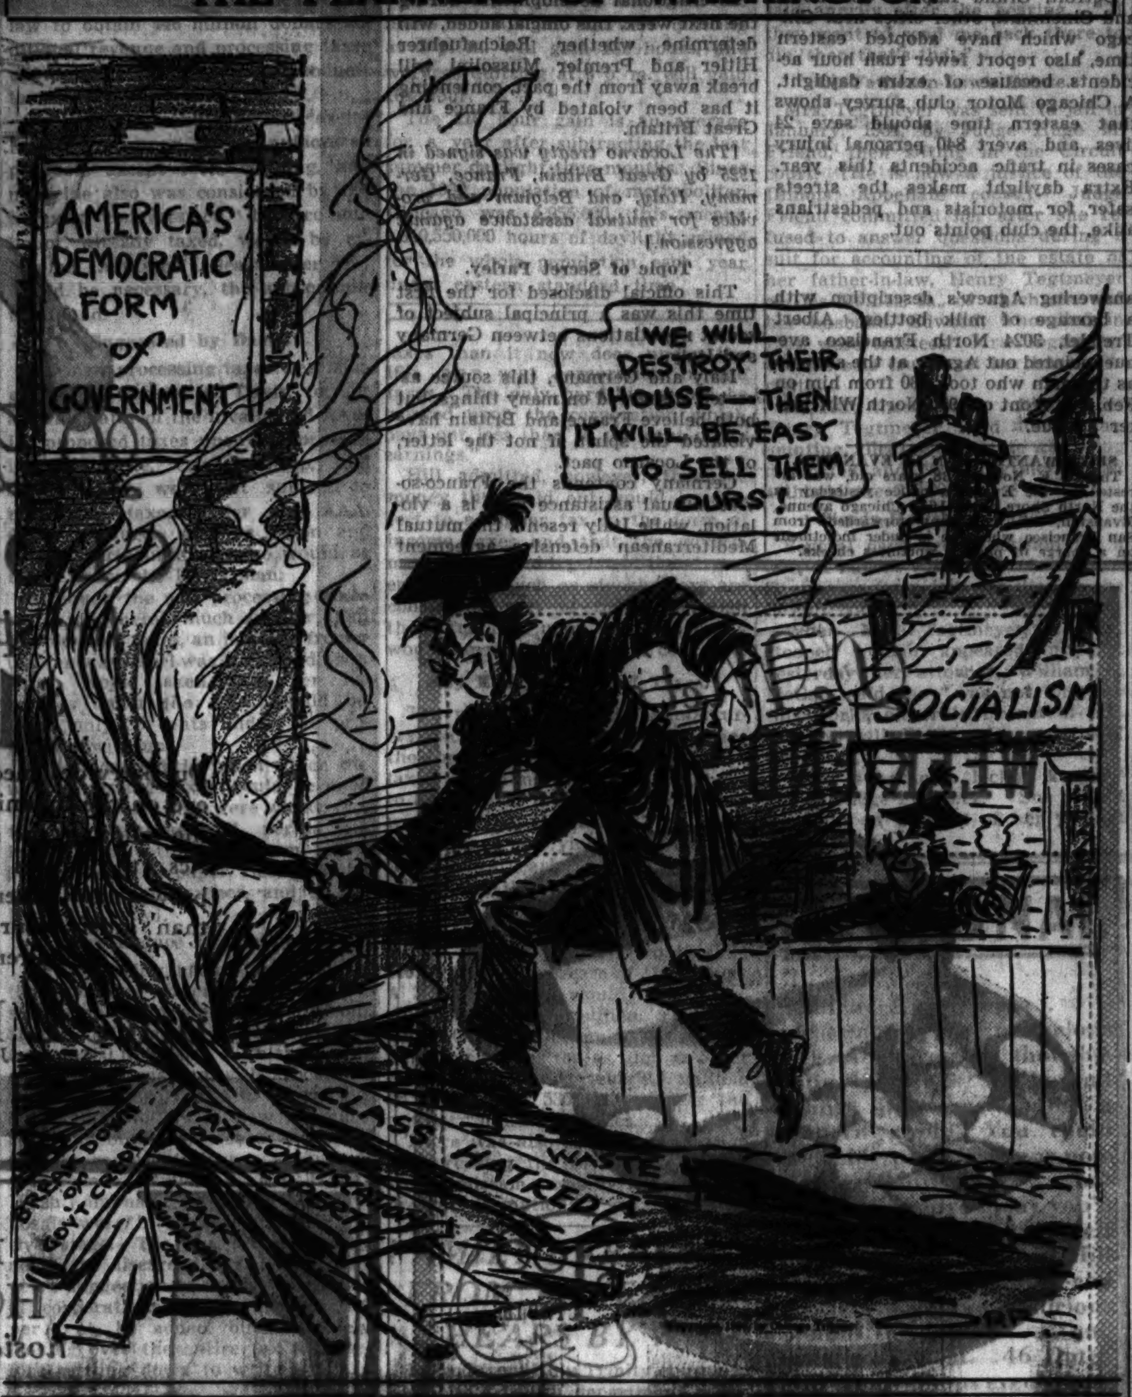
THE PLANNERS OF WASHINGTON



Yes, Little Man, I Am the King: Edward to Boy

GLASGOW, Scotland, March 5.—(AP)—King Edward VIII. climaxed a visit to the new liner Queen Mary today with a tour of an overcrowded slum district, during which he was asked by a 5 year old boy, "Are you really the new king?"

Edward, patting the little questioner, Charles Storrie, on the head, replied: "Yes, little man, I am."

The king visited six flats near the center of the city and inquired especially as to the question of overcrowding. He knocked on the door of each and asked: "May I come in?"

Upset Checkerboard.

One tenant told the king she and six other adults and one child occupied two rooms, while another, a Mrs. Queen, said she, her blind husband, and their four children had the same amount of space.

In a third tenement flat two women playing checkers were so flustered when the monarch walked in that they upset the board and spilled the pieces on the floor.

Walks About Liner.

For nearly three hours the new ruler walked about the partly completed ship. He remarked, "This is a ship built for utility," and expressed a wish to visit the liner again before she sails for America on her maiden voyage in May.

King Edward is "a very human man," said Lord Provost John Stewart after the monarch had departed for London.

"He's so human," the lord provost said, chuckling, "that in the afternoon, at tea in my private room, he showed me how to balance a penny.

"I tried to emulate him, and when I failed he said, 'Please give me back my penny. You know I am a Scotsman.'"

The day gave Scotland its first chance to welcome the new king since his accession to the throne. He arrived early in a special carriage attached to a regular train, in conformance with the principle he established immediately after his accession. Previously it had been the custom for British sovereigns to travel on special trains of their own.

EASTERN STANDARD TIME VOTED BY FOX LAKE, MUNDELEIN

Two more suburbs, Mundelein and Fox Lake, in Lake county, will adopt eastern standard time at 2 a. m. Sunday, bringing to twenty-nine the number of cities, towns, and villages which have joined Chicago in saving daylight. Numerous small communities have moved up their clocks one hour without taking official action.

R. F. Rouse, president of the village of Mundelein, and Arthur J. Amundsen, president of Fox Lake, announced the plans of their towns last night.

Waukegan and North Chicago will take similar action Sunday, placing all of Lake county except a few small rural communities on eastern time.

M'Laglen and Bette Davis Top Film Year

Hollywood, Cal., March 5.—(AP)—The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences awarded gold statuettes tonight to Victor McLaglen and Bette Davis for the best screen performances of 1935, and selected "Mutiny On the Bounty" as the best picture.

Katharine Hepburn was second choice in the award to actresses and Elisabeth Bergner third.

Muni Is Popular.

A surprise in the voting was the "write-in" selection of Paul Muni for second place in the actors' awards for his rôle in "Life of Louis Pasteur." Charles Laughton was voted third for his work in "Mutiny on the Bounty."

Both Miss Davis and McLaglen won by large margins, although vote totals were not announced. Miss Davis won for her work in "Dangerous," Miss Hepburn for "Alice Adams," and Miss Bergner for "Escape Me Never." McLaglen's award came for his work in "The Informer."

Griffith Gets Honor.

The academy presented David Wark Griffith, pioneer producer, with a gold award for his contribution to the movie industry. He was at the academy banquet with his bride, Evelyn Marjory Baldwin of New York, whom he married last Monday in Louisville, Ky. This was Griffith's first visit to Hollywood in ten years.

Mr. Goodger Goes in for the Scripture

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Mark J. Goodger of 1251 North Dearborn street, yesterday completed his thirty-fifth reading of the entire Bible. He is 36 years old.

In his various correspondence with other Bible readers he never has learned of one who had equaled this record, although he makes no positive claim to that effect, he said. Goodger is employed part time distributing advertising coupons.

In 1910, when he was 10 years old, Goodger first began reading the Bible. In 1918 he first resolved to read the Bible as many times as possible. He was living on a Wisconsin farm then. He met a visiting missionary and decided to be a missionary. His brothers went to war, however, and he had to stay on the farm.

Counts the Words—775,693!

"So, it just came to me, I could read the Bible—not once, but maybe more times than any one ever had read it," he said, sitting in a straight chair in his narrow hall bedroom at the Dearborn street address.

The next significant date to Goodger is 1929. In that year he counted the words in the American Standard version of the Bible. He found that there were 775,693 words, 31,373 verses, 1,189 chapters and 66 books.

In his last reading of the Bible, the St. James version, he counted the words and the letters. There were 3,586,489 letters; 788,767 words; 31,102 verses, 1,189 chapters, and 66 books. Tabulating these items and others as he read consumed four months. As he was unemployed most of the winter, he said, he could apply himself to the Bible more than was his wont.

He Does It By Schedule.

"Ordinarily I read three chapters a day and five on Sunday," explained Goodger. "Anybody could do that, and get through the Bible in a year's time exactly. I usually read 45 minutes at night, and 15 minutes in the morning."

Asked what he got of most value from reading the Bible, Mr. Goodger replied simply:

"It is the storehouse of all our principles."

He does not literally believe all that is in the Bible, said Goodger. The story of Jonah and the whale he doubts, for instance. Most of it, however, is believable even to the man who reads the Bible as frequently as he does, he declared.

Another Diversion: Church.

Goodger has diversions other than reading the Bible. He attends meetings of young peoples' societies in Methodist churches and visits churches of various denominations on Sundays to compare them. Once in a while he attends a movie, if it is historical, or if he is sure it is worth while, he said. Asked if he ever read fiction or light reading matter, he said:

"Yes, I just finished reading a book called 'Chapters from Life,' written in 1902, on the lives of Whittier, Longfellow, and other poets. It was real good. Then I like Gene Stratton Porter. I have read all her works."

Goodger was asked if he ever smoked or drank.

"I have never smoked a cigaret, and never had one drink of anything intoxicating," he said. "I think that if there were more Bible reading in homes fewer young people would go wrong or become criminals."

His Ambition: Evangelism.

A veteran scout master and a former Sunday school teacher in Delavan, Wis., where his father, William Goodger, is janitor of the Methodist church, Goodger's ambition is to be

DUCE SLATED TO ACT ON LEAGUE BID TOMORROW

Seeks to Keep All Conquered Area.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, March 5.—Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia today accepted the league of nations' appeal for a peace parley with reservations, but nothing yet has been heard from Rome, and Premier Mussolini's intentions remain inscrutable.

The Ethiopian ruler stipulated that his country would open negotiations "subject to provisions of the covenant being respected."

The best informed opinion here is that Mussolini will neither say yes nor no, but seek to gain more time by asking the league for further details. His answer, it is believed, will take the form of a general declaration of willingness to talk peace, but will condition an actual armistice on at least two things, suspension of existing sanctions, and recognition by the league of Italy's military conquests in Ethiopia to date.

May Send Text of Communique.

In some quarters it is considered likely that Rome will forward the official text of the communique which will be issued after Saturday's Fascist cabinet meeting with a brief covering note explaining that it sets forth Il Duce's view with regard to the league's plea.

It will then be up to the conciliation committee of 13 once more to decide whether Il Duce's stand constitutes refusal or acceptance. In view of the universally recognized gravity of the situation, particularly in the face of Switzerland's threat to leave the league if an anti-Italian oil embargo is voted, there undoubtedly will be strong pressure from France on Capt. Anthony Eden, British foreign secretary, to avoid a break with Italy, so it is hard to tell when anything definite will emerge from the muddle.

Every One Worried.

One thing clear here is that every one is seriously worried as never before.

Threat of complete collapse of the league is envisaged. With the possibility that Switzerland may quit is coupled the possibility that Hungary and Austria would go also. Switzerland's defection, with its strong traditions of neutrality, would be the worst blow ever dealt the league—it might mean its finish.

The Swiss foreign minister, Giuseppe Motta, today made a denial of the Swiss threat which was most unconvincing and virtually a confirmation. Many who heretofore believed Mussolini would be compelled to knuckle to the league no longer are confident. Some still cling to optimism, alleging that this is a new Mussolini bluff. They point out that Motta is a citizen of the canton of Tessin, which has a heavily Italian population and that he has always been strongly Italian.

Motta has gone to Berne to make a report to his government on international relations and it is said he "does not hide the seriousness of the situation."

The Ethiopian Reply.

Haile Selassie's reply to the league invitation for peace negotiations said:

"We have taken note of the telegram which you communicated to our minister of foreign affairs on behalf of the committee of 13. All states who are members of the league of nations are aware that even before the outbreak of the war we did our best to insure peace by equitable conciliation in conformity with the spirit of the covenant of the league of nations.

"Italy, in violation of her international obligations and notwithstanding measures taken up to the present, is continuing her aggression.

"We agree to the opening of negotiations subject to provisions of the covenant being respected. We note that the committee of thirteen's proposal is made that the negotiations be conducted in the spirit of the covenant and the framework of the league. Our detailed reply will be communicated to you through our minister to Paris."

Protest Red Cross Bombing.

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia, March 5.—(AP)—Ethiopia protested to the league of nations today against the bombing of a British Red Cross unit yesterday on the northern front near Quoram, in which it said three wounded native soldiers and one from Kenya were killed.

The communique said the same plane bombed Quoram and killed 16 civilians. None of the personnel of the unit was hurt, it added. The International Red Cross is expected to protest tomorrow.

[An Italian official said a Fascist plane Wednesday had bombed what might have been the British unit near Quoram, but said the plane had been fired on by the unit, which apparently was unloading supplies.]

Italy Won't Be "Stampeded."

ROME, March 5.—(AP)—A qualified Italian acceptance of the league of nations appeal for peace in Africa was indicated tonight by informed sources.

An official said, however, Ethiopia's agreement to conciliate would not "stampede" this country into an early reply.

While Fascist officials worked over the peace proposal they also conferred with Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, vice chancellor of Austria. Fulvio Suvich, undersecretary for foreign affairs, was closeted with the Austrian leader this morning and he was received this afternoon by Il Duce himself.

Talk Italo-German Pact.

All outstanding problems of the European crisis were gone over, it was understood. These included a possible Italo-German rapprochement and the forthcoming Italo-Austro-Hungarian conference here beginning March 18 on Danubian problems.

Vezzio Orazi, Fascist chieftain of the Lazio division of Italy, told thousands of Fascists celebrating the recent Italian successes in Ethiopia: "The victories in Africa are a triumph of Fascist youth. We will face with equal courage a battle against a European lineup."

Vatican Calls for Peace.

VATICAN CITY, March 5.—(AP)—Osservatore Romano, a newspaper usually read and approved by the pope, said today in an editorial that the judgment of humanity would "not be upon him who built up peace hopes but upon him who destroyed them."

In a front page editorial the newspaper said civilization cried for peace and "the loss of life announced in recent battles is horrifying."

HIT-RUN DRIVER IS SEIZED AFTER AUTO HITS BOY

An automobile sped away last evening after striking Byron Harrison, 5 years old, 2450 Wentworth avenue, as he was crossing the street in front of his home on his way home from school. A police squad traced the car, and later arrested John Valentino, 19 years old, 1005 South Morgan street. Valentino was locked up at the Pekin police station on charges of reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. The Harrison boy was taken to the People's hospital, where physicians said he probably would recover. He suffered a broken leg.

Mrs. Edna Wisler, 72 years old, 753 North Dearborn street, died in the Henrotin hospital last night of injuries received on Feb. 15 when she was struck by an automobile at Chicago avenue and Dearborn street.

No trafic deaths were reported to the coroner's office in the 24 hours ending at 4 p. m. yesterday, when the number of persons killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1 stood at 171. In the same period 144 were killed and 2,498 injured within the Chicago city limits.

SIX WITNESSES NAME PAROLED PAIR AS ROBBERS

Judge Orders Them Held to Grand Jury.

After six witnesses faced Francis Swensen and Joseph Pagvara, paroled convicts from Pontiac reformatory, and identified them as perpetrators of recent robberies, Judge Matthew D. Hartigan of the Felony court ordered the pair held to the grand jury yesterday on bonds of $60,000 each.

Pagvara, who is 29 years old and resides at 4928 West 32d street, Cicero, has been in Pontiac twice. He was first sent there in 1923 to serve a year for larceny. Upon completion of this term he returned to Chicago. On June 10, 1927, having been convicted of assault with intent to kill, he was sentenced to 1 to 14 years.

Record Shows Peculiarities.

His record at the detective bureau shows that Pagvara remained at Pontiac nearly eight years, and was paroled on May 25, 1935.

He had been discharged from parole on Sept. 15, making it no longer necessary for him to report to parole officers.

Swensen, who is 27 years old and a resident of Brookfield, boasted that he used to be a policeman in La Grange. Convicted of robbery, he was sentenced to Pontiac on May 6, 1929, and served not quite five years of a one to ten year term.

Trace License Number.

The two parolees were arrested after the license number of a car in which they fled after holding up the store of Harry Kops at 3624 West Chicago avenue last Saturday was traced by the police.

"I'll never go back to the penitentiary," Swensen said yesterday.

In the Boys' court Judge J. M. Braude ordered that Frank Phillips, 18 years old, be sent back to the St. Charles school for boys. Phillips was released on parole from St. Charles, where he was serving a term for burglary, 18 months ago.

Attempts to Loot School.

He and Peter Pretkil, 17 years old, 601 East 92d place, were arrested Wednesday while they were attempting to loot the St. Columbanus parochial school, 71st street and Calumet avenue, of small articlces.

The judge held Phillips guilty of parole violation. Pretkil, who had no criminal record, was fined $200.

A fourth parolee was in the hands of the police last night. He is Frank Mancini, 25 years old, 766 Gilpin place. Back in 1929 Mancini was seized on 21 charges of robbery. He was brought to trial on six of these charges, but five were dismissed when he pleaded guilty to one. Sentenced to one year to life, he went to Joliet on Oct. 21, 1929, and was released on Dec. 4, 1935.

Mancini was arrested when he called at the home of James Dooley, 4946 Jackson boulevard, robber who was shot and killed only a short time earlier when he attempted to hold up Nicholas Ivi, 2200 Clybourn avenue.

Identified in Robberies.

Raymond Agnew, 28 years old, 5006 South May street, a paroled convict arrested Monday as a member of a robber gang, was identified at the police showup last night as the dapper little bandit who held up three dairy wagon drivers on Feb. 17. Paul Mueller, 3427 Greenview avenue, pointed out Agnew as the man who took $45 from him on Feb. 17 and shot in the right leg. On the same day two other drivers, George Goralski, 3935 North Nordica avenue, and Frank W. Chapp, 4653 Kiona avenue, routed a robber answering Agnew's description with a barrage of milk bottles. Albert Trendel, 3024 North Francisco avenue, pointed out Agnew at the showup as the man who took $30 from him on Feb. 8 in front of 4950 North Winchester avenue.

FIRST 4 DAYS OF NEW TIME BRINGS 36 FEWER ACCIDENTS IN TRAFIC

During the first four days eastern standard time was effective in Chicago there were 36 fewer trafic accidents in the city than during the same four days of March, 1935, under central time, the police department reported yesterday. There were 130 accidents in the period under eastern time, and 166 in the same period under central time.

"We will not have a report on the hours the accidents occurred until later in the month," said Otto Brendel, in charge of accident statistics, "but I am sure the reduction comes largely in the evening rush hours. We expect the extra daylight under eastern time to continue the reduction."

Detroit, Grand Rapids, Columbus, and Cincinnati, other cities near Chicago which have adopted eastern time, also report fewer rush hour accidents because of extra daylight. A Chicago Motor club survey shows that eastern time should save 24 lives and avert 840 personal injury cases in trafic accidents this year. Extra daylight makes the streets safer for motorists and pedestrians alike, the club points out.

SEIZE WANTED MAN IN EVANSTON.

Thomas F. Noonan, 36 years old, was arrested by the Evanston police yesterday in the North Shore hotel, 1611 Chicago avenue, Evanston, on a warrant forwarded from San Francisco where he is under indictment on a charge of passing worthless checks.

GERMANY, ITALY MAY DENOUNCE LOCARNO TREATY

Claim Britain and France Have Violated Pact.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

BERLIN, March 5.—(AP)—Germany and Italy, drawing together in the current European crisis, may jointly denounce the Locarno treaty guaranteeing frontiers in western Europe, a high government official said today.

International developments during the next week, this official added, will determine whether Reichsfuehrer Hitler and Premier Mussolini will break away from the pact, contending it has been violated by France and Great Britain.

[The Locarno treaty was signed in 1925 by Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, and Belgium and provides for mutual assistance against aggression.]

Topic of Secret Parley.

This official disclosed for the first time this was a principal subject of secret negotiations between Germany and Italy.

Italy and Germany, this source asserted, disagreed on many things, but both believe France and Britain have violated the spirit, if not the letter, of the Locarno pact.

Germany contends the Franco-soviet mutual assistance pact is a violation, while Italy resents the mutual Mediterranean defensive agreement against Italy reached by Britain, France, and several other powers.

The Italian contention is that conferences between the French and British general stafs violate the pact.

Nazis to Act in Rhineland.

The official refused to intimate what steps Italy would take if the pact is denounced, but frankly said Germany would feel free to act in the demilitarized Rhineland when she felt the time to be ripe.

The reich will act as her own interests dictate, not as other nations want her to act, he added.

1. She might be content merely to state in principle that she considers herself free to do as she pleases in the Rhineland and not follow up the step with definite action.

2. She might declare the armed police of the Rhineland to be part of the national army.

3. She might send several battalions to that area as an outward demonstration of her military independence.

4. She might take the more extreme step of dispatching three or four divisions to the west, thereby placing the thickly populated Rhineland on the same preparedness basis as the rest of Germany.

Sweden Demands Italy Pay Red Cross Attack Damages

STOCKHOLM, March 5.—(AP)—The Swedish government in a note handed the Italian government by the minister to Rome today maintained that the bombardment of a Swedish ambulance in Ethiopia Dec. 30 was not an accident, but was premeditated. The note stated it presumed Italy would be ready to pay an indemnity and reiterates a demand expressed in the original protest that attacks against Swedish ambulances should be suppressed.

SENATOR BLACK DEFIES COURTS IN LOBBY QUIZ

Holds Telegram Seizures to Be Justified.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Violently denouncing THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for its criticism of the terroristic methods employed by his lobby investigating committee, Senator Hugo L. Black [Dem., Ala.] today defied even the federal courts to interfere with his activities.

Senator Black took the senate floor to defend his committee against a tidal wave of resentment and opposition that has swept the nation as a result of disclosures that millions of personal telegrams of thousands of citizens, law firms, and organizations opposed to the New Deal have been seized by the senate investigators.

This resentment was culminated on Monday with an injunction suit brought by the Chicago law firm of Winston, Strawn & Shaw to restrain the Western Union Telegraph company from turning over its telegrams in response to a blanket subpena from the Black committee.

Would Curb Jurisdiction.

Apparently with reference to this lawsuit, which has been continued until next Wednesday for hearing on a permanent injunction, Senator Black declared:

"I may say that if I had ever had any idea that any judge would issue an injunction against this body getting certain evidence I would long ago have introduced a bill to take away the jurisdiction which enabled the court to do that."

A temporary restraining order was issued by Justice Jesse Adkins in the district Supreme court on Monday, but the Western Union company, at the behest of counsel for Black's committee, obtained a continuance of the hearing for a permanent decree, which had been scheduled for today.

Black Cites Editorial.

In the sarcastic voice with which he alternately questions and taunts his witnesses, Senator Black began by saying that there was "a gross and malicious campaign of misrepresentation" against the activities of his committee.

"As an example of the deliberate campaign of misrepresentation which has even been dragged into the editorial columns of newspapers which assume great piety on their part and consequently arrogate to themselves a lofty position of holiness and purity far above all ordinary human beings," he said, "I call your attention to an editorial appearing in THE CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE of Wednesday, March 4, 1936.

"This is the second time the same falsehood has appeared in this paper with reference to the senate and its resolutions. All of us know that the resolutions of the senate are public. They are available even to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, but, of course, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE was not disturbed by what appeared in the resolution.

Complains of Statement.

"For the second time it has made this statement about the senate resolution under which the committee is acting in the investigation of lobbyists, propagandists, and so-called patriotic societies supported by tax dodgers and racketeers."

Black then read from the editorial, quoting it as saying the senate resolution authorizing the lobby investigation specifically named the organizations which were to be investigated.

"The resolution did no such thing," he declared. "But, of course, the truth does not disturb many people who prate about their piety and their loftiness of character."

Later in his speech Black referred to THE TRIBUNE, charging that "several weeks ago THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE was required to pay back some three or four hundred thousand dollars by reason of the fact that they had some kind of corporation and they had manipulated and managed it around until they thought they were not obliged to pay."

Senator Denies Reports.

Black categorically denied published reports, which have been substantiated by officials of both federal and private agencies in a position to know, that his committee employed the federal communications commission to seize copies of telegrams from the telegraph companies, over which it has jurisdiction.

In defending his activities against charges that he is concerned not primarily with lobbying but with organizations opposed to the New Deal, Black assailed the American Liberty league, whose telegrams have been subpenaed.

"One of the ways to try to defeat legislation," he said, "is to work from behind the scenes, and the most successful way to do that is to get some high sounding name. It is said that about a year ago—a little more than that—when the question came up of a name to be given to a certain widespread organization in America some one suggested it should be 'the league to protect property,' and straightaway came back the reply, 'that will never do. It should not be named the league to protect property.'

Attacks Choice of Title.

"'We must get a title that will deceive the people and lead them into believing that what we are really after is to protect liberty.' So they decided to name it 'the Liberty league.'"

Black at a hearing of his committee this morning laid the foundation on which he will seek to explain the action of his committee in obtaining a delay in the suit against the Western Union company.

Black called half a dozen witnesses representing the Crew-Levick company of Philadelphia, a Cities Service subsidiary, and obtained admissions from them that all records of telegrams sent to Washington protesting against the passage of the Wheeler-Rayburn public utility bill last year had been destroyed.

GERMANY FORBIDS FOUR EDITORS TO CONTINUE WORK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 5.—Four editors of newspapers serving foreign minorities in Germany were forbidden today to continue their work. The Nazi press chamber ruled they were unfit to act as editors in Nazi Germany. They warned that attempts to continue work will result in one year prison sentences.

The editors include Jan Scala of the Kulturwehr, organ of the National Association of Foreign Minorities in Germany. He has edited the periodical for eleven years. The editors of the Lithuanian, Polish, and Slav newspapers also were suspended.

This measure is part of a campaign of the press chamber to complete Nazification of the press. It is also directed against Catholic publications. The chief of the press chamber decreed that starting April 1 church publications shall be allowed to publish only religious advertisments and notices of lay firms dealing in religious equipment. This, Catholics argue, is a new violation of the concordat with the Vatican which guarantees that Catholic publications would not be touched by authorities as long as they abstained from politics.

THREE ELECTION JUDGES GUILTY IN VOTE FRAUD CASE

Three men who served as election judges in the Fortieth precinct of the Forty-second ward during the Nov. 6, 1934, election were found guilty yesterday of contempt of court charges arising from ballot frauds in the polling place. County Judge Jarecki deferred sentence until tomorrow to allow attorneys for the defendants to obtain a writ of supersedeas from the Illinois Supreme court at Springfield, which will permit the men to remain at liberty on bond pending their appeal.

Those found guilty are Edward J. Ladwig, 50 years old, 2 West Ohio street, a Republican judge, and John Garbarino, 66 years old, 520 North Wells street, and Joseph Michelotti, 308 West Illinois street, Democratic judges. Lowell E. Brolliar, 26 years old, 233 West Ontario street, Republican clerk, and Cilio Castellini, 32 years old, 600 North Wells street, another Democratic judge, were acquitted.

GETS 25 YEARS FOR RAPE; TERM AS THIEF, ALSO

A prison sentence of twenty-five years for rape and another of one to twenty years for stealing a taxicab were imposed on Carl Radzki, 23 years old, 2014 Iowa street, by Judge Cornelius Harrington in Criminal court yesterday.

A young woman testified that on the night of Feb. 16 Radzki struck her with the cab near her home, breaking her leg. He offered to take her to a hospital for treatment, she said, but instead drove to a lonely spot near Carroll avenue and Damen street, where he got into the rear seat of the cab, robbed her of her purse and attacked her. A passing police squad heard her screams and arrested Radzki.

Radzki's defense was that he was drunk when he stole the cab, and did not remember subsequent events.

ROBS TELEGRAPH OFFICE.

A robber entered the Western Union office at 4729 North Sawyer avenue last night and robbed the manager, John A. Meerse, 2941 78th court, Elmwood Park, of $200.

U. S. SALES TAX, HIGHER INCOME LEVIES STUDIED

New Processing Sources Also Studied.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—In its desperate search for new taxes to meet President Roosevelt's demands for additional revenue, a house subcommittee today discussed a revision of the income tax law to obtain 446 million dollars additional revenue and processing taxes upon a wide variety of farm products to raise 221 million annually.

A general manufacturers' excise [sales] tax upon all manufactured products except food, clothing, and medicine also was considered by the harassed congressmen. Tobacco and liquor, already taxed, would be exempted. A tax of at least 3 per cent would be necessary, the subcommittee found.

Suggested by Davis.

The new processing taxes were suggested by Chester C. Davis, former administrator of the invalidated AAA. He proposed taxes upon the processing of cattle, calves, sheep, and lambs which were not subject to processing taxes under the AAA. Other products, such as rayon and silk, hitherto untaxed, also would be taxed under the Davis plan.

Although the new processing taxes were, in general, much smaller than the old AAA taxes, an increase from 5 to 6 cents a bushel was suggested upon corn. Hogs, taxed $2.25 per 100 pounds under the AAA, would be taxed only 30 cents under the proposed new setup.

Other commodities upon which the new processing taxes would be fixed under the Davis plan were wheat, rye, flaxseed, hempseed oil, perilla oil, barley, oats, cotton, jute yarn, paper bags, open mesh paper, rice, peanuts, sugar, tobacco, starches, and spirits [except brandy].

May Reduce Exemptions.

In considering income tax revisions, the committee contemplated lowering the exemption for single persons from $1,000 to $800 and for married persons from $2,500 to $2,000. With these lowered exemptions and with a boost in the normal tax from 4 to 6 per cent 186 million dollars in new revenues could be obtained, treasury experts told the representatives.

Chairman Samuel B. Hill [Dem., Wash.] emphasized that all these proposals were in the extremely tentative stage. The committee has by no means discarded President Roosevelt's suggestion to tax the surpluses of corporations an average of 33⅓ per cent, he added, but is merely looking over the entire tax field before settling down to write a bill.

Average of 33⅓ Per Cent.

Treasury experts late today submitted to the committee three suggested schedules for taxing the undistributed reserves of corporations. None of the three schedules was given special preference, but all were calculated to produce an average tax of 33⅓ per cent on total reserves of United States corporations.

The first schedule was as follows:

Undistributed reserve—	Proposed tax.
Under $2,000	25 per cent
$ 2,000 to $15,000	28 per cent
$15,000 to $40,000	32 per cent
Above $40,000	35 per cent

The same brackets were used for the other two schedules with the proposed tax running from 20 per cent to 37½ per cent in schedule 2 and from 25 per cent to 37 per cent in schedule 3.

Hill also asked that an impression be corrected that existing surpluses would be subjected to taxation under the Roosevelt scheme. Only the current earnings in the present year, beginning last Jan. 1, would be subject to the tax, which is expected to range between 20 and 37 or 40 per cent.

90 Per Cent Levy Considered.

A 90 per cent tax upon impounded processing taxes, also proposed by the President, is before the committee. Such a tax would raise about 100 million dollars, Hill estimated.

"The corporate surplus tax is simply an inducement to corporations to hold back not more than 50 per cent of their net earnings," Hill insisted. "If a corporation has had a policy of holding back 30 per cent of such earnings as a reserve, it should be for the plan because it will pay less taxes than it now does under the 16½ per cent corporation income taxes. The only hardship would be worked upon the corporation which pays out less than 50 per cent of its earnings."

Hill admitted, however, that the money thus paid out would be subject to a higher tax in the form of income taxes and that the government thus would get additional revenue. Inasmuch as stockholders are considered part of the corporation the actual tax upon earnings really would be much higher, he conceded.

May End "Nuisance" Taxes.

The proposed general manufacturers' excise or sales tax would replace the present excise or "nuisance" taxes, which necessarily would have to be repealed if a general excise tax were enacted, Hill said. The "nuisance" taxes now yield about 380 million dollars yearly.

To offset this 380 million loss, a 3 per cent tax, at least, must be imposed, treasury experts told the committee. A 3 per cent tax would yield 546 million, an increase of 116 million. A 2 per cent tax would be too low, yielding only 364 million, a loss of $16,000,000. The committee discussed imposing a sales tax as high as 5 per cent which would yield 910 million, an increase of 530 million over the present "nuisance" taxes.

There was also some consideration of increasing the revenue from theater admission taxes by lowering the present exemptions.

EASTERN TIME BRINGS 210 EXTRA HOURS OF BENEFICIAL DAYLIGHT

When Chicago adopted eastern standard time on March 1 it elected to gain 210 extra hours of daylight which would be available annually during the period the average citizen is awake. How the individual citizen will use these hours is his own affair, but doctors, recreation experts, and trafic analysists declare that they will be used to benefit health, increase enjoyment of homes and parks, and reduce trafic accidents.

The 210 extra hours are over and above those previously gained under summer daylight saving time. Harvey S. Pardee, consulting engineer who studied the time problem, says that between Oct. 15 and April 15, alone, school children will gain 213 hours of daylight, workers quitting at 5 p. m. will gain 182 hours, and workers quitting at 6 p. m. will gain 164 hour.

The 210 hour gain is an average for a year after subtracting the last summer daylight time months. Since the 1930 population of metropolitan Chicago was 4,955,000, this means 1,040,550,000 hours of daylight gained for the whole population each year under eastern standard time.

FAMILY BARRED FROM FUNERAL; HEARS BY WIRE

Barred from Holy Trinity church in Elgin by a health department order, the family of Miss Helen Caroline Schultz, 22 years old, who died of scarlet fever last Sunday, sat in a closed automobile outside the church yesterday and listened to funeral services for the young woman through radio headphones. Dr. A. L. Mann, Elgin city physician, ruled that because of the contagious nature of Miss Schultz's illness her family could not attend the church services and had to ride in a closed car to the cemetery. An amplifier unit in the church pulpit was wired through a window in the auditorium and into the parked car outside. The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schultz, and their other three children, Frances, Robert, and Donald, heard the services through individual headphones. The Schultzes live at 841 Center street, Elgin.

FREEDOM DENIED AGAIN TO WIDOW IN JAIL 2 YEARS

Mrs. Daisy C. Tegtmeyer, 50 years old, who has spent the last two years in the county jail for contempt of court, went before Judge Michael Feinberg of the Circuit court yesterday in an effort to win her freedom. But she refused an opportunity to clear herself of the contempt by telling what she had done with $30,000 she is alleged to have dissipated. At the conclusion of the hearing she was sent back to jail.

"I've been in jail this long," she said angrily after the hearing. "If they want to send me back there to die, then that's that."

On Father-in-Law's Estate.

Mrs. Tegtmeyer was sent to jail in January, 1934, by Judge Hugo M. Friend, then sitting in the Circuit court. [He is now a justice of the Illinois Appellate court.] Judge Friend committed her after she refused to answer questions during a suit for accounting of the estate of her father-in-law, Henry Tegtmeyer of Des Moines, Ia., of which she and her husband, Edward, who died in 1924, were trustees. Mrs. Tegtmeyer became sole trustee at her husband's death.

In 1931 three other children of Henry Tegtmeyer sued for an accounting, alleging the estate was being dissipated and Mrs. Tegtmeyer had withheld the $30,000.

Pleads Health in Danger.

Several days ago a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to release Mrs. Tegtmeyer from jail was filed in the Circuit court.

When Mrs. Tegtmeyer, a thin, stooped woman, appeared in court yesterday her attorney, William C. McGah, said she "was not long for this world, either in or out of jail, and she will die in a few months if left there."

"She is her own lockup keeper," replied Judge Feinberg. "She cannot complain on account of her present predicament."

3,000 MINERS AT HARRISBURG, ILL., OUT ON STRIKE

Protest Peabody Use of "United" Crew.

Harrisburg, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—More than 3,000 coal miners were on strike tonight in this southern Illinois mining community, but little response was given to their appeal for a county-wide general labor "holiday."

After opening as usual this morning, most of the stores in Harrisburg closed a few hours later when clerks, barbers, and other trade employés left their jobs in sympathy with the miners. A short time later all except about 25 per cent of the business establishments had been reopened following a meeting of the Merchants' association.

Ten Mines Idle.

The striking miners, members of the Progressive union, failed to report for work at ten Saline county mines. Their walkout is a demonstration against the reopening of Peabody mine No. 43 with "imported" labor under a contract with a rival union, the United Mine Workers of America.

Many employés of the WPA failed to report for work. Officials said only one project was affected.

Although no picketing was being done by the miners, talk of picketing Peabody 43 tomorrow was heard. A group of county highway policemen guarded the Peabody mine.

Match Factory Closed.

Akron, O., March 5.—[Special.]—More than 450 employés at the Palmer Match company were made idle today when the concern was closed, allegedly in a lockout. Pickets were placed around the plant. A company official was quoted as having said imperfect matches had been turned out by workmen.

Gene Howe, Texas Editor, Retires After 25 Years

Amarillo, Tex., March 5.—(AP)—Gene Howe retired today at the end of 25 years as editor of the News-Globe, declaring that "what this country needs is more young editors." Howe, whose father is Ed Howe, Kansas, "sage of Potato Hill," will continue to write his column under the name of "Old Tack," which won him distinction as a homely commentator.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS AND LADY ASHLEY PLAN 'QUICK WEDDING'

PARIS, March 5.—(AP)—Confident their request for exemption from the usual delays of French marriage laws would be granted, Douglas Fairbanks Sr. and Lady Ashley, former British musical comedy actress, tonight planned a quick wedding. Fairbanks made formal application to the state's attorney to suspend provisions of the law requiring thirty day residence and eleven day publication of banns before the marriage.

Authorities indicated they would approve the application. Earlier Fairbanks had appealed to attachés at the United States consulate but his request to be married had been refused. The attachés said they did not have authority to perform the marriage.

The American film actor came to France from the United States last week. Lady Ashley joined him here at the time of his arrival. Fairbanks was named co-respondent in the divorce suit of Lord Ashley. The suit ended in a decree for the young nobleman in London in November, 1934. The actor was divorced by Mary Pickford in January, 1935, and the decree became absolute during January this year.

200 JEWS REACH N. Y. IN FLIGHT FROM GERMANY

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Nazi oppression of the Jews was blamed for the departure from Germany of more than 200 Jewish refugees who arrived here today aboard the liner Washington.

Because they were afraid reprisals might be inflicted on relatives left behind, most of the refugees were reluctant to discuss Nazi persecution.

Dr. Jacob Buchwaijc, Hanover dentist, said: "Germany is glad to be rid of us. My Christian clients could not come to me any more, so I had to leave." He was accompanied by his wife.

Hans Levi, 20, an aviator, said he was told he might as well get out of Germany after he completed his flying training in Holland because he would be unable to get a pilot's license in Germany.

Today's arrivals were admitted to the United States on regular immigration visas for permanent residence.

an evangelist. He was a student in the Chicago Training school, now closed, in 1922.

Next to reading the Bible, Goodger enjoys writing poetry. Several of his poems, including "Friendship," and "Tomorrow," have appeared in a magazine published by the Odd Fellows, of which order he is a member.

Some Biblical Statistics.

A few of his findings include:

There are 39,272 words spoken by Jesus.

There are 2,472 words in "Sermon on the Mount."

The word "dog" is mentioned 40 times.

The word "dove" is mentioned 50 times.

The word "flea" is mentioned twice.

The Book of Jeremiah has the largest number of words, 42,672; the Second, John, the shortest, 298 words, 1 chapter and 13 verses.

Goodger is by no means through with reading the Bible. He intends to keep on reading it, year in, year out, for the rest of his life, he said. He decided long ago he would never marry as it might interfere with his studies, and his study of the Bible is his absorbing interest in life, he said.

Prisons Inquiry Moves to Menard Penitentiary

The governor's commission investigating conditions in Illinois prisons will take up its inquiry Tuesday at the southern Illinois penitentiary at Menard, it was announced yesterday.

ALL PEACEFUL HERE, SAYS HORAN ON WAY TO STRIKE PARLEY

Jerry J. Horan, president of the Building Service Employés' International union, with headquarters in Chicago, departed last night for New York, where his union is engaged in a general strike. "We're out to win," he declared. Today he will confer with officials of the New York union.

There is no prospect of a similar strike in Chicago, Horan said.

A brief strike of 17 employés in the 23 story Engineering building at 205 West Wacker drive was called off yesterday after the building management agreed to pay its head janitor $150 a month and the six assistant janitors $115.

TYDINGS, CRITIC OF NEW DEAL, TO BACK ROOSEVELT

Baltimore, Md., March 5.—(AP)—Senator Millard E. Tydings [Dem., Md.] aligned himself tonight with the backers of President Roosevelt and put a capstone on a series of developments marked by the launching of the Roosevelt renomination campaign in Maryland.

At times a severe critic of New Deal policies, Tydings said he believed the President should "substantially modify a number of the emergency activities." Recent happenings, he added, "indicate that President Roosevelt favors such a course."

Only a few hours before the Marylander made known his stand the President's candidacy in the Maryland presidential preference primary was filed in Annapolis.

Tydings spoke from the same platform from which, 24 hours before, Col. Henry Breckinridge had assailed the New Deal with a charge that by "economy of scarcity" it had destroyed jobs. Breckinridge will be entered in the primary against Roosevelt.

ROYALISTS INVITE OTTO TO LIVE IN AUSTRIAN TYROL

VIENNA, March 5.—(AP)—Well informed Viennese monarchists disclosed today that a committee of legitimists, with the consent of the Tyrolese provincial government, has invited the Archduke Otto of Hapsburg to live in the Austrian Tyrol.

The pretender to the Austrian throne, it was said, has been urged to make a gradual approach to Vienna, returning to his fatherland as a private citizen without immediate political aspirations.

interests and the union had ended in dismal failure at city hall early today.

Mayor La Guardia, returning to his office at 10 a. m. after only four hours of sleep, was frankly pessimistic. He appealed to the realty interests to accept the union's offer to arbitrate, asserting that it was, in his opinion, a reasonable offer.

The union's insistence upon a closed shop brought about the deadlock at the mayor's conference, Merritt said. He pointed out that the union's offer to arbitrate was an eleventh hour proposal.

The mayor, his manner indicating that he was weary of the whole business, said:

"We were here at the city hall until past 4 o'clock this morning. I did not get home until after 5. No matter what the demands and rejections were, that is all wiped out in the union's offer to arbitrate everything. The minute the arbitration offer is accepted the union will call off the strike and go back to work. I cannot see how any reasonable person can reject such an offer. I want to appeal to the real estate interests to reconsider the union's offer, and I am ready to confer with the realty interests, or with individual owners who will accept this offer."

Police estimates were that 115 apartment houses responded to the strike call in the new area and that the total number of buildings affected tonight was 1,650. There were 110 settlements by individual owners in the course of the day. There have been 91 arrests.

A more significant announcement from police headquarters was that the 5,504 men on the eligible list for the police department have been formed into a reserve unit to aid the authorities in case of any "extreme emergency."

COHAN PLEADS FOR PROTECTION OF SONGSMITHS

Committee Digresses to Debate Beer Merits.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—George M. Cohan, America's No. 1 song and dance man, today completed the parade of Tin Pan Alley notables who have appeared before the house patents committee in the last two weeks. The committee is considering legislation modifying the copyrighting of songs.

Introduced by Chairman William I. Sirovich [Dem., N. Y.] as the "one and only," the man who composed the United States' world war song, "Over There," Cohan made a simple plea for his fellow song writers, asking that they be protected against pirating of their compositions.

Sheet Music Trade Lost.

"The radio has put the sheet music business on the blink," he told the committee. "The only revenue a song writer gets now is what he can get from the radio and phonograph record manufacturers."

He defended the American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers, an organization which controls the output of most song writers and charges a fee for broadcasting songs. A bill already passed by the senate and being considered in the house would put the society out of business, Cohan said, and the writing of songs would become a lost art.

Having made a brief statement, Cohan prepared to leave. He was kept before the committee for nearly two hours, however, while member after member made long speeches detailing their opinions on a variety of subjects.

Debate Merits of Beer.

Puzzled at first, Cohan became amused. He chuckled as two members held a debate on the comparative merits of Philadelphia and Milwaukee beer and shook his head in wonder. He essayed a mild wise-crack or two himself.

"I'll wager you haven't read either the Daly bill or the Duffy bill pending before this committee," barked Chairman Sirovich.

"Well, I know a Bill Daly and a Bill Duffy," remarked Cohan, pretending to be bewildered.

Cohan Is Modest Fellow.

"I was just a hack writer," he said, modestly, in distinct contrast to the extravagant claims of other Broadwayites who have preceded him.

"How did you come to write 'Over There?'" he was asked.

"It was just a bugle call," was the answer. "If I hadn't written it on Thursday, some one else would have written it on Friday."

"Didn't you write 'Always Leave Them Smiling When You Say Goodbye?'" asked a committee member.

"Is that a hint?" grinned Cohan.

"What's the name of the play you're appearing in now?" asked Sirovich.

The chairman insisted, however, and the actor gave the name of the play: "Dear Old Darling."

"You're Just a Dear Old Darling to have to come down here and appear before this committee," said Sirovich, fervently. "Thank you."

FIND NEWLY WED COUPLE SHOT TO DEATH IN HOTEL

Michael Rivera, 25 years old, and his bride, Barbara, 25, who were married on Feb. 15, were found shot to death yesterday in their room in the New Jackson hotel, 768 Jackson boulevard. From a note discovered near Rivera's body, in which he referred to his wife as a "double crosser," police deduced that he shot her and then killed himself. The weapon was lying near his body.

The police believed the shooting occurred Wednesday morning. A radio had been blaring in the apartment throughout Wednesday and until early yesterday, when a porter opened the door and found the bodies. It was learned that Rivera sent a telegram on Wednesday to his mother, Mrs. Marmella Rivera, 1228 South Peoria street, telling her good-by.

The Riveras were married in Paris, Ill. Five days later—Feb. 20—they registered at the New Jackson hotel. The police believed Rivera was jealous because his wife had gone out with other men since the marriage and planned to return to her former husband and two children in Gary.

140 HALF DOLLARS TRAP KIN OF BANK HOLDUP SUSPECT

George Kobart, 21 years old, of Romeo, seven miles north of Joliet, was arrested by the Joliet police yesterday while attempting to exchange $70 in half dollars for bills at a gasoline filling station. The coins, police said, were part of the $16,000 taken in a robbery of the St. Charles National bank on Jan. 31. Kobart's uncle, James Kobart, a former Will county deputy sherif, is one of eight men indicted by a federal grand jury in Chicago for the robbery. James Kobart is charged with having received $250 of the bank loot for permitting the main conspirators to use his home in Romeo for the division of the money. George Kobart was held for federal authorities by the Joliet police.

MOBILIZE TROOPS IN PORTO RICO; 7 PLOTTERS SEIZED

Scheme to Oust U.S. Rule by Force Charged.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 5.—(AP)—National guard units, mobilized in barracks after discovery of an alleged Nationalist plot to overthrow the insular United States government by force, awaited further orders tonight as seven Nationalists were released under $10,000 bond each.

Police continued their investigation which led to the arrest of Pedro Albizu Campos, asserted leader of the conspiracy, and six of his followers, Juan Antonio Corretjer [secretary of the Nationalist party], Pablo Marrero Rosado, Erasmo Velazquez, Clemente Soto Velez, Juan Juarbe, and Luis F. Velazquez.

Named as Revolt Plotters.

The Nationalists were charged with conspiracy to overthrow the insular United States government, inciting insurrection, and recruiting soldiers.

Albizu is known as the leader of the movement which seeks to establish governmental independence for Porto Rico. He is a graduate of Harvard.

He surrendered as soon as he learned United States Marshal Draughon held a warrant for his arrest. With the other prisoners, he was taken before United States Commissioner Ramon Julia, entered pleas of innocence for all seven, and completed arrangements for release on bond.

[In Washington, D. C., Secretary of the Interior Ickes, whose department administers the affairs of Porto Rico, said Albizu is "a very dangerous person" and the government would prosecute him for treason.]

Probe Drills by Recruits.

The arrests followed filing of affidavits by police and detectives telling of Nationalists' efforts to enlist and drill recruits. The official charges also detailed a speech by Albizu last December in which he suggested that if the military insular forces could be called out the Nationalists could make the question of insular independence an international one.

A grand jury investigation into the alleged conspiracy is to be called next week. The jury will inquire also into the assassination of Col. E. Francis Riggs, head of the insular police, who was shot down Feb. 23.

Nationalist activities in the island came under the scrutiny of department of justice agents after twelve persons were killed and more than one hundred injured during the election registration period in January.

ACTUAL TIME CHANGE EXPERIENCE REVERSES ATTITUDE OF ITS FOES

Organized labor, now opposing eastern standard time in Chicago, took the same position in other cities where fast time was tried, but reversed its attitude after actual experience with the additional daylight.

In Grand Rapids, Mich., where labor once defeated an eastern time proposal, labor leaders now indorse the change. The same is true in Detroit, Toledo, and Columbus and other cities near Chicago which have adopted eastern time.

In Cincinnati, only 12 minutes sun time from Chicago, John J. Hurst, president of the central labor council, told Chicagoans by radio that Cincinnati labor approves eastern time.

"We opposed it at first," he said, "but now we find that the extra daylight gives us more time outside, more chance to enjoy leisure with our families, lower lighting costs, and better working conditions. We would not change back to central time now."

SHOOTING OF TWO IN CAFE CHARGED TO OLD GRUDGE

A grudge of long standing, police said yesterday, led to the wounding of Park Policeman Albert Doyle, 40 years old, 5514 Blackstone avenue, and Frank Kane, 36 years old, 5540 Hyde Park boulevard, cigar store clerk, during a quarrel in the Hyde Park café, 5455 Lake Park avenue, early in the day.

According to the Hyde Park police, Kane and his wife entered the café, on the second floor, and made several uncomplimentary remarks to Doyle, who was not in uniform. Doyle seized Kane, who had been drinking, according to the police, and was scuffling with him when Mrs. Kane joined in the fight. The policeman drew his service pistol and fired four times. Kane was shot in the body. One bullet struck Doyle in the left leg.

Capt. Ed Redd of the park police force reported that the wounded men had known each other for several years. Doyle, who has been on the park police force since 1923, was suspended pending a full investigation.

CHEER PROPOSAL OF BROOKS FOR AID TO FARMER

G. O. P. Aspirant Opens Downstate Campaign.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ottawa, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Wayland Brooks, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor of Illinois, opened his downstate campaign with a rally here today in which he announced the chief planks in his platform and met his supporters from forty central counties.

Mr. Brooks chose this old council ground of the Indians, the meeting place of the Illinois and Fox river waters, as the starting point of his campaign because he was born near here and owns a 350 acre farm in this neighborhood. He is not only a Chicago attorney and Legionnaire but a downstate farmer. In addition, it was the Republican leaders of this county who first urged him to get into this race.

4,000 Crowd Armory.

The rally was held in the Third Regiment armory, which was crowded with 4,000 when Brooks began to speak at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. There was a delay of an hour because of the funeral services for E. V. Yockey, for 28 years a supervisor and Republican leader in this county.

Delegations from surrounding counties, cars filled with Chicago Brooks workers, music and the salute from a big gun in front of the armory made the street and armory scene a lively one. The booming of the gun shook the ice floes on the river banks and centered attention on the armory for hours.

James E. Hill, county chairman, presided at the meeting.

Brooks made clear today his position on agriculture, conservation, labor, relief, business and industry, and taxation. He declared the sales tax wrong in principle and said it must be repealed.

At a future date, he said, he would discuss old age pensions, education, civil service, and institutional problems. Brooks will begin touring downstate counties March 10.

"By the grace of God and your militant help," he told the cheering crowd, "I will be the governor of Illinois."

Tribute to Teacher.

While the political chieftains from Chicago and elsewhere sat on the sidelines, Brooks was accompanied on the platform by farmers and ex-soldiers with whom he served in France. Just before the meeting was opened the audience stood for a moment in silence in memory of Mrs. S. J. Dickens of Plainfield, one of Brooks' first school teachers, who died two days ago. She had expected to sit on the platform.

Cy Bradish, an ex-marine who was wounded in the same action with Brooks, was on the platform; also Mrs. Vera Hess of La Salle county, a sister of the first American marine to be killed in the war, a member of Brooks' company. Robt. L. Notman of Streator, who addressed Brooks as "corporal" was there. Leslie Morgan of West Bureau county, a farmer for whom Brooks worked as a boy of 16, was another platform guest; also A. C. McInturff, La Salle county farmer.

Mr. Brooks devoted the larger part of his address to the subject of agriculture and conservation. Frank O. Lowden's formula for farm legislation, he said, is the best yet offered.

"Agricultural aid should not be administered politically," he said. "Grants by the federal government to the states should be administered through the state agricultural colleges for the purpose of conserving the fertility of the soil by removing unproductive acreage and planting the same to legumes.

"All measures that will further increase the use of agricultural production for industrial purposes must be utilized. The importation of meats, fats, oils, and other products of foreign farms and cheap labor should be stopped by adequate protective measures. The home market for an additional 40 million bushels of American corn can be saved by a tarif of 10 or 12 cents a gallon on black strap molasses.

"Electricity for power and light; telephone facilities; rural mail deliveries; better educational facilities through schools and libraries, all must be brought to Illinois through a definite state-wide farm home program.

Cheap Money Needed.

"Money must be made more readily available for farm ownership, seed, stock, and improvement purposes. Crop loans to provide current cash is a necessary aid. Secondary marketing roads must be completed into every farm community in the state. Gasoline taxes should be a public trust for road improvement.

"To carry out the above program I will coöperate with the leading farm organizations and leaders of agricultural thought to restore independence, happiness and prosperity to the farms of Illinois."

He outlined his platform on other subjects as follows:

CONSERVATION—"The right to fish and hunt is an inborn heritage of the American people. I pledge to do all within my power to protect this birthright for ourselves and our children."

LABOR—"I believe the right of collective bargaining between employé and employer should be retained unimpaired and governmental coercion of either is un-American and is not in the best interests of Illinois labor or business."

Hits Political Relief.

RELIEF—"The political administration of relief must be stopped. Centralized relief with its 'clients' is arbitrary, costly and un-American. The individual must be given the opportunity to stand upon his own feet with a regular job so that he can take care of himself."

BUSINESS AND INDUSTRY—"Political meddling with business and industry must cease. Government regulation of business should be confined to such restraint as is necessary to protect the general welfare. The government should get out of private business and stay out. Every individual should have the right to enjoy the reward of his labor and be protected in the possession of property honestly earned through initiative, ability, and thrift."

TAXATION—"Illinois must adopt a normal tax program during the next four years. Lower taxes mean increased business activity, which in turn means more jobs. The taxes on real estate have reached the breaking point and must be lowered. The Illinois sales tax is wrong in principle, as it places the burden of waste and reckless spending on the food, clothes, and necessities of life of the working people who are least able to bear it. It must be lowered at once and should be abolished at the earliest possible moment."

BORAH ENTERS RACE IN NEBRASKA FOR G. O. P. NOMINATION

Washington, D. C., March 5.—(AP)—Carl G. Bachmann, chairman of the Borah campaign committee, announced today that the Idaho senator has entered the Nebraska presidential preference primaries to be held April 14.

Petitions bearing approximately 800 names were filed with the secretary of state at Lincoln an hour before the deadline for filing by Robert A. Neleon of Lincoln, president of the "Nebraska Borah for President" club.

U. S. RED AIDS IN FRIEND'S ARREST; THEN KILLS SELF

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 5.—(AP)—A young American communist chose death today when he learned that information he had given police resulted in the arrest of Luiz Carlos Prestes, famous Brazilian revolutionary and long a fugitive.

Victor Allan Barron, 26, listed as the son of Harrison George, said by authorities to be an international communist of the United States, leaped to his death in police headquarters.

Arrest of Prestes.

Shortly before, 53 government agents had surrounded the pajama clad Prestes in a home here and arrested him, their guns leveled.

"Don't shoot me!" they said Prestes cried. "I am not a dynamiter! I'll give up!"

When told that Prestes, so-called "bearded knight of hope" of the Sao Paulo revolt of 1924, had been seized, Barron killed himself.

Held Since January.

Police officials said his death plunge was due to fear that international communists would "put him on the spot."

The youth had been held in jail since January, accused of playing an important part in last November's revolt under Prestes by operating a clandestine wireless set with which calls went out to leftists in northern provinces to revolt.

After "persistent questioning," police said, Barron called for a map of Rio de Janeiro yesterday and put his finger on the spot in the Mayer district, where he said Prestes and a blonde woman named "Olga" sought refuge three months ago.

FALL FATAL TO INDIANAN, 87.

KELLY IS BLAMED BY HORNER FOR DEFEAT OF HONEST ELECTION

Lawrenceville, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Swinging into Lawrence county in his downstate primary campaign tour, Gov. Henry Horner tonight addressed an audience of several hundred voters in the county courthouse here, and continued his attacks on the Kelly machine in Chicago, state senators who were responsible for the defeat of the permanent registration law, and John Stelle, opposition candidate for lieutenant governor.

The governor blamed Kelly for defeat of the honest election bill, and declared that state senators who voted against it or refused to vote for it were merely Kelly's tools and not representing their constituencies.

He branded Stelle untrue to his friends, and said he had helped Stelle attain the office of state treasurer.

Interested audiences continued to greet the governor today at Fairfield, Albion, and Mount Carmel, the county courthouses were filled with voters when the governor spoke. At noon he was a luncheon guest of the Fairfield Rotary club, where he spoke briefly.

BOY CONFESSES STEALING CHECKS FROM MAIL BOXES

Theodore Blakley, 7214 Stewart avenue, took his son James, 17 years old, to the Boys' court on Jan. 20 and said the boy was unmanageable. The court put James on probation for six months. Last night the youth was locked up at the Englewood police station after he confessed robbing 50 apartment mail boxes in the Englewood district. He was identified by Simon Hirsch, owner of a clothing store at 6914 Wentworth avenue, as the boy who cashed a check for $48.19 which had been stolen from the mail box of John Reif, 6846 Yale avenue. He forged Reif's indorsement. Blakley was held for federal authorities.

IT'S STARTLING to learn how CHEAP SOAP CHIPS CAN RUIN CLOTHES

YES—countless thousands of women have found that the "double suds" of American Family Flakes SOAK out the grimiest dirt—without harmful rubbing...

MRS. CHARLOTTE KING says:
"I can't afford to wear clothes out in the wash. There's no place in my budget for clothes that wear out before their time. And I learned in a hurry that cheap soap is no bargain at all. That awful hard rubbing it makes you do soon ruined my things—especially the table linens—and I can't afford to pay that price! I use safe American Family Flakes now all the time. I wouldn't trust our wash in anything else!"
TUNE IN: "The Friendly Neighbor's House Party" 10:00 A. M.—WGN—daily except Sunday

ARE you perhaps being penny-wise and pound-foolish about the soap chips you buy? If so, this advertisement may be the means of saving a considerable amount of money for you.
Recent tests have revealed that cheap soap chips can ruin clothes. Actually, rob you of months of service you should expect.
And the use of cheap soap chips is such a needless risk, with American Family Flakes at your command. Just read what these superb flakes do:
First, American Family Flakes' "double suds" float out the grimiest dirt—without hard rubbing. Second, American Family Flakes provide fastest washing with utmost safety to clothes. They contain no harmful chemicals. Third, American Family Flakes leave the wash fresh and clean—with colored fabrics bright—and linens and white goods spotlessly white.
For ninety years American Family has demonstrated that it saves time, saves work and, most important, SAVES CLOTHES. That is why more Chicago women use American Family than any other brand.
You really can't afford to use cheap, harsh soaps that wear out clothes all too soon, and which require more soap to do the job. Try American Family Flakes your next wash-day—and note the difference.
And for dishwashing, you'll find American Family Flakes unexcelled—and as good for your hands as the finest toilet soap.

Urge Direct Attacks on Roosevelt Be Keynote.

The responsibility for the New Deal administration and all its mistakes and extravagances must be placed squarely on the shoulders of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Republican leaders of thirteen central west states decided yesterday in the opening session of a two day conference at the Palmer house. The conference is being held under direction of the Republican national committee's western division.

The recommendation that the party should make its forthcoming campaign a direct attack on President Roosevelt was unanimously supported after G. W. Dalton of Poplar Bluff, Mo., Missouri state G. O. P. chairman, declared that the President alone is responsible for New Deal measures.

Women Hold Session Tomorrow.

This decision of the middle western party leaders, most of whom are chairmen of the central committees of their states, was the highlight of the initial session of the conference called for the purpose of mapping plans for the party's 1936 presidential campaign.

All of the delegates reported that anti-New Deal sentiment has grown tremendously in the last few months in the districts they represent.

Harrison E. Spangler, director of the western division of the national committee, asserted that among the acts for which the President is personally responsible is the cancelation of air mail contracts and the resultant deaths of army flyers while army planes were carrying the mail.

Tells Campaign Preparations.

Spangler, in outlining the plans for party organization, declared that with the foundation already being laid for the campaign, national and state committees will be ready to go ahead "in full gear" as soon as the June convention is over.

Overcoming what they termed "the coercion of voters on relief" was viewed by the delegates as a major problem.

Boosts Young Republicans.

Dan B. Irwin of Frankfort, Ind., Indiana state chairman, urged that special attention and coöperation be given to Young Republican organizations.

Charles R. Enos, Colorado state chairman, reported that in his opinion more than 50 per cent of the farmers of Colorado are now opposed to the New Deal.

Minnesota farmers, according to Le Roy E. Matson of Minneapolis, executive secretary of the Republican state central committee, have shown a marked change in sentiment in the last three months and are now taking an active part in Republican party affairs.

THE REV. C. E. POLLOCK.

The Rev. C. E. Pollock, pastor of the First Methodist church of Petoskey, Mich., has been appointed a member of the board of trustees of Northwestern university, it was announced yesterday by university officials. The Rev. Mr. Pollock is a graduate of Garrett Biblical institute. He has been affiliated with the Michigan conference of the Methodist church since 1902 and for a number of years served as superintendent of the Lansing, Mich., district.

STELLE ACCUSES GOV. HORNER OF DICTATOR AIMS

Murphysboro, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Charges that Gov. Horner "aspired to the dictatorship of the Democratic party in Illinois" was made here tonight by John Stelle, organization candidate for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor, in an address at a meeting in the Jackson county court house.

Stelle challenged the governor's claims to budget balancing and tax reduction.

Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, candidate for governor, pledged himself to tax reduction, construction of a complete system of farm to market roads, improved rural schools, and "scandal free administration" of the state institutions and old age pensions. He said he would "take the hinges off the door of the governor's office and be accessible to every citizen who has a problem related to state government."

The slate is on a downstate tour which will continue until March 28.

F. L. SULZBERGER TO HEAD JEWISH CHARITIES AGAIN

Frank L. Sulzberger, head of a paint manufacturing company, was elected president of the Jewish Charities of Chicago for a second term at a meeting of the board of directors yesterday. Joseph L. Block, a steel company executive, was elected a vice president. B. Horwich was reelected a vice president. Herbert T. Spiesberger was elected treasurer, and Charles B. Stume secretary.

CALDWELL LEFT ON G.O.P. BALLOT FOR GOVERNOR

Hughes, Barrett Waive Flaw in Petition.

BY PERCY WOOD.

H. Wallace Caldwell's name will be printed on the April primary ballot as a Republican candidate for governor, despite the fact that his petition did not bear the signature of a notary public nor the notarial seal.

Sitting as a majority of the state certifying board, Secretary of State Hughes and State Auditor Barrett made this decision in Springfield yesterday. The third member of the board, Gov. Horner, was not present. He is campaigning in southern Illinois for renomination and sent his executive assistant, Alexander Wilson, to represent him in the board meeting. Wilson did not vote.

It was announced that no protest had been filed against the Caldwell petition, and that it would be accepted as sufficient.

Turn Down Campbell Rival.

The board denied several petitions, among them that of Walter Nesbit of Belleville, former congressman, who filed for congress again, and also as a Democratic state central committeeman against Bruce A. Campbell of Belleville, chairman of the Democratic state central committee.

Nesbit's petition for committeeman was thrown out because it inadvertently announced that he was a candidate for "nomination" instead of "election." The wrong blank form had been used.

Nesbit intends to appeal to the St. Clair County court, it was announced, for an order requiring that the petition be certified. If he is unsuccessful, Chairman Campbell will have no opposition. Nesbit's candidacy was inaugurated by Gov. Horner's supporters. Campbell is backing the organization slate headed by Dr. Herman N. Bundesen for governor.

Petitions Short of Names.

Joseph Rutledge of Leroy was also denied a place on the ballot as a candidate for Democratic state central committeeman. The board ruled that his petition did not carry the required number of signatures.

Other petitions thrown out for insufficient signatures were those of Robert G. Kooser, Galesburg Republican, who filed for congress; Nelson Nuttall, Lawrenceville Democrat, who filed for state representative, and Joseph J. Nawrocki and Fred Dyrmitrowicz, Chicago Democrat, candidates for state representatives from the Ninth district.

Eden T. Brekke, Cook county campaign manager for Caldwell, declared that the action of the certifying board has been expected.

"The message," he said, "merely confirms what we have said all along, that there was no question of Mr. Caldwell's name going on the ballot. We have never been in doubt. According to lawyers who cited decisions of the Supreme court, the petition could not have been invalidated by a technical flaw."

Barr Accepts Glenn's Bid.

George A. Barr of Joliet yesterday accepted the invitation to direct the primary campaign of Otis F. Glenn for United States senator.

"I am doing this," he said, "primarily because I am intensely interested in the success of the Republican ticket next November, both national and state. Illinois may be a pivotal state in that election, and it is very important that the Republicans of this state nominate the strongest men for the respective offices.

"Former Senator Glenn's outstanding record during the four years he served attracted the attention not only of the citizens of Illinois but of the nation. He stands for exactly the things the Republican party will aim to accomplish when it gets into power."

"The Newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and lead public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Chicago Tribune.

"THE RIGHT OF THE PEOPLE TO BE SECURE."

A report confirmed by good authority, although it is denied by Senator Black of the lobby committee, is to the effect that the federal communications commission has seized thousands of private telegrams filed in the conduct of business transactions in various parts of the country and turned them over to the Black investigators. Mr. Black denies this, but it is asserted as the truth. Later developments should resolve any doubt.

The Black committee itself made a raid on the telegraph companies' files, fishing for material, and was temporarily stopped by an injunction. Pending the full confirmation of the report which reveals the FCC in these activities, it can be recalled that when the act creating the commission was being debated attention was drawn to the possibilities for censorship and coercion inherent in the control scheme.

Telegraph wires and cables were brought under much the same regulation as the radio.

The radio, requiring periodical renewal of license, has been made amenable to the political wishes of the Roosevelt administration. The chain managements do not permit anything like freedom of political speech and are constrained to favor the government on all occasions. The result is that the opposition must meet many restrictions before it can address the country by radio. The system of political communication which has the widest spread has been forced into the service of the politicians having command of government.

The power to license is the power to suppress, as was demonstrated in the early days of the newspaper when opposition was put out of business by withdrawal of permission to publish. No freedom of expression in print was possible until the system was killed in the course of revolution against dictatorship. The radio suffers under the old restrictions now and likewise the freedom of political utterance.

It was predicted that if the control of communications were given to the federal commission as set up under the act there would be an attempt to censor or control information and opinion sent by wire. There were various indirect ways by which this could be done and it was expectable that sooner or later one or more of them would be adopted. Probably no one at the time would have anticipated, however, that the commission would be used in an attempt by the New Dealers to intimidate Mr. Roosevelt's critics and opponents by seizing their private correspondence and handing it over to a group of investigators to whom no act of bulldozing has seemed unconscionable.

The Roosevelt administration is piling up evidence against itself to prove that it is the most unrestrained dictatorship the country has ever known.

"The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated."—The American Bill of Rights.

When was it repealed?

THE FIVE STEPS TO SERFDOM.

The American Federation of Investors has published a pamphlet entitled "Five Steps from Democracy to Dictatorship," written by the president of the federation, Hugh S. Magill. It is to be hoped that the little paper will be given the widest circulation, for it contains a clear exposition of the fundamental doctrins of our government and an equally clear demonstration of how the New Deal has attempted to subvert them.

The first of the five steps is the attempt—and this was wholly successful—on the part of the executive to dictate legislation. The second was the attempt to obtain for the executive from congress the right to govern by executive orders. Congress consented, but the Supreme court in the NRA decision declared that congress may not delegate its legislative powers. How grave the danger of an executive dictatorship had become is suggested by the fact that when the decision was rendered American citizens had actually been put in jail for violating executive decrees.

The third step was the appropriation by congress of 4 billion 800 million dollars to the President to be spent at almost unlimited discretion. The fourth was the President's attack on the Supreme court, which has been followed by attempts of the New Dealers in congress to restrict the court's power to protect the citizens.

As protests against these four actual and attempted usurpations of power increased in volume the New Dealers have taken the fifth step. The final effort is to stifle criticism by terrorizing the critics. The Black inquisition is the means to this end. The committee assumes that the citizen has no inherent right to influence public opinion. His right is to obey and like it. He may not seek to redress a wrong.

"If this final step can be made effective," says Mr. Magill, "then indeed will actual dictatorship be established in America as certainly as such tyranny exists today in European countries where the executive, dominating a submissive legislative department, has usurped all the powers of government."

A BOON FOR THE MONEY CHANGERS.

The latest of the Rooseveltian improvisations is the proposal to tax corporate surpluses out of existence. The idea, of course, is not a new one. It must have occurred at one time or another to almost every one who has given thought to problems of national finance. It was recommended by some in the early years of the depression as a means of increasing the nation's purchasing power. Mr. Roosevelt was a little late in hearing about it and he evidently has not troubled to learn that others have rejected it on mature consideration or why.

The scheme commends itself to the politician in Mr. Roosevelt because it avoids the appearance of soaking the poor on the eve of an election. It appeals to Mr. Roosevelt, the schoolboy magician, because he has been able to spring it with a flourish upon an open mouthed world. To him a hat is something from which to pull a rabbit. What he likes best to hear is a chorus of ohs and ahs. He seems never to realize that the exclamations can express amazement not only at the cleverness of the trick but also at the naiveté which can regard the performance as worthy of a man of his years and position.

Needless to say, a proposal which could commend itself at once to Roosevelt the politician and Roosevelt the schoolboy magician was to him irresistible, and he was not deterred from it by the fact that the scheme he now advocates contradicts a fundamental article in his own creed. He has said repeatedly that he proposes to drive the money changers from the temple. He has denounced all kinds of bankers, and investment bankers in particular. His language was not tempered in the past by memory of his own highly unsuccessful machinations as a Wall street promoter of Camco, and now he is not deterred by the certainty that his tax on corporate savings will greatly increase the influence of the hated money changers in the business life of the country.

If corporations may not save a portion of their profits to plow back into the business, industry must either fail to grow in usefulness to the public or must turn to the bankers for funds with which to expand. As stagnation is abhorrent to active men and disastrous for society as a whole, business will seek money for expansion, and it follows that business men will be obliged to go, hat in hand, to Wall street. All the progress which has been made toward corporate financial independence will be neutralized.

At any time this result would be unfortunate. It is particularly so at this time, when purchases of equipment for production are beginning to pick up. The new money going into capital goods is coming in large part from accumulated surpluses. If Mr. Roosevelt succeeds in halting the movement he will have destroyed the most powerful influence working toward recovery.

SURPLUS BUROCRACY.

The federal emergency railway legislation that created the office of federal coördinator of transportation will expire on June 17 unless extended by congress. A bill has been introduced for that purpose, but there appears to be no good reason why it should be enacted into law. The office is being maintained at the expense of the railways, which contribute two dollars per mile, or approximately one-half million dollars per annum, but this is only part of the expense. The railways must also furnish coördinating committees which are probably costing them a million more, all of which must be taken from freight and passenger revenues, thus furnishing one reason for the 7 per cent increase in freight rates that the railways are now asking.

When Mr. Eastman assumed the office of coördinator he employed an experienced staf to compile statistics, investigate railway practices, and prepare plans with the ultimate objective of reducing the total cost of transportation to the public. Now the information is rapidly getting out of date, and nothing constructive has been done unless the passage of a very controversial motor carrier bill by congress can be rated as an accomplishment. Admittedly, this truck and bus regulation will raise transportation costs instead of lowering them.

As to the coördinator theory—it is working in reverse. It has brought needless conflict between the interests of labor and the railways in unification projects that the carriers themselves were trying to work out when the law was thrust upon them. Coöperative effort that was the stated object of the bill has been brought to a standstill by the mere existence of the coördinator's office. The interstate commerce commission is amply able to keep the railways supplied with burocratic domination, and they do not need this second helping.

Editorial of the Day

WANTED: A GOOD NIGHT'S SLEEP.

[Philadelphia Inquirer.]

Rai Bahadur Ramjidas Bajoria, wealthy merchant of Calcutta, has raised his offer for a recipe for sleep from $10,000 to "fabulous riches." If all the sheep he has counted could be laid end to end, they might suggest some new idea to Secretary Wallace. Max Baer might tell him one way to be put to sleep in a split second. A 65, Mr. Bajoria is probably too old for bedtime stories, but he might try tuning in on some of our modern comedians, who by their own confession use jokes dug up by hired archaeologists.

But insomnia itself is no joke—that is to say the real thing. Possibly Mr. Bajoria is one of those numerous self-deluders who proclaim that they "never slept a wink all night," when as a matter of fact they had made other members of the household wish that the late Mr. Maxim had invented a special silencer for snorers.

It would be pleasant to be able to suggest some surefire soporific for this plutocratic insomniac and reap "fabulous riches." Perhaps the best that can be done is to send him a copy of the Congressional Record. If that fails, he should realize that his case is hopeless.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

THE BASKETBALL SEASON has just ended in college and now the athletes will have time to buckle down to study until training for baseball begins. And that won't be for two or three days yet.

AND KNOCKING AROUND Chicago I discovered, far out on the south side, a very sweet little Polish-Jewish woman who runs her own bakery and makes everything she sells herself. She bakes twice a day and always has fresh rye bread (irregular shaped loaves that she has molded with her own hands), sweet cakes, cookies, white bread, and queer, foreign looking little cakes that are so good that I have never succeeded in getting them home yet. I wish that bakery was nearer where I live so that I might get back home before I've eaten them all up. And rye bread, such rye bread! And that Jewish rye bread properly approached with limburger cheese and sliced Bermuda onions—well, now—there isn't anything better except maybe pot likker and cohn pone.

NOPE! I DON'T SEE any pleasure for me in this television thing. It's bad enough to accidentally tune in on Jim Farley and hear him, but if I've got to watch him while he's rarin' around then I'm going to hunt up that uninhabited island in the South Seas that I've been looking for so anxiously for quite a long time.

What is it matters . . . or must?
From now till your hour of adieux
What of it—tell me, mon vieux?

—and what of it . . . tell me, mon vieux,
What is it matters . . . or must?

What is it, pray, all about:

The Only Three Questions.

Whence came we? What do we ici
And where do we go from here?
These are the queries, these three:
Whence came we? What do we ici?
Have priests and philosophers a key?
Let them render us answer clear;
Whence came we? What do we ici?
And where do we go from here?

WHEN A JAP gets very patriotic he kills the prime minister. When he gets still more patriotic he kills himself. They take their patriotism very seriously in Nippon. There a hundred and ten per cent Japanese gets a gun and starts killing. Over here a hundred and ten per cent American writes letters to the editor.

AND SOME DAY the New Dealers are going to find out that there's such a number as fifty billion quintillion. And then they'll soak that one at us. Probably the only reason they haven't done it before is that there's not enough ciphers in the government typesetting machines. But when they find out there's a great big fine number like fifty billion quintillion they're liable to combine a half dozen typesetting machines and get all the ciphers they want. And then—OUCH!

THE ADMINISTRATION is hard to keep up with, but the thing has sort of narrowed down to where it's conservative Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, and radical Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. On Sunday it's radical on the alternate hours and conservative in between.

TWO POEMS.

QUESTION.

When the snow has shoveled the dry leaf under Does the leaf sleep dreaming, or wake and wonder
If again it will flaunt itself in scarlet,
And again be rich Autumn's painted harlot?
Or does it sleep dreaming of green chlorophyll,
And heavenly sun and sweet rain to refill
Its dry veins, and a hungry tree to suckle?
And does it believe it will soon unbuckle
A bud, and be reborn in Spring's warm fingers?
Just what of a dry leaf lives and lingers
When Winter's snow has shoveled it under—

CHALLENGE.

Let us assail the stars that challenge so
The wonder of this little world,
And not prevail against a lesser foe
Than legions which the gods have hurled
Against the mind of man.
Although we win no trophies but our scars,
Let unborn generations find
Their sires were men who struggled with the stars,
And left a holy dream behind,

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

DISEASE OF THE INTESTINAL TRACT.

INTESTINAL disease is most troublesome. Not only is the patient unhappy, ill, and distressed, but nutrition is interfered with seriously and the condition is likely to degenerate into a chronic state that goes from bad to worse. With a dozen or more loose, watery stools each day, no one can be well. There is usually pain in the abdomen, and abdominal distention. If mucus is present for a day or two it need not be regarded with undue concern, although blood is an important sign. In older persons the presence of blood should lead at once to the investigation of the rectum and search for any possible evidence of tumor growth. Pus means infection, the source of which must be found.

The first point in diagnosis is to establish the approximate site of the trouble as well as its character. If ameba are detected the condition is not difficult to treat, provided the diagnosis is made before complications have developed.

In ulcerative colitis we have a severe infection which requires careful dietary management, the possible use of vaccines, and the removal of foci of infection elsewhere in the body. A careful building up regimen is imperative. Many patients expect to recover from this condition in a few weeks. If we could put the intestine at rest completely for a ten day period this might be accomplished, but unfortunately we cannot stop contractions of the bowel for any great length of time without serious results. The problem lies in the fact that the inflamed area continues to function, handling new lots of food. Starvation may be continued for a few days, but even this will not inhibit movements of the intestine.

Ulcerative colitis is as difficult to manage as is tuberculosis of the bowel. The physician is called upon, therefore, to plan a delicate balance between food needed to maintain life, but which at the same time will not increase inflammation. A diet high in protein following a few days of bold starvation may be successful in a few cases.

Through the work of J. A. Bargen a streptococcus has been identified in connection with certain cases of colitis. Serum prepared by immunizing horses with this organism has shown satisfactory results. In other types the colon bacillus is guilty.

It should be recalled that infection may attack not only the mucous membrane but the intestinal wall itself, hence colon irrigations are either useless or become, in some cases, a source of real danger. Some years ago a great wave of enthusiasm swept the country for what was termed an internal bath. The plan consisted in introducing a double flow [in and out] tube into the large bowel, through which concoctions of all sorts were passed.

The more we study nature the more we understand that the less we interfere with the physiology of the body the better. Many dilated colons which later refused to function have resulted from this fad for irrigation. There is no better way to develop an irritable colon than to keep pouring so-called antiseptic fluids into the body via the rectum.

We must not forget that there is such a thing as a nervous colon that reflects exactly the state of its owner. Stress, strain, and anxiety may be accompanied by frequent movements of the bowel. The remedy lies in rest and freedom from nervous tension. Abstaining from food for 24 hours is a useful procedure.

Patients who complain of loose bowels and who are compelled to go to stool several times daily may not have colon disease at all. The cause may lie in a lack of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. If this important substance is found to be deficient it may be taken under the supervision of a competent physician. This again shows the interdependence of the various organs of the body. Hydrochloric acid is secreted some twenty feet distant [as one travels the intestinal pathway] from the colon.

Any abnormality of bowel action that persists for a week or more should receive attention, as in the early stages colon troubles are rather readily set to rights.

EPILEPSY.

G. F. C. writes: What is the difference between true and false epilepsy? Are the symptoms the same? What effect do bromides have on the system if taken over a period of years?

REPLY.

Patients either have epilepsy or they don't. If you mean by "false" epilepsy that associated with hysteria, then it may simulate "true" epilepsy closely.

True epilepsy arises from various causes or the cause may be unknown. It is characterized by four phases: An aura, convulsions, unconsciousness, and, finally, recovery. Following the attack there may be a period of forgetfulness or automatic movements and often the patient feels sleepy or tired. In hysterical cases the patient attempts to imitate the true seizure and omits all the essential features. The diagnosis is usually easily made.

Bromides, if taken in proper doses, are not harmful. Under supervision the drug may be taken for years without ill effects. Sometimes a skin rash may prove troublesome, but it usually fades when the dose is reduced.

DON'T TAMPER.

R. W. M. writes: Recent newspaper and magazine articles have stressed the importance of the use of salicylate of soda drops in the eyes and the use of foods containing vitamin C as beneficial in the prevention of or retarding progress in cataracts or glaucoma or both. Are these statements supported by the medical fraternity?

REPLY.

No! The lack of certain vitamins, however, may predispose to eye infections. I would not use anything in or about the eyes that was not advised by a competent ophthalmologist. Sight is too precious to be tampered with.

MENINGITIS AFTERMATH.

Mrs. R. B. writes: My 16 year old son had meningitis a year ago. He is left with only 20 per cent of his hearing. Does loss of hearing usually follow this disease?

REPLY.

Not generally, but all too often. If the disease is recognized promptly and if antimeningococcic serum is given into the blood stream as well as into the spinal canal, complications will be infrequent.

From Across the Sea

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAIRO, Egypt.—"If only we could get help for Egyptian independence from the United States. Then we surely could have it, just as other countries have done with American help."

The olive skinned youth who was expressing this wish had been spending a busy morning heaving bricks and chunks of cast iron at the police. His eyes flashed with indignant patriotism as he rehearsed the story of Egypt's wrongs. He was ruining his university career, but he did not care. He saw himself and all his comrades as so many Joans of Arc, divinely consecrated to the task of "throwing the English out" of Egypt.

"The United States did it for the Irish," the Egyptian said, "and for the Poles and the Czechoslovakians. America may be said in good part to have done it for the Jews, even though the British claim the credit. And the United States likely will do it for the Ukrainians, not to mention other cases to arise."

The student had put his finger on one of the primary weaknesses of the Egyptian nationalist movement. Egypt has no mass of immigrants in the United States. The number of Egyptians who have become naturalized Americans may be said to be nonexistent.

It has been different with the other submerged and struggling nationalities, the student argued. He pointed to the masses of Irish, Polish, Czech, and Slovak immigrants in America. He knew that they had constantly kept the case of their nationality before the American people, a people quick to sympathize with the underdog. They had thus created a current of opinion in their favor.

These immigrants had by constant correspondence kept up the spirits of their brothers who were fighting back home. Most important of all, they had supplied the sinews of war—both propaganda war and actual war—with the stream of money which they had kept flowing out of the United States toward their former homes.

The Egyptians, the young man observed sadly, can count on no such precious help. Consequently their case against "British tyranny" will be academic—vague words.

This is the most serious weakness of the Egyptian nationalist movement, but it has others. One is that in its history of over a century it has constantly changed its aims, and only recently has had the support of the people behind it.

Even that unity seems at moments to be a purely surface one, an agitation of romantic intellectuals. The peasants [10,000,000 out of a total population of 14,000,000] are occupied with the struggle to attain their highest ambition in life—one acre and one cow. For over twenty centuries they have been oppressed by one master after another, and probably have acquired a superb indifference as to who flogs taxes out of them.

The nationalist movement in Egypt began as an offshoot to the French revolution, brought to it by Napoleon's soldiers. Its first leader was a wily Albanian adventurer, Mehemet Ali. By massacring 500 Mameluk beys, a military aristocracy which had plundered the country for five centuries, he broke that alien rule.

But Mehemet Ali and his successors were orientals, who had no idea of setting Egyptians free economically or socially. They considered the country their private property and meant to plunder it.

A nationalist movement in Egypt would have had to be more social and economic than anything else—the dispossessing of alien land owning and commercial classes. It became somewhat like that with the revolt of Arabi in 1882, which brought on the British occupation.

Arabi was a peasant who had got into the army and who wanted to make the army really Egyptian. The attempt brought him into conflict with the khedive. It threw Egypt into such turmoil that the British were given a plausible pretext for their destruction of Alexandria by bombardment and fire [July 11, 1882] and the occupation of the country, which they have maintained ever since.

In opposition to the British the Egyptians have tended to solidify into a real nationality. One of the most capable leaders of the nationalist movement has been Zaglul Pasha, an Egyptian of peasant origin. Under his direction the nationalists won nominal independence [1922], a gift from the British which was soon found to be a derisory one. Within the last 14 years Egypt has never been entirely quiet for more than a few months at a time.

The struggle still continues, the struggle of a people to get rid of its foreign rulers.

PROBATE OF WILL.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Feb. 27.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In 1930 I was left by will 160 acres of land in Washington. This will was probated in Los Angeles, Cal. 1. I have paid the taxes on this land, but have not started ancillary proceedings in Washington to transfer title to me. If I continue to pay taxes, [2] is it necessary for me to have the ancillary proceedings [3] within any given length of time? 4. Or may I delay until I wish to sell or it is otherwise convenient for me? N. A.

1. We suggest that you record in Washington an exemplified transcript of the California proceedings. While this will not technically bar creditors, it seems likely that an attorney examining the title would be satisfied or at least would insist only on affidavits in addition.
2. See 1.
3. No.
4. Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NONPAYMENT OF TAXES

Chicago, Feb. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A claims that [1] if a man has a clear title to his home, absolutely no mortgage or incumbrances of any kind against it, he cannot be dispossessed for nonpayment of his taxes on the home. 2. He says there is an old homestead law on the statutes to this effect. R. Q.

1. Regardless of such liens and regardless of whether the property is occupied as a home, there ordinarily is no effort made to interfere with the owner's possession in case of nonpayment of taxes except on properties that are valuable enough to warrant a tax receivership.
2. It has nothing to do with homestead. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

TRANSPORTATION PROPOSALS.

Chicago, March 1.—Your recent "Rapid Transit" editorial was timely and presents a true, if sad, picture of the lack of rapid transit facilities in Chicago. The suggestion of THE TRIBUNE for the concentration of elevated rapid transit service to long distance points and to points not directly served by the surface lines appears highly practical and should be adopted.

Trafic conditions in general in Chicago are capable of further improvement. With its resident population of approximately four million, and another half million or so commuters and transient visitors, Chicago is justly entitled to more rapid modes of local transportation. The present trafic jumble is gradually being unraveled by competent trafic engineers, and trafic conditions within the loop and certain other sections of the city, it would appear, could be further alleviated with continued planning along these lines. The following is offered for consideration:

The provision of a longer platform on the Lake street elevated, to extend between Dearborn and La Salle streets, would serve to relieve the congestion at this station during the rush hours in the evening. Another platform might also be used at Lake and Wells streets as a transfer point from north side to Lake street trains.

Clark street on the north side is at present overtaxed to accommodate an abundance of surface line cars which, of necessity, must result in greatly delayed transportation. Certain of this trafic should be diverted to Sedgwick street, Wells street and, perhaps, through subway routes under Lincoln park, State and La Salle streets, with subway terminals at Harrison and La Salle streets.

A system of rerouting and speeding up loop surface lines and vehicular trafic could also be accomplished, as has been demonstrated in other cities by the provision of one-way streets.

INCONSISTENCY.

Chicago, March 2.—According to THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE our most eminent Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, in his wisdom and by virtue of powers vested in him by the New Deal, has officially changed the name of the Colorado river dam from Hoover dam to Boulder dam. He gave as his reason that it is against government policy to name any government structure after a living man.

Most readers of this news instantly tried to reconcile his reason with the naming of Norris dam.

J. W. HARRISON.

A REALLY COLD WINTER.

Chicago, March 1.—Your informant of Feb. 20 says he remembers the time about 35 years ago when the lake was frozen from shore to shore. I am also an old timer and about fifty years ago I asked Capt. Bulwincle of the Chicago fire patrol which was the coldest fire he ever attended. He said it was one that was so cold the ice froze in the hose and the firemen had to chop the hose in chunks and throw them at the fire. Have you any record of this?

CHAS. BATTY.

THE FORGOTTEN FAMILY.

Chicago, Feb. 29.—We aren't on relief; we are paying for the support of these unfortunate ones. We aren't farmers; we are buying seeds for them and then pay a good price for what they raise—and to assure their comfort we erect plants to build small utilitarian buildings to be set up in their rear yards without cost to them. We aren't old; we contribute toward a pension for our beloved elders.

After helping our brothers in these classes we pay officials in Washington to make laws such as the railroad pension law. We contribute 3½ per cent of each month's wage toward a retirement fund which my husband will get if he lives long enough. We can afford only enough insurance to bury us. What we will have to contribute toward this so-called retirement fund would just about pay for an annuity or endowment policy with some reliable insurance company, something we have wanted but felt we could not afford. As it is, if my husband should die in the next thirty-five years, I would get nothing. If he does live to be 65 he would have to live a few years longer in order to get what he has put into the fund during the thirty-five years of the forty-nine he will have worked for the railroad. In the meantime we'll pray for a long life and live on beans.

RAILROAD CLERK'S WIFE.

GEN. HAGOOD AS A POLITICAL ISSUE.

Niles Center, Ill., March 1.—As an ex-service man and at one time a fellow soldier of Gen. Hagood, I hereby declare that I will do everything in my power to persuade as many voters as possible to vote against any or all men that would or did see fit to order Gen. Hagood relieved of his command. Once before in Washington an ex-President made that awful blunder of picking on ex-service men, and made it his business to see that they, too, were removed. Such a move turned millions against the President at that time, and this swift and hard kick in the pants of Gen. Hagood will, and has, turned millions against those responsible.

A DOUGHBOY.

A RAID.

Chicago, March 2.—A few days ago the meeting of the Artists Equity of America—a commercial artists organization—was raided by plain clothes police without any warant. It rather looked like a holdup. Two officials and two members were arrested. The offices of the organization were ransacked and the records taken away. I wonder if such robbery is punishable? Isn't it a fact that our basic constitutional rights are being murdered, that our constitution is being crucified?

A. B. C.

HOW ABOUT IT, MINIONS?

Chicago, Feb. 28.—I stand ready to wager any of you or your minions that Roosevelt will be elected—and by a handsome plurality. The help that you are rendering the Roosevelt candidacy by your violence and malice is worth many, many thousands of votes.

35 HORNER WARD COMMITTEE POST PETITIONS FILED

Third Party Enters Slate of 42 Candidates.

The coveted last place on the ballot was the goal of aspirants for ward committee posts yesterday and the elections department of County Clerk Flynn's office was jammed just before the 5 p. m. deadline for filing petitions. When the doors had finally been closed, it was found that Gov. Horner had entered 35 candidates against the regular Democratic committeemen.

Yesterday evening also was the deadline for filing of petitions for country township committeeman posts, as well as petitions for clerk and bailif of the Municipal court. The latter petitions were filed with City Clerk Peter J. Brady.

Jenkins Files Third Party Slate.

In a move which was a surprise to Democrats and Republicans alike, Newton Jenkins, erstwhile candidate for various offices, filed with County Clerk Flynn an almost complete slate of candidates for city ward committee posts under the label, "Third Party." These 42 candidates are virtually assured of election in advance of April 14, the primary date, for they have no opponents in Chicago.

Third party candidates also filed petitions for the posts of clerk and bailif of the Municipal court, being eligible for such filings because the political group received 11 per cent of the votes cast in the mayoralty primary a year ago, when Jenkins was a candidate against Mayor Kelly and Emil C. Wetten, Republican. The law permits a party polling more than 5 per cent of the vote that right.

Horner Candidates.

Horner headquarters announced that the following candidates would support, and in return would be supported by, the governor in his fight for renomination against Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, choice of the Kelly-Nash-Campbell organization to head the state ticket:

Keogh's Daughter Named Co-Conservator of Estate

Attorney Simon T. Sutton and Mrs. Ruth Keogh Dickinson, daughter of John W. Keogh, courtroom slayer of Attorney Christopher J. Kinney, were appointed co-conservators of Keogh's estate yesterday by Probate Judge John F. O'Connell. The estate consists of $5,000 and an annual income of $15,000 from a real estate trust. Keogh has been found insane in both Criminal and Probate courts. He is now in the County jail awaiting transfer to the Illinois State Security hospital at Menard.

First and Third Special Sessions Come to Close

BY STANLEY ARMSTRONG.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 6 [Friday]. —[Special.]—The senate early this morning took final action on several house bills in the first and third special sessions of the 59th Illinois general assembly, thus ending, for all practical purposes, these two extraordinary sessions of the 59th Illinois general assembly.

The second special session, however, remains open. It was convened Jan. 8 for the sole purpose of raising money immediately to finance relief budgets, and was admonished to strive for legislation that would care for what many said would be a "continuing" problem. The first purpose was accomplished with the appropriation of 10 million dollars from state funds. The latter will come up on April 21, to which this session was recessed.

Several minor bills in the first special session were passed by the senate, but silence on the part of a number of senators killed a bill placing a severe penalty on hit and run automobilists. This bill, passed by the house, would have given imprisonment to any driver failing to stop, after he had been in an accident, to give aid and information.

"Ghost" Voting Helps to Pass Bills.

"Ghost" voting and other factors, according to observers, helped to pass bills relating to insurance companies, while other bills couldn't command a quorum for attendance records or 26 votes for passage. Then the first and third sessions were adjourned sine die and the second was recessed until April 21.

For all practical purposes the house finished its business with the first and third sessions yesterday morning. It had voted Wednesday to recess all three sessions, but yesterday approved the senate plan to recess only the second special session. Its only other action was the adoption of a resolution aimed at State Auditor Edward J. Barrett.

The resolution on Barrett was introduced by Representative Leroy M. Green of Rockford, Republican minority leader. In it he pointed out the statutory provision that the auditor annually shall compile a list of state employés by counties and give their salaries, and declared this had not been done for 1935.

It called attention to the fact that failure to comply with the statute is a misdemeanor and contained a request that copies be sent to Gov. Horner, Mr. Barrett, and State's Attorney Alfred H. Greening of Sangamon county.

Greening Warns of Inquiry.

The latter said that if a house member made a formal complaint that the auditor had not acted after he had had a reasonable time to comply he [the state's attorney] would begin an investigation.

"I understand that the department heads haven't given the auditor the information," replied Benjamin S. Adamowski of Chicago, Democratic majority leader. "That may be because many of the department heads are Republicans and not of the auditor's political party.

"Anyway, we are as anxious to see the list as you Republicans are. I've heard that 1,500 new persons have been placed on state pay rolls since Jan. 1."

Four Principal Measures.

The first special session came into existence Oct. 28 on the call of Gov. Horner mainly to adopt state legislation in accordance with the federal social security act. Bills were proposed for old age assistance, for changing pension arrangements in the state for blind and dependent children, and for unemployment insurance.

Only the first was adopted, and that, many believe, was the major action of the first special. Four principal measures were involved in setting it up. The key bill fixed requirements for those who are to get up to $15 a month from the state and, perhaps, an equal amount from the federal government.

Pension administration machinery for downstate counties was set up in one bill—this the one passed over the Horner veto—and Cook county's bureau of public welfare was authorized to handle the pension, or assistance, in another bill. The fourth was the appropriation of 9 million dollars of state money to pay the pension.

Road Safety Bill Killed.

This first special session is open to serious criticism, according to observers, for its failure to take action to stop the "massacre" of persons on the streets and highways. Kept from a roll call for reasons never fully explained was a bill to license drivers of automobiles, a step to keep the unfit from threatening pedestrians or other motorists in their operation of cars.

Besides acts requested by the federal social security act, there also went overboard measures, prompted by the federal government, which, in the opinion of many property owners, would have meant the destruction of millions of dollars of property values on residential streets by permitting trucks to operate over them.

Honest Vote Bills Lost.

The third special session, called Feb. 5, had for its main object the adoption of signature protection permanent election registration. This passed the house, but was defeated in the senate by the Cook county Democrats and what allies they could get from downstate by a vote of 22 for and 23 against.

The second special session, which continues, terminated the Illinois Emergency Relief commission on May 1 in one of its acts and then began a movement to modify that act. It was decided in the house that the relief commission should be kept in existence until March 1, 1937, but only to allocate sales tax relief money to the various counties.

IERC Bill in Senate.

The IERC revival bill now is in the senate, but not at a stage where it can be passed before this session reconvenes April 21.

One action gravely affecting Chicago property owners was adopted in the third session. This was the passage of the Hickman-Lantz-Finn farm bloc bills to force the city to levy an annual tax on property of 30 cents per each $100 of assessed valuation for relief, which would total approximately 7 million dollars.

Britain Claims They Are Mutilation Results.

MANCHESTER, England, March 5.—(AP)—Dr. Buck Ruxton, charged with the murder of his wife and nursemaid and the secretion of their mutilated bodies in a ravine called the "Devil's Beeftub," attempted today to prove that bloodstains in his home came from a cut in his hand.

Norman Birkett, chief defense counsel, opposed the contention of the crown that the blood—scattered on walls, curtains, carpets, and clothing upstairs and downstairs in the physician's home—resulted from Ruxton's mutilation of the bodies of his victims.

Blames Can Opener.

The attorney declared Ruxton had cut his hand with a can opener, a statement which prosecution witnesses had quoted Ruxton as making before he was arrested.

He questioned Dr. Stanley Shannon, medical director of Manchester prison, whether in the case of a severed artery a great quantity of blood could be lost going from one room to another.

"Just a drop or two," Shannon replied.

The prison physician previously testified he had examined Ruxton's hands after the doctor was arrested and had come to the conclusion the "cuts had been caused by a knife or similar instrument through the hand as it closed."

Feat Called Impossible.

Birkett asked Shannon if Ruxton could have cut four fingers with a can opener.

"No, it's quite impossible," the physician answered.

Herbert Anderson, a dentist, said he had expressed "surprise to Ruxton that he should receive such a gash opening a can."

"I said I thought it must be a peculiar can opener and I'd like to see it," the dentist declared. "He said he'd thrown it away."

Other witnesses during the day's session were Mrs. Mabel Smith, charwoman, who said she "noticed a most peculiar smell, a nasty smell," when she cleaned the Ruxton home Sept. 29, and Henry Hudson, garage proprietor, who said Ruxton told him he was "tickled to death and it was the joke of his life that police had been questioning him about the Moffat job."

REPORT PARLEY FOR COMPROMISE ON CUTTEN TAX

Howard G. Campbell, special assistant attorney general, arrived in Chicago yesterday from Washington to confer with attorneys for Arthur W. Cutten, wealthy grain speculator, whose income for 1929, 1930 and 1933 is under investigation by the federal grand jury on charges of evasion of income tax payments.

It was reported that the chief object of the conference was to seek a compromise settlement on the government's claim that Cutten owes approximately $1,242,000 in income taxes and tax penalties. This was denied by United States District Attorney Michael L. Igoe who declared that the purpose of the conference was only to "discuss the case."

Most of yesterday's jury session was taken up with the study of records of two brokerage concerns where Cutten held accounts. Mr. Igoe said yesterday the investigation would not be concluded until Monday.

DIVORCED

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Donald Burmood, 31 years old, 7600 Eastlake terrace, a salesman, was granted a divorce on a charge of cruelty yesterday from Mrs. Lois Ogilvie Burmood, 37 years old, 1312 Isabella street, Evanston, by Judge Rudolph F. Desort of the Superior court. Burmood turned over $1,000 in securities to his wife in lieu of alimony and she paid $150 of this amount as a fee to her husband's attorney, Harry X. Cole.

Mrs. Burmood was formerly married to Robert Ogilvie Jr. She divorced him in 1933 after he was found in an apartment at 4646 Magnolia avenue with Burmood's first wife. Burmood also obtained a divorce at that time and then married Mrs. Ogilvie. Ogilvie committed suicide in July, 1933.

ACTOR HUNTER DOES HIS BIT ON POLICE STAGE

Glenn Hunter, 40 year old stage and screen actor, yesterday spent several hours at the county jail before his release on bond on charges that he failed to pay a $225 hotel bill and a $129 clothier's bill. Hearing of the case was set for March 12.

"It's good experience," Hunter observed, early in the day, after having been lined up with other defendants in a showup at the detective bureau. "Viewing the footlights of the showup stage from behind will fit right into a book I am writing."

A hearing on the two charges against him were continued by Judge Gibson E. Gorman at the request of Attorney Mandel Mendelson. Hunter was released late in the afternoon after posting a $2,000 real estate bond which was approved by Judge Edward B. Casey.

"I never heard such language, even during the war," was his comment on his jail visit.

U. S. Embassy Gets France to Release Rickett Plane

PARIS, March 5.—(AP)—The United States embassy intervened with the French government today to lift a padlock from the plane of Francis M. Rickett, British oil promoter. The plane, piloted by an American, Vernon A. Dorrell, was grounded after he failed to obtain authorization from the air ministry to fly over France. The embassy's intervention brought permission for the pilot to fly to England.

ROOSEVELT, AIDS MEET TO DRAFT JOBLESS RELIEF

Speeds Work to Start on Fishing Trip.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt went into a huddle tonight with treasury and relief officials to prepare a program for the relief of the unemployed when his 4 billion dollar fund runs out July 1.

The conference was summoned for 8:30 p. m. at the White House. In calling the night session Mr. Roosevelt was seen to be rushing his relief estimate, which was not included in his budget message, so that he can get away for his annual fishing cruise.

It was announced that the President will leave on the cruise March 19. This year, it was learned, he will desert his fishing pals on Vincent Astor's yacht, Nourmahal, and cruise on the yacht Potomac, which recently was commissioned for presidential service.

Seeks to Avoid Criticism.

In turning his back on his fishing cronies, the President was reported to be avoiding criticism for the company he keeps in the campaign year. From time to time stories of government favors obtained by Astor and Kermit Roosevelt and their associates in the shipping business have been aired in congress.

The last blast came last June when Ewing Y. Mitchell on being ousted as assistant secretary of commerce charged that Astor and his associates benefited to the extent of $1,720,000 at the expense of taxpayers under a contract authorized by the President. Astor has a heavy pocketbook interest in the ship subsidy legislation which is brewing in congress with Postmaster General Farley and Secretary of Commerce Roper among the cooks of the broth.

Astor has been the President's host on the Nourmahal for the past two years. Kermit Roosevelt, the only one of the Oyster Bay branch of the family whose hat is welcome in the White House, has been a guest on the trips.

Discussion Is Kept Secret.

With the summoning of the relief conference the White House firmly clamped the lid of censorship on the discussion. It was announced that the gathering is the fourth of a series of meetings on unemployment and relief. It was stated emphatically that no announcement would be issued after the conference and those in attendance would have nothing to say at its conclusion.

Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Acting Budget Director Bell, WPA Administrator Hopkins and his assistant, Corrington Gill, attended the conference.

Before joining the conference Hopkins predicted that 3,300,000 employables will be dependent on the government for support July 1.

The President said Tuesday that he hopes to submit his relief estimate to congress between March 11 and March 19. He would not hint as to the size of the appropriation which will be asked.

Hopes to Ask Billion.

The administration hopes to ask for about one billion dollars for relief to make a good showing in the election year. Although administration leaders are stout in denials, it is believed that about a billion dollars will be salvaged from the 4 billion dollar fund and the New Deal can draw on an untouched half billion dollar fund in the RFC to have about 2½ billion dollars for relief after July 1.

PLUNGE VICTIM

A verdict of accidental death was returned by a coroner's jury after an inquiry yesterday into the case of Mrs. Algenia Wright, 29 years old. Mrs. Wright was killed in a fall from the third floor apartment of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Trude, at 5419 Hyde Park boulevard on Wednesday night. She was a niece of Judge Daniel S. Trude of the Circuit court and a granddaughter of the late Alfred S. Trude, pioneer Chicago corporation lawyer, who died in 1933.

Mrs. Wright, who won a divorce from Kenneth Wright, 6700 Crandon avenue, a coal merchant, in 1933, had been living with her parents since the court decree. She had one son, Kenneth Jr., 6 years old. Her former husband testified that he had called her on the telephone Wednesday and made an appointment to have dinner with her last night. When he talked to her she appeared to be in good spirits, he said.

Mr. Trude testified that for the last two years his daughter had difficulty in breathing because of a thyroid ailment. He said that he believed that she fell from the window while trying to get fresh air.

42,000 TO BE CUT FROM STATE WPA ROLLS BY JULY 1

Ralph H. Burke, deputy Works Progress administrator for Illinois, announced yesterday that the number of persons employed by WPA in the state will be reduced from the present peak of 200,000 to 157,900 by June 30, the date set for expiration of the program. Mr. Burke's announcement followed word fromWashington that 700,000 persons would be taken off WPA projects throughout the country.

Mr. Burke said the reduction had not yet been officially ordered in Washington, but that he expected it would be soon.

Spring pickup in private employment, particularly farm employment, will account for the major absorption of Illinois WPA workers, he said. Non-WPA activities financed by the four billion dollar works fund will absorb the others, he added, mentioning the Public Works administration, army engineer corps projects on rivers, and state road construction.

WPA PUTS UP 270 MONUMENTS TO SPECIALISTS' ART

Little Houses Out in Back Keeping Experts Busy.

The Works Progress administration now boasts of specialists in the art of building the little houses which stand modestly in back yards of unsewered rural areas. In the past month the WPA has erected 270 of these out houses in Illinois and plans to build a total of 40,000.

Details of the mass production of these utilitarian "air conditioned" edifices were disclosed here yesterday by Dr. K. E. Miller, a senior surgeon of the United States Public Health service, and his assistant, Paul C. Harmon, who are directing the work.

New Brand of Specialists.

The new specialists in this work differ from the old time specialist who was an individualist, concentrating on a single job and wielding hammer, chisel and saw to build the little house according to the user's specifications. In the Illinois New Deal outhouse project 511 WPA workers in factories scattered through downstate counties function as cogs in a machine, producing the finished back yard landmark through separate expert operations by their various groups.

Some of the workers make the forms for the concrete base and seat. Others pour concrete into the forms. Still others fashion wooden seat covers which boast an automatic closing device.

Crescent and Star Are Gone.

Then there are specialists assigned to make the walls, the doors, and the lean-to roofs. Other experts confine their efforts to constructing the tunnel-type ventilators with square screened outlets on the back walls of the little houses—in all, a striking example of progress from the days when the "compleat specialist" did the full job and carved an ornamental crescent or star on the finished product so the world might know it was his work.

Dr. Miller said it was originally planned to build 93,000 of these little houses in Illinois but this utopian figure had to be cut to 40,000 because of slowness in allotment of WPA funds.

"This work should be taken seriously rather than as a joke," Dr. Miller warned. "It is not one of those hatched-up-overnight, harebrained ideas for employing labor. Only incidentally is it a relief measure. Primarily it is a health measure, furnishing those with unsewered homes a decent place to go to."

Demand Exceeds Supply.

Dr. Miller chided people who show delicacy in inventing these utilitarian buildings.

"The quicker we learn to talk about these places by their real names, the better off we'll be," he said. "After all, this isn't anything new. It goes back to Biblical times."

Dr. Miller denied reports that the program was not meeting with hearty response in some rural areas. Although the man fortunate enough to have one of these building jobs in his back yard must pay $20 to $25 for the materials used, in order to get the WPA labor free of charge, the "demand far exceeds our ability to meet it," Dr. Miller declared.

HOPKINS ADMITS CAUSING OUSTER OF GEN. HAGOOD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Works Progress Administrator Harry Hopkins revealed today that his office had demanded a public apology from Maj. Gen. Johnson Hagood for his characterization of WPA funds as "stage money."

Hopkins said his assistant, Aubrey Williams, wrote to Secretary of War Dern on Feb. 11 to complain against Hagood's testimony before a house subcommittee which resulted in the latter's removal from command. The removal order was issued by Chief of Staf Malin Craig Feb. 24. Asked if the disciplinary action was a result of Williams' letter, Hopkins said the letter spoke for itself.

Blanton Assails Craig.

Meanwhile agitation over Hagood's removal continued to punctuate congressional deliberations. During the afternoon Representative Thomas Blanton [Dem., Tex.], Hagood defender, rose in the house to wave a photostatic copy of an order issued by Gen. Craig in 1921, which, he said, showed that the chief of staf was "just the sort of man that would try to decapitate Hagood."

The order, allegedly countersigned by Gen. Craig Nov. 10, 1918, when he was chief of staf of the First army corps in France, decreed public horsewhipping for army thieves. The order was said to have been issued after Gen. Craig had lost a belt by thievery.

Declare Order Forged.

The charge brought a prompt denial from Gen. Craig, who said he never had issued such an order. At the war department it was said the order was forged and placed on the bulletin board of army headquarters at Coblenz, Germany. The department said the "horsewhipping story" was investigated by a senatorial committee ten years ago and found to be false.

The WPA letter to Secretary Dern, Hopkins said, declared Hagood's testimony "cannot be ignored," and requested that Hagood be ordered to make a public apology. The letter protested against critical and slighting references to WPA in the officer's testimony, and added: "It is unseemly and undignified for an officer of one department to criticize the administration of another."

Third Fire in 2 Days Routs 2,200 Relief Employes

The third fire in two days caused 2,200 employés of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission and the Works Progress administration to march out of the joint headquarters building at 1319 South Michigan avenue yesterday. The blaze was in a washroom on the eighth floor. On Wednesday two small fires were discovered in warshrooms on the sixth and seventh floors, several hours apart.

NEW DEAL DROPS HIGH COURT TEST OF SLUMS ISSUE

Washington, D. C., March 5.—(AP)—An assertion that the department of justice was "afraid of the issue" was made today by opposing counsel after the government abruptly withdrew its slum clearance case from the Supreme court—leaving only two other New Deal controversies pending before that high tribunal.

Administration officials, however, said the action was taken as a result of a sudden change of federal policy, transferring to local governments the responsibility for acquiring land for PWA slum clearance and low cost housing projects.

The litigation withdrawn involved the power of the federal government to exercise the right of eminent domain in connection with projects in Louisville, Ky., and Detroit, Mich. A motion to dismiss the cases was made by Solicitor General Stanley Reed, only a few hours before the Louisville case was to have been argued.

Charles G. Middleton, Louisville attorney who had been here since Monday to argue against the government, declared:

"The department of justice was afraid to get a Supreme court decision. That's the reason the cases were dismissed. You know the government lost in all the lower courts."

The department of justice, however, said it had withdrawn its appeal because the money allotted for the disputed projects had been diverted elsewhere.

Secretary Ickes, as PWA administrator, told reporters that the justice department ,and not PWA, had decided to abandon the suits, adding:

"I did not know it had been determined to do this until a decision had been reached."

TEXAS MILLIONAIRE AND COMPANION DIE IN CRASH OF PLANE

Rich Mountain, Ark., March 5.—[Special.]—Harley E. Woodward, 34, millionaire cattle man of Houston, Tex., and his cousin, Edward Martin of Daisetta, Tex., were killed today when their private plane crashed and burned on Rich Mountain, near the Arkansas-Oklahoma line.

SENATE PASSES NORRIS' RURAL POWER SCHEME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—The senate without a record vote today passed the rural electrification bill sponsored by Senator George W. Norris [Rad., Neb.], which is designed to supplement the so-called "yard stick" program begun with the Tennessee Valley authority and to promote publicly owned, federally financed electrical distribution throughout the United States.

The bill as passed provides for a 10 year 420 million dollar program, with loans of 50 million dollars a year for the first two years and 40 million a year thereafter.

Billion First Asked.

Norris' original bill called for a 10 year 1 billion dollar program, but President Roosevelt objected to the size of the authorization and a compromise of 420 million dollars was effected. The President suggested 10 million dollars a year, having in mind, it was said, the growing demands of Republicans and conservative Democrats for economy and wishing to defer the wide scale program until after the November election.

Senator William H. King [Dem., Utah] offered a substitute bill calling for an authorization of 10 million dollars a year, but it was rejected with a roar of "noes." Senator King assailed the Norris bill on the grounds that it was adding another federal agency to the ever expanding burocracy and would put the federal government in the landlord business.

"Dangerous," Says King.

"When Uncle Sam becomes the loan agent for every conceivable form of enterprise—and that is what is going on—and the majority of the people become creditors, the government becomes the landlord," Senator King declared. "The government either will lose billions of dollars or, if it attempts to force collections, will promote resentment revolutionary in character. It is a dangerous thing when the government becomes a landlord."

Senator King also challenged the constitutionality of the measure, declaring that the government was invading a field of activity reserved to the states by the constitution.

FLOYD THOMPSON TO SPEAK.

Attorney Floyd E. Thompson will speak at a meeting of the Illinois State Society of the American Revolution in the Hotel La Salle tomorrow, on the permanent registration bills.

Actress Is Bride

[Acme Photo.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 5.—[Special.]—Dorothy Wilson, motion picture actress, became bride of Lewis R. Foster, scenario writer, at a quiet wedding in First Unitarian church today. The wedding culminated a two years' romance, followed by their engagement announcement last Christmas.

10 MILLION ACRE CUT IN COTTON CROP ADVOCATED

Memphis, Tenn., March 5.—(AP)—Cully A. Cobb, chief of the AAA cotton section, told farmers at a regional meeting here today that it had been determined that at least 10,000,000 acres in the cotton states should be taken out of soil depleting crops and put into crops that build up the soil.

Cobb proposed this tentative program for 1936 cotton production:

1. A soil depletion acreage probably based on acreage planted during the period from 1931 through 1935.
2. Provision for a completely voluntary shift to soil conservation uses.
3. A flat payment of 50 cents to $1 an acre for each acre devoted to soil building uses, in addition to another payment for land shifted from soil depletion to soil conserving uses, the second payment being based on the productivity of the soil.
4. A division of payments between landlords and tenants.

The schedule of flat payments, plus production of an average of about 185 pounds an acre, Cobb said, would mean a total payment in the south of about $10 an acre.

MAP PLANS HERE FOR PAYING NEW FARM BOUNTIES

U. S. Officials Hear Views on Soil Program.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Federal officials and a staf of technical aids opened a three day regional conference here yesterday with farmers and their representatives to lay plans for the central west's part in the administration of the new $500,000,000 soil conservation and domestic allotment act recently passed by congress. More than 300 farmers, agricultural college representatives, and farm organization officials attended the opening session at the Stevens hotel.

Government men, headed by M. L. Wilson, assistant secretary of agriculture, took turns in outlining a tentative plan drafted for consideration at the Chicago meeting, one of four regional conferences to be held in the United States. An effort will be made to put the new legislation into operation before farmers get too far along with the planting of their 1936 crops.

Farmers to Get 450 Million.

Approximately $450,000,000 will be given to farmers this year providing they do their part in the nation-wide soil building and soil conservation program. An effort will be made to influence farmers against planting corn, wheat, or other soil depleting crops on the 31,000,000 acres of land taken out of production under the late Agricultural Adjustment administration's reduction scheme last year.

The goal of the program for 1936 calls for an increase in the acres of crop land in soil conserving and soil building crops, such as grasses and legumes, from the 1930 level of 100 million acres to about 130 million acres, according to a speech by the secretary of agriculture, read at yesterday's meeting by Acting Secretary Wilson.

2 Plans for Payment.

Two plans are being discussed for making payment to farmers. The first is labeled by the secretary of agriculture as a soil maintenance payment which will be made to farmers at the rate of 75 cents to $1 an acre. These payments would total from 75 to 100 million dollars.

The second class of payment would be made to farmers who shift from soil depleting crops to soil building crops. Approximately $350,000,000 will be available for this purpose. It has been suggested that farmers be paid $10 to $12 an acre for switching to soil building crops. A maximum acreage of major crops will be set up for each farmer who volunteers to take part in the plan.

The AAA machinery is being preserved for use in administering the new law. Approximately 5,000 employés on the AAA staf have been put to work on the new law. The program in the field will be administered by some of the old AAA township committees. There were approximately 110,000 committee members in this vast army, three in each township. Only a portion of them will be needed under the new plan.

Fight Political Control.

Speakers at the afternoon session expressed a fear that the new program would be thrown into politics. Dr. O. O. Wolf, president of the Kansas state farm bureau, urged that machinery for administering the act be made simple as possible and kept out of the hands of politicians.

Another Kansas speaker, John Vesecky, president of the Farmer's Union in that state, also warned against political interference.

Figures presented by Charles A. Ewing, president of the National Live Stock Marketing association, indicate that it will cost the farmers $1.60 in taxes for each cultivated acre in the United States, to pay the annual cost of $500,000,000 to carry out the program.

Cavalry Squadron Marks Regiment's 35th Birthday

The 1st squadron of the 14th cavalry, United States army, which is stationed at Fort Sheridan, held a review and exercises yesterday in commemoration of the thirty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the regiment in 1901. The program was given in the riding hall at Fort Sheridan.

Coast Guard Cutter Hunts Three Overdue Fishermen

The coast guard cutter Rush was searching Lake Michigan off Wilmette early today for three fishermen reported missing in a 40 foot boat, the Genevieve. The men are Arthur St. Peter, 2145 Fremont street, owner of a fish market at Illinois street and the lake, and two of his employés.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farm

By Frank Ridgway

Sheep Winter Well.

March 5, 1936.

Three hundred sheep in the breeding flock at the Tribune Wheaton experimental farm were successfully brought through the severe winter on a grainless ration at a comparatively small cost. Since last fall the flock, made up of about 200 breeding ewes and 100 ewe lambs, has been wintered exclusively on mixed hay, including alfalfa, red clover and rye straw. The rye is from a crop that sprang up voluntarily in a clover field.

All of the young ewes came through in excellent condition. A few of the older ewes did not fare so well, and are now a little thin. Nature's "spring tonic" of sunshine and green bluegrass is now putting new life into every individual in the flock.

During the last week the sheep have spent most of the daylight hours grazing in a woodland pasture near the sheep barn. As soon as the doors and gates are opened they make a bee line for the pasture to graze on a fresh crop of bluegrass that came up under the bunches of dead grass soon after the snow melted. They leave fresh hay in the racks when they have a chance to take their sunning in the pasture.

The flockmaster has used coarse stemmed alfalfa hay for bedding. A few tons of hay, discolored during the rainy harvesting season last summer, has furnished excellent bedding for the sheep and kept the fleeces clean.

Forty guineas roosted on the hay racks in the sheep barn all winter, giving an alarm whenever there is any disturbance in the flock. Every time a man, stray dog, or wild animal comes near the sheep barn the guineas turn loose a blast of chatter that can be heard several hundred yards away. Lately they have been roosting in an apple tree and a box elder tree near the barn. For the last week or ten days they have been standing guard near the ewe with the only lamb on the farm, warning the woolly faced mother every time a visitor comes near the fold.

Many tons of waste material have been hauled out of the sheep barn this week and piled in a rick about 50 feet long, 18 feet wide, and 6 to 8 feet high. The material is now fermenting in the open and will be used on experimental fields and plots at the Wheaton farm this spring. Some of it will be scattered over a portion of a wheat field.

An inspection of the fall sown wheat on the Wheaton place today indicates that it has come through the winter in excellent condition. It may be injured by alternate freezing and thawing during the next few weeks. The wheat fields already are green.

While wheat, red clover, and alfalfa plants apparently have come through the winter safely, all of these crops have a dangerous period ahead of them. Men at the farm say that during the early spring period when sugar maple sap flows freely these crops are in danger of being severely injured. Alternate freezing and thawing often causes "heaving" of the ground, which breaks many of the tender roots, at this time of the year.

Old snowdrifts still are to be found along the fences on the Wheaton farm. Several inches of hard packed snow still is unmelted on some of the roadways where teams used in hauling feed over the farm trampled down paths during the winter.

JAPAN SHAKES UP ARMY LEADERSHIP AFTER UPRISING

New Premier Unlikely to Obtain Cabinet.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

TOKIO, March 6 (Friday).—Sweeping changes in the Japanese army leadership arose today as a sequel to last week's military uprising.

The retiring Okada cabinet approved appointment of Gen. Kenkichi Uyeda as commander-in-chief of the Manchukuan garrison and ambassador to Manchukuo, succeeding Gen. Jiro Minami. Three more senior generals were retired. They are Gen. Minami, Gen. Sadao Araki, former minister of war, and Gen. Nobuyuki Abe.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 6 (Friday).—It appeared unlikely today that Koki Hirota would succeed in forming a new cabinet because the army objects to the appointments thus far announced. A heavy armed guard has been placed around the official residence of Hirota.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, March 5.—The surprise appointment today of Koki Hirota, who has been foreign minister since Sept. 14, 1933, to form a new Japanese cabinet to succeed the one shattered by the bullets of army rebels last week is welcomed in most quarters, and particularly in financial circles.

The appointment assures continuation along the general lines of Keisuke Okada's cabinet policies. Certainly there will be little change of foreign policies.

At 10 p. m. Hirota announced half of the cabinet posts had been filled. After a glance at the appointments made by the new premier political leaders expressed their satisfaction.

General Count Juichi Terauchi was appointed minister of war and Admiral Osami Nagano, who has just returned from the London naval conference which Japan bolted, is to be navy minister.

Eiichi Baba, who was appointed minister of finance, is president of the Hypothec bank of Japan. It is believed he will receive general approval as successor to Korekiyo Takahashi, who was assassinated in the military uprising.

Two other popular appointments were announced. Kurahei Yuasa becomes lord keeper of the privy seal to succeed Admiral Viscount Makoto Saito, who, too, was assassinated. Tsuneo Matsudaira, former ambassador to London, takes Yuasa's post as minister of the imperial household.

Naoshi Obara, minister of justice under Okada, remains and Tsukichi Kawasaki, minister of education in the former cabinet, will serve as home minister.

It was announced that Gen. Senjuro Hayashi, former minister of war, and Gen. Jinzaburo Mazaki, former inspector-general of military education, would withdraw from active service. The two men assumed responsibility for conditions allowing the army revolt.

JAPAN URGES SPEEDY SETTLEMENT OF ALL ROWS WITH RUSSIA

MOSCOW, March 5.—(AP)—Tamekichi Ota, Japanese ambassador to Moscow, said today he had been instructed by his government to suggest speedy negotiations for a friendly solution of all outstanding questions with the soviet republic. Particularly urgent, Ota said, was formulation of a new fisheries convention to replace the convention expiring this year.

Maxim Litvinov, soviet foreign commissar, expressed satisfaction with the Japanese government's attitude and added that Russia also desired to solve problems between the countries.

However, he said, a solution of border disputes was urgently required to assure a friendly atmosphere. He urged quick establishment of a mixed commission, already agreed to by Japan, to investigate recent clashes on the soviet-Manchukuan frontier. The soviet commissar reiterated the suggestion that a similar procedure be adopted to settle Mongolian-Manchukuan frontier disputes.

Close Tom Mooney's Case in Fight for Freedom

San Francisco, Cal., March 5.—(AP)—Thomas J. Mooney closed his case today in his habeas corpus hearing to obtain his freedom from San Quentin prison, where he is serving a life sentence for conviction of bombing the 1916 Preparedness day parade here. The hearing before Supreme Court Referee A. E. Shaw began last Sept. 16.

Woman Uses Teeth to Put Purse Snatcher to Flight

Mrs. Alice Schiavon, 36 years old, 8336 Drexel avenue, was walking last night in 79th street near Vernon avenue when a young man tried to seize her purse. She screamed and fought. Mrs. Schiavon told the Burnside police, and as the youth went tumbling to the ground with her she bit him in the calf of one leg. That was enough for the thief and he fled. Mrs. Schiavon recovered her purse, which had fallen to the ground in the battle.

ROB COUPLE OF GEMS.

Mrs. Marie Fiorino, 811 Deming place, riding with her husband, Vincent Fiorino, a musician employed in Balaban & Katz motion picture houses, was robbed early today of jewelry worth $1,800 by two armed men who stepped on the footboards of their automobile at Canal and Lake streets.

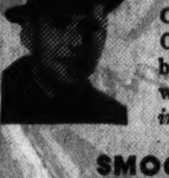
BOOST

GEORGE ARNDT, 528 Brompton Place, Chicago—Salesman: "It's Old Hickory for me because it's easy to take, gives me a pleasant glow, and leaves me feeling fit the morning after. And Old Hickory is priced right."

CLEAN TASTE

MRS. LILLIAN RYAN, 7323 East End Ave., Chicago—Housewife: "To me, taste is the way to judge whisky. That's why I like Old Hickory. It's smooth, clean in taste, and so mellow you aren't conscious of its strength."



HAPPY MORNINGS

HOWARD GRAHAM, 8038 Dante Ave., Chicago—Musician: "I'm certainly sold on Old Hickory. It's gentle on my throat, but has plenty of real flavor. It packs a wallop at night, and it leaves me happy in the morning."

SMOOTHNESS

MRS. A. L. SEAMAN, Jr., 751 Sherman Ave., Evanston—Office Manager: "I want a smooth whisky—one that's easy on the throat. I want it full strength, but I don't want to taste the strength. I've found that whisky in Old Hickory."

ONLY 98¢ A PINT
$1.89 A FULL QUART
BUT DON'T JUDGE IT BY ITS PRICE

● All over Chicago went the Inquiring Reporter, asking "What's your idea of the perfect whisky?" Back came hundreds of answers.

Add them all up and you get—Old Hickory. A whisky that meets Nature's own test—that's gentle on the throat—gentle as only a whisky can be that's clean in flavor, clean in aroma, clean clear through. A whisky so smooth you hardly realize its strength. A whisky that has started a new national toast—"HAPPY MORNINGS." An aged whisky—90 proof—every drop aged at least a full year in Ozark oak casks. And all of this at an amazingly reasonable price.

Here at last is the kind of whisky Chicago has been demanding—the kind of whisky that gave whisky its good name.

$5,750,000 ROAD WORK IN COUNTY WAITS ON SPRING

Important City Streets Are on Program.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Cook county highway department, as soon as the frost is out of the ground, will swing into a $5,750,000 paving program calculated to furnish nine months' employment to 4,000 men. The projects, listed yesterday by Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, include a number of important city streets as well as some rural road connections.

Forty-five per cent of the cost of these pavements will be paid with federal "easy money" from the Public Works administration, while the balance will be financed by the county with its revenue from the gasoline tax and with refunds from the state for county roads that have been incorporated into the state system.

Contracts Let Last Fall.

Part of this 1936 construction program includes contracts totaling $2,018,928 that were awarded last fall. There has been some preliminary work on some of these projects, but in the main the concrete mixers will not start pouring until the danger of freezing is over, a few weeks from now.

CENTRAL AVENUE—Madison street to Roosevelt road.

COLFAX AVENUE—95th street to Anthony avenue.

FOREST AVENUE—Bridge over Salt creek.

GUNNISON STREET—Nagle avenue to Austin avenue.

SACRAMENTO BOULEVARD—Roosevelt road to Franklin boulevard.

THATCHER AVENUE—Chicago avenue to Division street.

Advertises for New Bids.

The county is advertising for bids to be opened next Wednesday on paving that is estimated to cost $1,497,722. The concrete pavement in this batch is as follows:

CENTRAL STREET [Evanston]—Lincolnwood drive to Railroad avenue.

HIBBARD ROAD—Skokie road to Winnetka avenue.

MONTROSE AVENUE—Central avenue to Milwaukee avenue.

25TH AVENUE—Joliet road to 47th street.

HARLEM AVENUE—Lincoln highway to Sauk trail.

ROBERTS ROAD—95th street to 111th street.

SCHAUMBURG ROAD—Springsguth road to Meacham road.

More Projects to Come.

BALLARD ROAD—Rand road to Milwaukee avenue.

McCARTHY ROAD—Southwest highway to 96th avenue.

SOUTH BOULEVARD—Chicago avenue to Sheridan road.

FOREST DRIVE—Willow road to Tower road.

GLENWOOD-LANSING ROAD—Wentworth avenue to Glenwood.

GREENWOOD AVENUE—142d street to 159th street.

QUINTENS ROAD—Palatine road to Lake-Cook road.

SAUK TRAIL—Crawford avenue to Dixie highway.

THORNTON ROAD—171st street to Ill. 52.

53 Miles With WPA Aid.

In addition to this construction, the county highway department is resurfacing the following roads, a total of 53 miles, with Works Progress administration labor, involving an expenditure of $678,394 and the employment of about 400 men from the relief rolls.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS ROAD—Landmeier road to Higgins road.

HARMS ROAD—Gross Point road to Lake avenue.

HARRISON STREET—Harms road to Crawford avenue.

ANTI-JEWISH MEAT MEASURE PASSED BY POLISH COMMITTEE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GERMAN BOASTS OF QUIZZING U. S. AVIATORS IN WAR

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 5.—Dr. Hermann Gortz, German lawyer and author who is on trial at Old Bailey for spying into Royal Air force secrets, today described how he beguiled information out of American, French, and British aviators after they were shot down on the western front during the world war.

"It was my duty to question allied 'brought down pilots,'" Gortz testified. "I was made intelligence officer because I spoke English and French.

"In 1918 the development of the American air force was most interesting to us. We had little news and my duty was to find out how quickly the Americans could build up an air force.

Describes "Great Success."

"I had great success in questioning pilots who were brought down in France."

The accused spy agreed that he was a "dangerous intelligence officer" and then sought to explain his "great success."

"My method was successful because I treated the brought down aviators as gentlemen," Gortz testified. "I invited them to dinner or lunch and, in their excitement over an air fight and being brought down, they generally told me really more than I wanted to know."

Evidence relating to Gortz's alleged spying activities in England, involving the making of a sketch of the Marston airdrome for the German military command, was given in a secret session of the court for 1 hour and 45 minutes.

Gortz, testifying later in open session, said he won an iron cross in the war. After being wounded he was given a birth as an air force intelligence officer, he said.

Denies Secret Service Work.

The defendant denied he ever had been in the secret service as distinguished from the intelligence service. He maintained that he came to England merely to gather information for a book.

Lieut. Col. William Cook, head of the intelligence service of the British war office, in his testimony, designated part of the intelligence service as "underhanded."

"Intelligence service is a collective name for various services which collect and collate information about armies, navies, air forces and politics," he said. "Some is obtained from open sources. Linked with the intelligence service is the secret service. Its agents collect for the intelligence service information not readily available. They obtain it in an underhanded way, usually through secret service agents known as spies."

The British government charges Gortz violated the official secret acts. It contends he possessed British air force documents in his cottage near the Marston airdrome last year and that he was assisted in his spying by Marianne Emig, attractive 19 year old girl, who posed as his niece. The girl fled the country for Germany.

Zimbalist Is Liked in Two Music Roles

Soloist and Conductor for Premiere of Work.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Efrem Zimbalist appeared as soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra last night in the same Glazounow concerto he played twenty-five years ago to introduce himself to patrons of these concerts. The violinist has built a solid and world-wide reputation for himself in that intervening quarter century without having to invoke the aid of the sensational to do it.

The man is a thoroughly good fiddler and has won and kept his place because of this. His present position is something of a reproach to those cynics who believe that great reputations are the result of a terrific "build-up." Zimbalist has never had his pearls stolen and never rescued an heiress from drowning. Despite such oversights his name is a household word.

His first care is for beauty of tone, beauty of a varied and continuously interesting kind. His delivery is restrained and aristocratic, with a fine feel for the architecture of the music. Phrasing is noble in line and falls into comprehensible patterns.

There are few opportunities in this particular concerto for virtuoso fireworks, although the cadenza leading into the last movement requires some double stopping that must have made the violinists in the audience prick up their ears. Zimbalist got through it without the slightest sacrifice of tonal suavity to the difficulties of the passage.

He walked off the stage to shed his violin and appeared a few moments later in the capacity of composer and conductor. Zimbalist's "American Rhapsody" came to its first performance last night.

It turns out to be an attempt to dress such likable and thoroughly American urchins as "Turkey in the Straw" and "O, Susanna" in Sunday clothes and teach them drawing room manners. The attempt is successful enough except that the tousled hair and smudged faces show plainly above the starched collars.

Sometimes one is seized with a longing to see the urchins in their patched overalls again, as happy and free as we have always known them. This despite the fact that the new clothes are well made and attractive in themselves.

The composer has done interesting things with the themes [all of them are not as familiar, by the way, as the two mentioned above]. He explores their rhythmic and harmonic possibilities in skilled fashion and the total impression is often quite exhilirating.

Zimbalist's orchestration is brilliant. He avoids the brash and the sensational as scrupulously as he does in his playing, but builds some telling effects by such legitimate means as an adroit playing of one opulently voiced choir against another.

Dexterous conducting brought out the refinement and variety of the orchestra's tone and kept the apparently headlong rhythms of the piece under perfect control. There was another good burst of applause for the celebrated violinist at its conclusion.

The first half of the program brought a performance of Weber's "Euryanthe" overture and Mahler's First Symphony. The latter has not been heard here for more than twenty years.

The symphony has several good tunes in it, but a curious lack of genuine impressiveness and the quality of universality that its composer seemed to be striving for. The climaxes are not well handled, the big effects never quite come off. Mahler attempts to transform some undistinguished melodic idea by means of the sonority of the full orchestra. The result seems to be no transformation at all, but simply a louder playing of the identical theme.

Not that his orchestrations are inept at all times. There is suave and idiomatic writing that gives the better tunes of the work a moving beauty of their own. Did it seem to you that some of the makers of the most expensive arrangements for present day dance bands have paid Mahler the supreme compliment of borrowing one or two of his ideas for rhythmic emphasis?

Guitarist—Incident—Meeting—Couple.

NOTES on a guitar: The news that Andres Segovia, one of the great guitarists of all time, is coming back to town brings vividly to mind the picture he presented when he played here six years ago, a Zuloaga-like subject, with his long black hair, round pale face, full red lips, and the fat white hands plink plinking busily at his guitar. He played Bach and Mozart and it was like music in a dream, in spite of the realism of the Orchestra hall audience, and, later, of the sophisticated Arts club audience that heard him.

* *

ALTHOUGH Segovia has raised the lowly born guitar to the level of the concert stage, the real "voting strength" of the instrument lies in the provinces and hinterlands of American rural districts. The nation's two largest mail order houses report that the sale of guitars ranks second only to that of harmonicas. Segovia will play March 8 at the Civic theater.

STREET scene: Two young men, interior decorators, were moving some furniture into their apartment, and one piece stood on the sidewalk while they politely disputed as to which should carry it up, each insisting he would do it. A bum came along at that moment and, lurching uncertainly, interrupted the discussion to ask if one of them would give him a dime.

"No, no," responded one of the young men irritably, stamping his foot. "Indeed no!"

The bum looked up in astonishment.

"F'r God's sake," he said thickly, and stumbled on his way.

ADD It's-a-Small-World: A Chicagoan named Warden F. Wilson went to Pittsburgh about ten days ago to manage a foundry for the American Steel Foundries. He knew no one in the city, and it happened that when he went into a restaurant he fell into conversation with a man who was eating his dinner at the same table. In the course of the conversation the stranger commented that he had not been to Chicago for twenty years, but that he had a cousin, a lawyer, who lived there. The cousin's name was E. F. Wilson, he said, and he was a patent attorney. Our Mr. Wilson started in surprise. The man he mentioned as his Chicago relative was his cousin.

AMONG the patrons at a chain restaurant on North Clark street a few days ago at the luncheon hour was an elderly couple. He was blind. She chatted gayly to him while she adjusted his napkin, buttered his bread, put sugar in his coffee. When she had finished these attentions both folded their hands in front of them and bowed their heads as he murmured grace.

Void Contract of Mae West at Paramount

Next Picture to Be Made at Another Studio.

A studio statement said she was guilty of an "anticipatory breach of contract," and an executive who would not be quoted said "the studio does not waive any of its rights to her services."

But her attorney, Loyd Wright, said the studio had recognized her contention of breach of contract, and that she would make a picture elsewhere.

One of the many of these, Murray File, of the William Morris office, said Miss West notified Paramount six weeks ago her contract had been abrogated by the studio when it failed to have a picture ready for her last July.

He said the studio had recognized this claim. The blonde actress will go to another studio, under a two-picture arrangement with Emanuel Cohen, former production chief of Paramount. File said the deal called for Cohen to pay her $300,000 a picture.

However, a Paramount executive said, "We haven't waived any claims on her, no matter what the contention is. We don't know what she intends to do now, or what our action will be when she tries it."

Another opinion, expressed unofficially in Hollywood, was that Paramount had agreed to let Miss West leave owing to the "nose dive" at the box office of her latest picture.

Miss West, who came to the films in 1932, has made six pictures. Her first was "Night After Night," in which she had a minor rôle.

She had her first real chance in her next film, "She Done Him Wrong," which proved to be one of the greatest financial successes since the advent of talking films.

There followed "I'm No Angel," "Belle of the Nineties," "Goin' to Town," and "Klondike Annie," her latest.

Miss West's salary at Paramount, which underwent a considerable upward adjustment after "She Done Him Wrong," was reported to be $150,000 per picture. She has written her own screen plays and generally supervised production.

Party Dress for Early Spring

[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]

Cape Outfits Are Ideal for Early Spring

BY RHEA SEEGER.

It's cape weather, so the rush is on for snappy short fur capes that look like spring but act as decorative windbreakers against any stray winter weather. If you thriftily bought a fur cape last fall, you are in luck. Leave the matching muff at home and wear the cape over contrasting dresses of all light colors. Black with gray or beige, gray with violet, pastel blue, scarlet, henna, or green, and brown with green, copper, and dull black.

Lots of fur caped ensembles are hanging around the shops, mostly combines of simple dress with long sleeves, and a shoulder hugging cape of fur, faced back with the sheer or silk and wool mixture of the dress. Always the capes are short, sometimes not reaching any lower than the waistline. Dolman models are quaintly new. These are fashioned with the shoulder line smooth and shaped. Stunning gray costumes feature pleats in the dress and a pleated section of the wool of the dress down the center of the cape with the rest of the cape of silvery gray flat fur.

The most sophisticated outfits are the stunning dull black wool dresses transformed into outstandingly distinctive street costumes with a sleek cape of black galyak. Another cape and dress outfit shows a lovely shade of grege [mixed gray and beige], with a dramatizing cape of black flat fur. And black with jade green trim seems deservedly popular when the dress is of sheer black wool and the cape is of black fur. Worn with bright green gloves, with a gay green hat and a matching handbag of soft green suede you'll cause all eyes to turn and admire.

Fashion photograph . . . The almond green chiffon dancing dress for early spring parties uses copper colored fringed carnations at the square cut neckline. A long floating cape of the chiffon reaches the hipline and covers the extremely open backline. The skirt is full around the ankles but is seamed smoothly at the waist. The belt is of chiffon with a brilliant buckle. It is available in a Chicago shop.

Service Council.

Through the Looking Glass

During the recent beauty trade show we had a long talk with a member of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers' association, who is especially interested in the permanent waving end of the beauty industry.

It was refreshing to meet some one in the manufacturing end who was honestly interested in protecting Mrs. Beauty Shop Customer from her own folly as well as the unethical operator. There's a lot more than meets the eye to the permanent waving business, as many a woman knows to her sorrow. The danger of bootleg supplies, unskilled operators, and faulty equipment is a real one. We were interested in knowing how Mrs. Customer could know what she was getting so she would not be fooled.

And it all boils down to our favorite theme: Your only protection is to patronize a shop of high standards and be prepared to pay a good price. Women outside the industry just don't know the ins and outs of permanents. It's all highly technical and more complicated than the average woman is interested in knowing about thoroughly.

The man we spoke to agrees with us that the profession as a whole could do better in the way of making women conscious of the necessity of having only the best. The operator can take time to explain why the permanent she gives costs $15, say, while the little shop down the street is flying banners about one that costs much, much less. The women will be glad to know.

But the crying need, if women are to have permanents and at the same time have beautiful hair, is for the woman herself to ask for the best and be prepared to pay for it. She should make sure that her operator is a well paid one who won't begrudge time; that the equipment is of the best, the supplies of the best. And she should demand a test curl. There is no such thing, in the long run, as the bargain permanent.

B. F. Rogerses to Be Guests at Palm Beach

Round of Parties Planned for Them.

BY JUDITH CASS.

A LETTER from a fortunate friend who is vacationing in Palm Beach brings word that Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Rogers are going down to Palm Beach from Ormond tomorrow and that there will be parties for them every day and night of the several they will be there.

The Donald R. McLennans, Robert F. Carr, and Franklin P. Smith are among the Rogers' Chicago friends who will entertain for them, and Mr. and Mrs. Ward Ames Jr. of Duluth also have planned an affair to compliment the bride and bridegroom. The wedding of Mrs. Ezra J. Warner and Mr. Rogers took place in Chicago on Jan. 7 and after a week or ten days in New York they returned here for several weeks before going south. Those weeks were filled with parties for the popular couple.

Other interesting bits of news about Chicagoans who are at Palm Beach are that Mrs. Albert B. Dick is embarking today for a month's cruise on her yacht, the Chieftain, and that the John F. Jelkes and their children have joined the large Chicago colony at the fashionable Florida resort. The Jelkes plan to be there several weeks.

The Bruce Strongs, who have been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Miller, in Palm Beach since early January, are going to exchange the Florida sun for that of Arizona, for they leave Palm Beach tomorrow for their ranch near Nogales, Mex. They will not return to Chicago until April 1.

Cummings Family Going to Hobe Sound.

Hobe Sound, which isn't far from Palm Beach, will be the destination of Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Cummings and their children, who are leaving next Friday to spend several weeks there. Mr. Cummings' mother and aunt, Mrs. D. Mark Cummings and Mrs. James C. Sharp, and Mrs. Charles C. Adsit left last Monday to motor south on a five weeks' trip that will include a stop in Hobe Sound and also in Washington, where the former Edith Cummings and her husband, Curtis Munson, are spending the winter.

Vero Beach, which also is an east coast resort and not very far from Palm Beach, is where the John M. Simpsons and Dustin Grannis were vacationing, but now they are in Nassau for a brief stay.

Mrs. Stuyvesant Butler and her sister, Miss Adelaide Ball, and the former's small daughter, Clare, have left

FEW PRICE RISES FACE WEEK-END FOOD SHOPPERS

Stores' Bargain Lists Vary Greatly.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

When food shoppers make their rounds of Chicago and suburban stores today and tomorrow they will find more than the usual variation in items listed on the bargain counters in the different stores. THE TRIBUNE'S weekly price survey shows comparatively few foods generally higher than last week. A few items are lower than a week ago in practically all stores and many others may be found on sale by going from store to store.

Most butchers have turned to beef and veal cuts for their week-end bargains. In some shops beef rib roasts and sirloin steaks are down 3 to 6 cents a pound. Wholesale beef cuts dropped about 50 cents a hundred pounds during the week although prices of live fat cattle advanced slightly at the stockyards. Veal calves are 25 to 50 cents a hundred lower than a week ago.

Pork Prices Unchanged.

Retail cuts of fresh pork are about the same price as last week. Some stores are featuring sliced bacon at special sales prices. Live hog prices advanced 10 to 25 cents a hundredweight during the week and wholesale pork cuts went up $1 to $2 a hundred.

Prices of most fresh lamb cuts are unchanged from week ago. Some shops have marked up their price tags on lamb chops about 4 cents a pound. Live lamb brought 25 to 50 cents a hundred pounds more on the market here than last week, but the wholesale price on dressed lamb dropped 50 cents to $1 a hundred.

Stewing Chickens Cheaper.

Stewing chickens are about 3 cents a pound lower than last week in most shops. Several kinds of fish, including haddock, halibut, fresh trout, and whitefish, are 2 to 8 cents a pound higher than a week ago.

Bananas are slightly higher than last week in some stores. Celery, fresh tomatoes, green onions, and sweet potatoes are up in a few stores. Most other fresh fruits and vegetables are either unchanged or lower, with different stores featuring different items.

Apples still are plentiful and are selling at uniformly reasonable prices for this season of the year. Grapefruit is cheaper this week than last. Some stores are offering the cheaper grades of potatoes at special sales prices where the customer takes as much as a peck. New potatoes from Florida are showing poorer quality than in recent weeks and are selling at slightly lower prices in most stores.

Head Lettuce Costs More.

Leaf lettuce is being featured in some stores at about one-third the price of last week. Wholesale prices of head lettuce are advancing due to light shipments from California, where the season is nearly over. The Arizona crop, now reaching the market here, has not started coming in in large volume.

Carrots are cheaper than a week ago in many stores, in line with wholesale prices on shipments from California. Asparagus is slightly lower than last week on the wholesale market and in some stores. Inferior quality, due to weather conditions in the California regions where it is grown, is given by dealers and market reporters as the reason for the drop in price.

Spinach on Bargain List.

Rutabagas, spinach, turnips, cabbage, and green beans are listed among the week-end bargains in many stores. A few have both dry and green onions on sale.

Several stores have put the lower priced brands of several kinds of vegetables on their special sales counters for the week-end. The list includes beans, peas, kraut, corn, tomatoes, beets, and carrots.

Butter took another drop of two cents a pound during week, and now is retailing at the lowest figure since the third week in January. Eggs are down about two cents a dozen in most stores.

Mayor Kelly Receives Copy of Paderewski Felicitations

A delegation of Chicagoans of Polish descent called on Mayor Kelly yesterday and gave him a book containing copies of letters of congratulation sent a month ago to Ignace Jan Paderewski, diplomat and famous pianist, on his 75th birthday. The delegation was headed by Leon T. Walkowicz, president of the Polish-American Historical society of Chicago, and Frank V. Zintak, clerk of the Superior court. A year ago Mayor Kelly named Paderewski an honorary member of the city council. The mayor said he had suggested to the board of education that the next school building erected should be named in Paderewski's honor.

$5,003,000 Tax Collections for 1934 Distributed by Gill

County Treasurer Joseph L. Gill yesterday distributed $5,003,000 of 1934 tax collections to the larger taxing bodies. The distribution was made as follows: City of Chicago, $3,300,000; county, $450,000; sanitary district, $550,000; south parks, $275,000; consolidated park district, $200,000; forest preserve, $100,000; west parks, $50,000; Lincoln park bonds, $60,000; Lake View park bonds, $10,000, and North Chicago park bonds, $8,000.

FINAL HEARING ON 'SONNY BOY' FIGHT MARCH 19

A final hearing on Miss Margaret Mann's claim that she is the mother of 3 year old "Sonny Boy" was set yesterday for March 19 by Judge Rudolph F. Desort of the Superior court. The hearing had been scheduled for yesterday but was postponed on the motion of Attorney Harry X. Cole, counsel for Dr. Gordon Mordoff, 1120 Lake avenue, Wilmette, who is contesting Miss Mann's claim.

Miss Mann asserts that the boy is her son, Reginald Arthur Mann, born to her in St. Vincent's orphanage on May 19, 1932. Dr. Mordoff insists that the boy is Gordon Mordoff III. and was born to his wife, the late Mrs. Madge Mordoff, and that he is the father. Attorney Cole said yesterday that the doctor is still conducting an investigation in an effort to support his claim for the boy's possession.

Attorney Edwin Robson, counsel for Miss Mann, said his client had no money for the expense of a long court battle and objected to the continuance. Judge Desort said he would allow no delay after March 19 and would insist that the hearing be concluded at that time. Meanwhile, Dr. Mordoff has temporary custody of the boy, and Miss Mann is allowed to see the child two afternoons a week.

FIND EMOTIONS OPERATE 'STOP LIGHT' IN BRAIN

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Discovery that emotions set off electrical stop signals in the human brain was reported today in Science, the official journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

These stop signals, very fast for embarrassment, anxiety, and apprehension, were caught in some new experiments in reading the electrical impulses of the brain, usually called "thought waves."

In this new investigation the signals showed definite connection with emotion, and virtually none with thought.

AIR HOSTESSES' EFFICIENCY SETS PACE FOR COOKS

Tasty Dinners from Tiny Kitchens.

From Lilliputian kitchens, shipshape in every detail, a transcontinental air line's hostesses served 275,000 chicken dinners last year! This is the standard of efficiency each hostess sets for the land homemaker: tray dinners for 10 people at each meal; deftly served from a kitchen measuring 30 inches by 20 inches by 14 inches.

Average housewives might balk at serving such attractive and complete meals from these tiny quarters. Here's a sample meal: asparagus or cream of tomato soup; a variety of rolls and pecan muffins; fried chicken or lamb chops [hot] with dressing; relishes; a salad; beverage and dessert. Sometimes cold cuts take precedence for the evening meal, while breakfast offers a choice of 5 cereals, fruit rolls and coffee.

Coffee Is Popular Drink.

In addition to the 275,000 dinners, the same air line served 85,000 buffet suppers last year. Interesting figures are shown by the order in which the various beverages were preferred—coffee led the field [100,000 quarts of beverages were served]; next chocolate; then tea; and finally milk. On the run from Seattle to Vancouver, however, the tea drinking English custom seems to have altered the situation, for two and a half times as much tea was served on that particular jaunt as on any other in the country.

Although cooks with their feet safely on the ground may well take a lesson from the air lines stewardesses in arranging and serving tempting meals, they escape some of the actual cooking problems, other than that of space.

Altitude a Cook's Problem.

Since altitude affects the boiling point of water, the "air cooks" have to fill and open their thermos bottles carefully. Water boils at 212 degrees F. at sea level, but bubbles away merrily at 190 degrees in a plane 10,000 feet in the air. Coffee is bottled at 160 degrees to prevent mishap.

On a coast to coast trip passengers eat three or four times, depending on whether it is an overnight or daylight flight. Leaving New York late in the afternoon, they eat a regular chicken dinner in Cleveland; a before bed lunch over Iowa; and breakfast as they approach the Pacific coast. If they leave New York in the morning they breakfast at home, lunch near Chicago, dine on the ground in Cheyenne, and snack before midnight over the Sacramento valley, just before landing at San Francisco.

BEG YOUR PARDON

The windblown cake recipe, printed March 3 contained, as many of you may have noticed, a typographical error in which sugar was listed as an ingredient where flour was meant. Wishing to correct the mistake so that you may all try out this very delicious cake, we are printing it again in correct form as follows:

WINDBLOWN CAKE.

- 3 eggs
- ¾ cup cold water
- 1¼ cups sifted sugar
- 1⅓ cups, plus 2 tablespoons, sifted cake flour
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- ¾ teaspoon lemon extract
- ¼ teaspoon almond flavoring

Beat the egg yolks with the cold water until the whole measures one quart. Add the sifted sugar gradually, beating well after each addition. Sift flour, add baking powder, and sift three times. Add to yolk mixture with the flavoring, and combine the two with a rotary egg beater. Fold in the beaten egg whites and bake in an ungreased tube pan for one hour at 300 degrees F. Allow to hang in inverted pan for one hour before icing. Cover with a thin orange confectioners' sugar icing.

SANDWICH LOAF EASY TO PREPARE AND ATTRACTIVE

Rainbow Is One of Most Beautiful.

Sandwich loaves are lots of fun to make. Filled with tasty layers and thoroughly chilled, they become one of the most appetizing of luncheon specials, and need little other accompaniment than a colorful fruit or vegetable gelatine mold.

One of the prettiest of these sandwich combinations is the rainbow loaf. To make this, cut the bread into four lengthwise slices. Make layers of the following: ground ham mixed with tomato catsup, yolks of eggs and sandwich relish, finely chopped cabbage, lettuce and cucumber, drained and mixed with mayonnaise. When sliced, the red, yellow and green fillings give a lovely rainbow effect.

If you've never tried a loaf made with fruity fillings, you might like to make one like this, with the following layers: chopped dates, nut meats, and a little chopped candied ginger, blended with orange juice; cream cheese with minced celery, and cream; mashed bananas with raspberry jelly.

For a Lenten special, use finely minced salmon or tuna fish and sweet pickle relish blended with mayonnaise, and then a layer of thinly sliced tomatoes, and finally one of pimiento cheese, mixed with chopped walnuts and mayonnaise. Frost this one, just before serving, with a mixture of mayonnaise, whipped cream and catsup.

Tribune Recipes

ORANGE FRITTERS.

[Serve with baked ham.]

- 3 large oranges
- ⅓ cup powdered sugar
- 1¼ cups family flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 egg, beaten
- ⅓ cup milk

Peel the oranges with a sharp knife, removing the outer white membrane with the peel. Then remove the pulp, leaving the segments as much intact as possible. Roll the orange segments in the powdered sugar. Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Beat egg and add milk. Combine liquid and flour mixture and beat until smooth. Dip orange segments in batter and fry in deep, hot fat [360 degrees F.] to a golden brown. Drain. Serve with powdered sugar.

BAKED MARSHMALLOW PEACHES.

- 6 peach halves
- 1½ teaspoons butter
- 6 marshmallows

Place peaches in buttered baking dish with the hollow side up. Cover with dots of butter. Place marshmallows in peach hollows and cook until tender in moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 30 minutes. Serve with an almond flavored custard sauce.

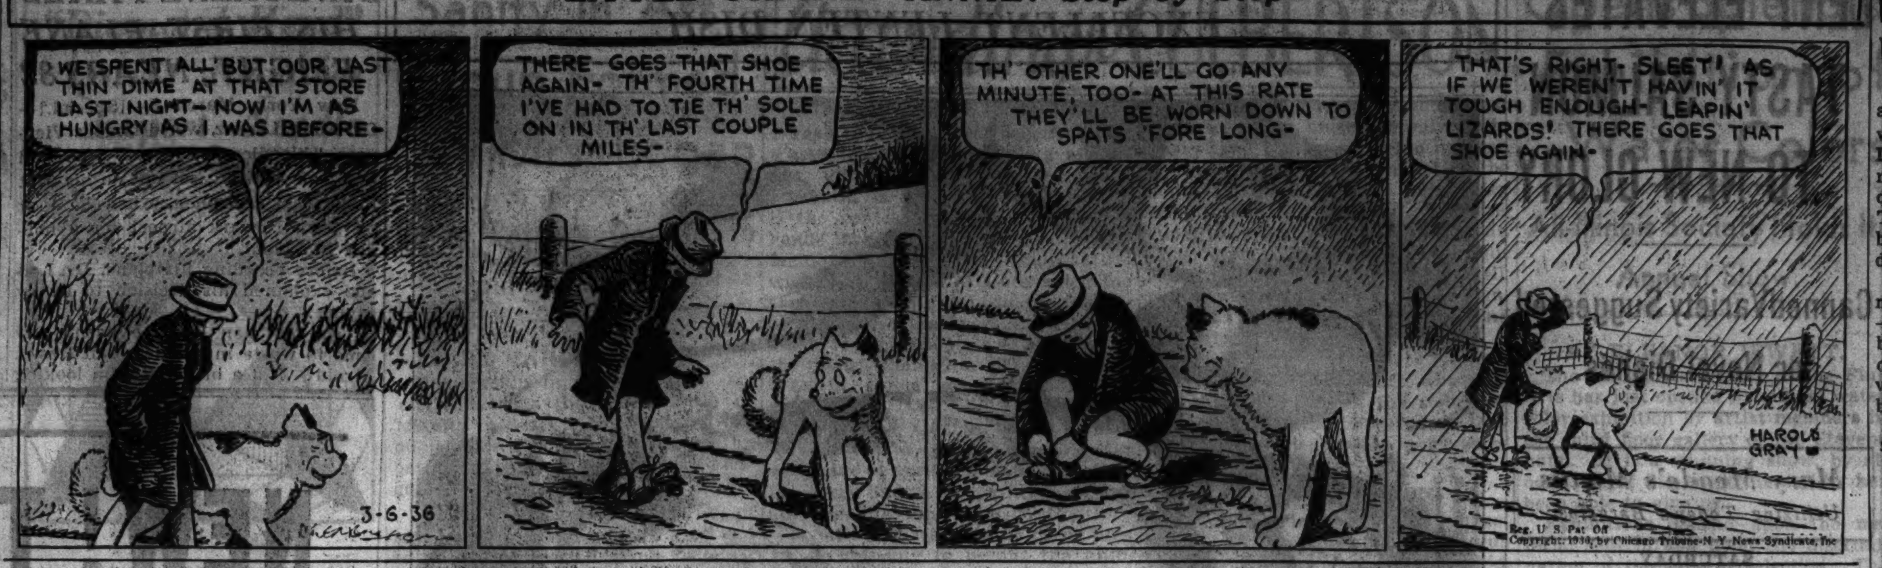
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Step by Step



URGE LIGHT USERS TO TEST SAVINGS UNDER NEW TIME

Chicagoans testing eastern standard time should examine their electric light bills at home and in their places of business to determine whether fast time is saving them money, W. A. Jackson, commissioner of the city's bureau of electricity, urged yesterday.

"We are using less electricity in city buildings under eastern time and others are undoubtedly having the same experience," he said. "If you compare your March light bill with March of last year you will know for yourself whether there is a saving."

Based on statistics of the Illinois commerce commission, it has been estimated that eastern time should save Chicago home owners more than $2,000,000 a year. This does not include the past summer daylight saving period, and allows for extra light burned on certain winter mornings.

In Michigan cities near Chicago it was found that eastern time not only saved home owners and business people money, but actually reduced electric rates by reducing the late afternoon lighting peak. In Cincinnati, Edgar Dow Gillman, municipal utility expert, found hundreds of thousands of dollars saved.

SITS ON A HORSE WITH DIGNITY AND WINS HIGH HONOR

LONDON, March 5.—(AP)—Lieutenant Commander John Roberts Poland was appointed marshal of the city of London today, chosen from among more than 100 applicants. Among the qualifications he had to have were: To be tall and handsome, of fine bearing, able to sit on a horse with dignity, and possessed of a good voice.

There was a time when the city mashals—there were several of them—had important duties to perform, but in 1829 their duties were taken over by police. Today the sole survivor to hold office has less arduous but more glamorous duties.

If armed forces are to march through the city the marshal has to meet them at the site of the old temple bar, marking the ancient boundary of the city of London, and cry, "Who comes there?" After examining their written permit from the city authorities he must ride at their head through the city streets.

When the lord mayor of London drives out in his gold state coach the marshal rides before him and is responsible for all ceremonial arrangements. The post carries a salary of £400 [about $2,000].

How to make good Waffles

1. Measure 2 cups Aunt Jemima Pancake Flour into mixing bowl. In another bowl beat 1 egg and combine with 2 cups milk or water. Pour liquid and 2 tablespoons melted butter or shortening into flour. Beat smooth. This makes six waffles.
2. Have waffle iron hot enough to bake a waffle perfectly in three minutes.
3. Grease iron lightly with paraffin after heating. Grease only once.
4. Serve waffles as soon as done. Never stack. Stacking spoils crispness.

GROCERS OFFER NEW SERVICE ON MEAL PLANNING!

YOU can now obtain in one order anything you need for Aunt Jemima's Magic Menu. Complete with printed, easy directions. It's so easy to get wonderfully light waffles—fluffy and well-done—when you use Aunt Jemima's Pancake Flour. You can get far more fluffiness than with ordinary bread or biscuit flour. Because Aunt Jemima's contains only about half as much gluten as ordinary flour. And gluten, you know, is the taffy-like substance in flour that resists heat and slows up the baking process.

That's why, with about half the gluten of ordinary flour, Aunt Jemima's waffles come out so perfectly done, so tender, fluffy and light in the few short minutes waffles are on the fire.

An Aunt Jemima waffle, a square of butter and one ounce of syrup are only 396 calories. Yet standard diets permit a total of 2,000 to 4,000 calories in the three daily meals. . . . Try Aunt Jemima's Magic Menu for the next meal.

Special Squad

By Courtney Ryley Cooper

SYNOPSIS.

Inspector Sandy Ross of the department of justice and Special Agent Buck Wasey travel by motor from Reno to Vinton City in search of information on Sociable Joe Willis, suspected of assisting in armored car robberies. A collision of two cars on a mountain road brings Jane Bronson into Sandy's life. But when she learns his identity she vanishes. She is driven in an ore truck to the house where her brother, Lee, is staying. A letter from Sociable Joe had brought her to plead with Lee to give up his gang connections. When she tells him about the special agents he agrees to leave with her immediately. They drive away in a cream colored sedan and Lee deliberately runs down Sociable Joe. The driver of the ore truck takes Sandy and Buck to the house where he had driven the girl.

INSTALMENT XI.

THE GIRL IN THE CASE.

"Did the girl have brown hair—hazel eyes?" Sandy asked the truck driver.

"That's the one."

All were out of the car now and ascending the rickety porch. Repeated knocking brought no answer. They tried the door. It was open.

"We'll go in" the inspector commanded. A moment later, lights were gleaming upon a place which bore evidence of hurried departures. The closets were empty. Sandy moved for some discarded newspapers in a corner of the bedroom. Bending, he rifled through them, at last to straighten.

"Get the finger print outfit from the car," he commanded of Buck. The Texan's eyes widened.

"Found something?"

"Yes, a New York paper with the details of the truck robbery there. We'd better process this house for finger prints."

Buck nodded.

"While we're at it," he said, "we'll make certain that the girl we're looking for came here."

"O, it must be the same one," the truck driver continued. "I picked her up at the corner, right down from the garage and——"

Buck grinned.

"We'll know in a minute," he announced and disappeared. Sandy turned to the driver.

"What name did this girl give you?"

"None."

"She didn't tell you to take her to a certain house occupied by a certain person?"

"No sir——she just gave me directions."

"Ever hear the name of Bronson in Vinton City?"

The driver shook his head.

"No." Then, as an afterthought: "That isn't the name of the fellow who lived here."

"Did you know him?" Sandy asked quickly. He had been searching through drawers, cupboards, closets with little results. Evidently the pile of newspapers was all that had been left behind. The truck driver shook his head.

"No, I didn't know him. But I saw a fellow one time with a cream colored car like this one down at the garage. I think Pete called him Mr. Hammer."

"We're trying to work fast," he commented. "Write down his description for me—everything you can remember."

The truck driver set to work. Buck Wasey returned to the house, bearing with him magnifying glass, "lifters" or uncured rubber for the lifting of finger print impressions, dusting powders and a finger print camera, equipped with a self-contained flashlight for the taking of instantaneous pictures.

Together the two investigators set to work, brushing varicolored powders across glasses, the surface of the table, the bulbs of the brass bed, the doorknobs. The truck driver completed the chore that was set for him and departed, leaving his name and address. The two men worked on. At last, the house covered from the ancient parlor to the poorly furnished kitchen, Buck Wasey hurried out to the car, where again he worked with searching powders and a flashlight, returning swiftly.

"It was the Bronson girl, all right," he announced. "One of these sets of prints from the table matches with a print on the door of my car."

"That's settled," answered Sandy with a certain amount of grimness. The news was disheartening, disillusioning. As if reading his thoughts, Buck Wasey grumbled:

"There's the trouble with the whole setup, today. People don't look like criminals any more. Take this Bronson girl, for instance. If ever there was a sweet acting person, she was it. Down in the Texas Rangers, a fellow didn't have to put up with things like that. Either a——"

"O, I know," growled Sandy Ross. "Everything good happened down in Texas. What do you make of these other prints?"

"Don't make anything out of them except the marks of one man. Nobody's been here to see him except that girl. Must have been laying low, waiting for her to join him."

"Looks that way," agreed Sandy. Buck nodded.

"Sure. Following the New York job, the gang scatters. Then after a while, his moll beats it back to him and now they're off again to meet up with the rest of the mob. "Well," he surveyed the place, "what do we do now?"

"Tear the house apart! snapped the inspector. It was the signal for a search in which the carpets were taken from the floors, mattresses from the beds, walls examined for secret hiding places, partitions examined, the stuffing of furniture carefully scrutinized for evidences of new stitching, even the pots and pans gone over for additional finger prints. At last, Sandy, rummaging about in the dank basement, brought a bent, tinny piece of circular metal from the coal bin. It was a damaged, empty machine gun drum.

"We're on the right trail," came thinly. "Guess we'd better begin waking up the neighbors."

They gained little information except from the landlady—there they learned that the man had given the name of Ray Hammer and that he had paid a month's rent in cash. They hurried for the garage. There they compared the description left by the truck driver with that of a young man who, a week before, had brought in a big, cream colored roadster for repairs. It was the same.

"Got the motor number of that car?" asked Buck.

"Yeh, and the license."

"Where was it from?"

"Georgia."

"Mail order license," said Sandy. "Won't help much." Nevertheless, he took it. Then, once out of the garage, he sent Buck Wasey hurrying to the bedside of Sociable Joe, wherever he might have been taken. The inspector moved for the telephone office. First he called a number in Reno, and gave orders which sent half the squad hurrying to his assistance. Then he swung out of the telephone booth for a moment, calling to the operator:

"National 7117 Washington, and get off the wire when we're connected."

There was a long wait. At last, the sound of a man's voice, half singsong, came over the wire:

"F. B. I. headquarters."

"Sandy Ross speaking. Give me the director at his home."

It was as casual as that—the Federal Bureau of Investigation, with its agencies stretching from Porto Rico to the Philippines, is as closely knit as the subdivisions of a small city. Soon the staccato voice of the director sounded from his home in Washington:

"Hello, Sandy, where are you?"

"Vinton City, just outside Reno. There's a break in the Sociable Joe case."

"Good, have you got him?"

Sandy Ross answered in the affirmative, hastily sketching the events of the afternoon and night. One part of the recital was not easy to give—that concerning Jane Bronson. The director laughed.

BY MARY MEADE.

There's no privacy these days, even in the life of the deep-sea-going salmon. For years he's been writing his own diary, modestly concealed on his own scales. Now that he has become a public character [note: Salmon week, Feb. 28 to March 7], his code has been deciphered, just like Samuel Pepys'. His age, how long he stayed in fresh water, how long in the sea, even the name of his old home river can be told by looking at his scales. Sad, but it's the price of fame.

Each glistening salmon scale, we recently have been told, tells all this life history by the arrangement of its ridges when viewed through a microscope, just as a tree trunk gives away its age by its ring formation.

Though the salmon may have a past well worth recording, the half hasn't been told until we look into its present and future. For this worthy fish has a most exciting story after it arrives on pantry shelves most anywhere.

Canned salmon has much to offer landlubbers who would add a deep-sea touch to their menus. Easily available, containing important minerals, high protein and energy values, vitamin D, its category of nutritional virtues recommends it anywhere. Particularly at the beginning of the Lenten season it is being considered for important menu rôles.

You, as the cook, write the charming last chapter in the salmon story. How about one of these for a perfect ending, and the beginning of new appetite delights for your family?

SALMON AND CORN SOUFFLE.

Mix one pound canned salmon, flaked, with two cups thick white sauce. Season to taste with lemon juice and Worcestershire sauce. Fold in two stiffly beaten egg whites and pour half the mixture into a buttered baking dish. Pour in one cup canned corn, sautéd slightly in hot fat, then the rest of the salmon mixture. Cover with buttered crums and bake in a hot oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve with a chopped pickle relish.

Mexican Stuffed Onions.

10 medium onions
1 pound canned salmon
1 tablespoon melted butter
2 eggs
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
Salt, butter

Boil onions for one-half hour or until tender. Remove centers and fill with salmon, melted butter, and green pepper mixture, seasoned with salt and pepper. Dredge each onion in flour, dip into well beaten eggs, more flour, and fry in deep fat until golden brown. Serve with tomato sauce.

BAKED SALMON AND SWEET POTATOES.

Bake six medium sweet potatoes until tender. Mash, season with salt, pepper, and butter. Add a half pound of flaked, canned salmon. Place in buttered baking dish, dot with butter, and heat thoroughly in moderate oven.

CHILLED SALMON MOUSSE.

Mix ½ tablespoon salt, 1½ tablespoons sugar, 1 teaspoon mustard, and mix with ¾ cup scalded milk. Cook in double boiler for 5 minutes. Add 1½ tablespoons melted butter, 2 beaten egg yolks, 1 tablespoon cold water, and ¼ cup hot vinegar. Stir and cook until slightly thickened. Add 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, softened in 2 tablespoons cold water. Stir until melted, then add 1 pound canned salmon, flaked, and turn into small molds to harden. Serve with cucumber sauce.

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

EXCELLENT LENTEN DISH

As delicious as it is amusing, this salmon mold is an excellent Lenten dish—and one to remember for summer luncheons as well. To make it: Soak 2 tablespoons granulated gelatin in 1-2 cup cold water. Dissolve in 1 1-2 cups boiling water; cool and add 2 tablespoons lemon juice and 1 pound canned salmon, flaked. Chill until beginning to set, then fold in 1 cup mayonnaise and heap in damp fish mold. Chill until set, unmold on chicory and garnish with quartered tomatoes.

TRIBUNE RECIPES

[For Cake.]

6 tablespoons butter
6 tablespoons cream
1 cup light brown sugar
1 cup coconut

Blend the ingredients together thoroughly and spread over the top of a not freshly baked cake. Place under the broiler, heat to brown, and watch carefully to avoid scorching.

GRAPE JUICE COCKTAIL.

3 cups grape juice
2 bay leaves
1 small onion
3 sprigs parsley
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon celery salt
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
8 drops tabasco sauce

Slice the onion and let it stand with the bay leaves and crushed parsley in the grape juice for one hour. Strain and add the seasonings. Shake with ice and serve immediately.

GINGER REFRIGERATOR COOKIES.

¾ cup bacon drippings
¾ cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup molasses
4½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons ginger
1 teaspoon soda

Cream shortening, sugar, egg, and molasses until light and fluffy. Add sifted dry ingredients a little at a time. When mixed form into a roll, wrap in wax paper, and chill several hours. Slice in very thin rounds, lay on a greased baking sheet, and bake in a moderate oven [375 degrees F.] about ten minutes.

ECONOMY DEVIL'S FOOD CAKE.

1 cup sugar
½ cup shortening
1 square unsweetened chocolate
2 eggs
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1⅓ cups bread flour
1 cup sour milk

Cream the shortening, add the sugar gradually, and cream until fluffy. Mix in the melted chocolate and well beaten eggs. Then add flour, salt, and soda alternately with milk, in thirds. Bake in a moderate oven, either as two small layers or one 9x9 inch cake.

SPAGHETTI CHICKEN CASSEROLE.

½ six ounce package spaghetti
2 cups diced cooked chicken
1 large can irradiated evaporated milk
2 cups buttered bread crums

Add spaghetti, broken in small pieces, to 1 quart well seasoned chicken broth which has been brought to a boil. Cook until tender. Turn into buttered baking dish, cover with chicken, pour milk over all, and top with bread crums. Brown in a 350 degree F. oven. [If desired veal or beef may be substituted for the chicken. In this case use veal or beef broth in place of the chicken broth.]

PASTRY ROLLS.

Roll pie crust until it is very thin. Cut it into long strips three inches wide. Spread the surface with a mixture of cream cheese and mashed sardines and roll as for a jelly roll. Chill, cut into half inch slices and bake them in a hot oven [450 degrees F.].

DR. LORENZ TAKES HIS FIRST PLANE FLIGHT; NEARS 82

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Dr. Adolf Lorenz, world famous Viennese "bloodless" surgeon, who will be 82 on April 21, set out on his first flight this afternoon, when he took off from Newark airport for a holiday in Miami.

"An old man like me hasn't any time to waste in needless rail travel. Afraid? Not a bit of it. I'm looking forward to the experience as a child does to his first train ride.

"I have been wanting to fly for years, but somehow I have never had the opportunity. Three thousand miles in ten hours! That would take you in Europe from the heart of the soviet union to Gibraltar."

Irene McLaughlin 'Doing Nicely' in N. Y. Hospital

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin is "doing very nicely," an attending physician said today at Polyclinic hospital, where the former dancer is recovering from a major operation she underwent last week.

to motor to Florida. They plan to be away about a month.

Cornelius Crane to Land Today.

Cornelius Crane lands today in San Francisco from Tahiti and will fly to Chicago, arriving here on Monday to join his mother and sister, Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr. and Mrs. William A. Robinson, in the great house at Lake Shore drive and North avenue that is Mrs. Crane's home.

Mr. Robinson talked to his wife Wednesday from Panama to notify her that he will dock at New York next Wednesday and that he will come straight to Chicago to join the family reunion.

Young Mrs. Crane probably will be here before long, too, from Zurich, Switzerland, where she has been studying voice, so Mrs. Crane is happy at the prospect of having all four of her "children" with her for some months to come, for they all will spend the summer with her at her country place, Castle Hill, in Ipswich, Mass.

Friends of China Will Meet at Crane Home.

Mrs. Crane will open her residence on Sunday, March 15, at 4 o'clock, for a meeting of the American Friends of China, at which Alexandre Tcherpnine, Russian composer and pianist, will tell briefly about his activities in Chinese musical circles. His talk will be followed by a program of Chinese music. Mr. Tcherpnine lives in Paris, but he has spent some time in China and has played an important part in bringing about a new movement in Chinese music, which carries on the ancient Chinese traditions while at the same time absorbing influences from the west.

Mrs. William B. Hale is president of the Friends of China; Mrs. Joseph M. Patterson [Mrs. Crane's sister], William B. Greenlee, and Theodore C. Hume are vice presidents; Miss Lucy Driscoll is secretary, and Dr. Walter Lichtenstein is treasurer.

Write New Book to Help Students of Chinese Art.

The most recent bulletin of the Art institute calls attention to a volume by Miss Driscoll and Kenji Toda of the University of Chicago, which will be of especial interest to those studying Chinese art. It is entitled "Chinese Calligraphy."

It also recommends to those erudite ones who are making a study of the art of China, Soame Jenyns' book, "A Background to Chinese Painting." This little book, addressed in part to would-be collectors, repeats the old Chinese saying, "Out of every ten Sung paintings, eleven are spurious" and then goes on to give a picture of the changes in western knowledge and taste in Chinese art from the 18th century interest in Chinoiserie down to the serious study which reached a climax in the Burlington house exhibition in London, which closes tomorrow.

Chicago enthusiasts about Chinese art have been hoping against hope that perhaps in some way it could be arranged that the exhibit could be brought here on its way home, but the Art institute reports that it is an impossibiliy.

The English government is pledged to take the treasures back to China by battleship and the Metropolitan museum in New York was unable to make any arrangement with the Chinese government for the exhibit to be shown here.

Mrs. Samuel T. Chase Will Return Tomorrow.

Mrs. Samuel T. Chase will be at home in Lake Forest tomorrow from a trip to New York. She is probably the most delighted of the many who are glad that the former Libby Chase and her husband, Louis F. Swift Jr., are coming to Lake Forest to live. They have lived in Fort Worth, Tex., since their marriage two years ago next April 19. They are expected to arrive the latter part of next week.

The Lanning MacFarlands and Lewis L. McArthur will sail tomorrow from Vancouver on the Empress of Canada for a trip around the world which will keep them away from home until early May. They will go to Honolulu and Japan and then at Shanghai will transfer to a Dutch ship which touches Hongkong, Manila, Bali, and Batavia. They will fly to various points of interest in India and then will go to Italy and Paris.

Miss Naomi Donnelley will be back at home about the first of April from California, where she is visiting various friends and relatives, including her niece, Mrs. Pardee Erdman of Pasadena.

Mrs. Edmund Andrews and her mother, Mrs. Robert Greene Dwen, sailed last Sunday from Boston for Ireland to be away about six weeks.

Start on New Play for Children's Theater.

The Chicago Junior league actresses will gather at the league office this morning to try out for the next play the Children's theater will present at the Chicago Historical society. The play, "Mr. Dooley Jr.," by Rose Franken and Jane Lewin, will be given first on Saturday afternoon, April 11, and will be repeated for five more consecutive Saturdays.

Tryouts also will be held at the historical society next Monday and Tuesday mornings. The play, a modern one and humorous, will be directed by Edwin Rice, stage manager of "Boy Meets Girl." This will not be Mr. Rice's first experience at directing league players, for he staged "Peter Pan" for them two years ago.

The boys of the Chicago Latin school are celebrating their basketball team's record of eleven straight victories with a dance this evening in the school gymnasium. Members of the first team and their partners will be special guests.

A committee of freshman boys, including Ashton Graham, Frederick Stark, and Frank Crow, have arranged for a crystal globe to be suspended in the center of the gymnasium, transforming the room with multicolored reflected lights.

"Diamond Head" Quilt Requires Expert Needle

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Diamond Head" is one of the quilt patterns which should be attempted by only the expert quilt makers endowed with a superabundance of patience and exactitude. The many faceted surface of "Diamond Head" will be completely destroyed if the patches are carelessly cut or set together. The brilliant beauty of the stone is carried out in vivid shades of red, blue, violet, and orange, which are interspersed with white.

Claims Instruction in Reading at Early Age Injures Eyes

Teaching children to read before they are physically and mentally ready to learn is responsible for nearly 40 per cent of the pupils in the fourth to sixth elementary grades developing serious eye defects, it was asserted yesterday by Prof. Paul A. Witty of the Northwestern university school of education.

Prof. Witty recently completed a study of children who are retarded in school and whose reading scores fall below their classmates' average. Most first and second grade children are not ready to learn to read, Dr. Witty said. He suggested that a test should be given to appraise the child's background of interest and information and his language and mental development before beginning the teaching of reading.

Swedish Choral Club to Honor Gustaf Holmquist

The late Gustaf Holmquist, who founded the Swedish Choral club twenty years ago, was honored yesterday by members of the club who placed a wreath on a bust of the famed singer at the Swedish club of Chicago. The choral club will celebrate its twentieth anniversary and honor the memory of its founder with a special concert of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" to be given Wednesday night, March 25, at Orchestra hall.

SCIENTIFIC REPORT FAVORS BRAN

Relieves Common Constipation* Safely

Read this statement, taken from an article in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association, pages 133-134, Nov., 1932:

"The inclusion in the diet of a small portion of bran . . . would seem a very practical way of getting fiber which is not likely to be disintegrated. This bran has the additional advantage of furnishing a considerable amount of vitamin B and of readily available iron."

Exhaustive tests, over a period of five years, have proved Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to be a safe, effective way to correct constipation due to insufficient "bulk" or fiber in meals. It is accepted by the American Medical Association Committee on Foods for this purpose.

You will enjoy this pleasant way to prevent the dangers of constipation. You can eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream. Or cook into delicious breads and muffins.

Serve ALL-BRAN regularly for regularity. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

ACCEPTED AMERICAN MEDICAL ASSN.

'Sanity in Art' Group Formed by Mrs. Logan

Some Patrons Decline to Join Association.

BY MARCIA WINN.

Membership in a new "anti" society, bearing the official title of "Sanity in Art" is being offered the public, Mrs. Frank G. Logan, wealthy patron of the Art institute of Chicago, announced yesterday.

The object of the society, Mrs. Logan says, is to "censure modern art" and to make a concerted stand "against the modernistic, moronic grotesqueries that masquerade as art."

Response to the society already is excellent, Mrs. Logan said, while "most remarkable replies" have been received to 500 letters sent out to prospective sponsors. In these she spoke of "over 200 letters and clippings from every state in the Union commending me for my endeavor," and of her hope to "rid us of the examples such as are at present displayed on the walls of our institute, and, as a matter of fact, shown all over America."

"Why, I've already had from 40 to 50 fine names for sponsors," she said enthusiastically. "It's just remarkable. Chauncey McCormick wrote me a beautiful letter."

But Mr. McCormick, a trustee of the Art institute, declared last night that he had declined Mrs. Logan's invitation to become a member of the new society. In his letter, he said, he had expressed himself as believing in "freedom of expression, freedom of enjoyment, freedom of criticism and freedom of patronage—particularly in art."

"Sanity in art—sanity in anything, sanity in everything—is indeed a fine goal at which to aim," Mr. McCormick wrote, "but the question immediately arises—whose sanity?

"I know that I have not had experience, neither have I the wisdom nor the nerve to lay down the law to people as to what they may like or should like in art. Rather, I feel I should try to learn from what the public approves."

Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, the former Marion Deering, who also was asked by Mrs. Logan to be a sponsor, wrote in reply:

"I dislike all kinds of censorship, and think it is more dangerous in art than in anything else, and therefore feel I cannot join your society.

"The whole history of painting teaches us," she continued, "that through successive generations there was a constant repetition of misunderstanding of everything that was new. Many of the men the world accepts today as the greatest painters were scoffed at during their lives by those too intolerant to give them a hearing, merely because they were different."

Another invited sponsor, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank [Janet Ayer Barnes], replied to Mrs. Logan: "My point of view on art is not sympathetic with yours. My feeling is that when art becomes static, it is worthless.

"I also think it is of vital importance," she wrote, "that the general public should be enabled to see what is going on in the field of art today, unhampered by any individual prejudices on the subject. . . . I think the highest hope we can have for the present generation is that through freedom of opportunity it, too, can develop artists who still live."

According to CULBERTSON

TEAM-OF-FOUR MATCHES.

Team-of-four matches constitute the truest test of bridge skill available, but, unfortunately, the element of luck still is inescapable. Of course, if the contest is one of 300 or 400 hands luck is reduced to a negligible factor and the better team should win, but such contests are much too time-consuming for ordinary tournaments. Here the average inter-team match is approximately 40 hands until the finals, when 60 or 100 are played.

As in single sessions of rubber bridge play, the cards are apt to have decided trends. Thus it may well be that a consistent overbidder will have a veritable field day, finding every finesse successful and every suit breaking miraculously. Contrariwise, at other sessions the cards turn sullen, refusing to permit the fulfillment of the most legitimate contracts, and the timid souls get unjust rewards. In both cases, it should be noted, the perfect bidder is enormously handicapped.

A Very Tricky Grand Slam.

At one table the correct contract of six spades was reached, played as safely as possible and, of course, fulfilled. At the other table the bidding was:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 spade	Pass
3 diamonds	Pass	3 spades	Pass
6 spades	Pass	7 spades [final bid]

The most superficial analysis discloses that the grand slam has considerably less than an even chance for success. It should be noted that the spade king must not only be in East's hand [unless singleton in West, and declarer peeks], but must not be doubly guarded. North's only entry is by means of a club ruff, which reduces the trump holding to two cards. Thus, even if East has the king, but has at least two small trumps as well, the diamond suit never can be run. East has simply to cover the second spade lead from dummy.

On a purely mathematical, non-double-dummy basis there was only one chance in four of the slam succeeding, yet with the cards as they were it was made. The goddess of luck often favors the rash.

Opens Splendid Exhibition of Water Colors

All-Illinois Society Holds Its Annual Show.

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts has just opened its annual water color exhibition by artist members in the third floor gallery of the Stevens hotel. It is a stunning show, by all odds one of the finest the society has been able to give us.

Exhibitions depend upon the material sent in and upon the discrimination of the jury of selection. The material submitted to the water color show was exceptionally good and the jury of selection, consisting of Adam Emory Albright, Nina Kickbusch Griffin, Frederick Victor Poole and this writer, found little difficulty in selecting a show in character with the ideals of the All-Illinois.

Good painting was the chief requirement and that we found in brimming measure. Consequently it would be hard to discover another wall in any gallery more stimulating than that which faces you as you enter this exhibition.

Dale Nichols' "Chicken for Dinner" starts the ball rolling and Nina K. Griffin continues the forward sweep with the introduction of two gorgeous, large, still life compositions, "The Magnolias" and "Italian Vintage."

To the right one discovers the charming "Mending the Hoop" by Adam Emory Albright and across from that are two superb studies of horses drinking at a trough, by Robert P. Kilbert. Mr. Pool contributes "Bailey's Harbor," lovely in its soft coloring, and Frederic Dalrymple offers an abrupt contrast in technique with his vigorous group of four forceful paintings, of which perhaps "Gray Day" and "Galena" are the finest.

Florence White Williams shows a tiny sketch of sailboats, "Silvery Day," effective despite its size, and Julia Sulzer Griffith gives us "Gloucester," another perfect little painting. Clay Kelly shows "Tracery," a brilliant composition of trees and lagoon that fairly sparkles, and "Tumble Weed," a stretch of water and land with squat trees and an interesting sky.

Alice Mae Jackson shows "Polka by Smetana," a decorative bit of rhythm, and William H. Eppens recalls the glories of A Century of Progress with three fascinating sketches. Ted Vognild submits the portrait of a Japanese spaniel that does everything but sniff, and a dignified head of a Great Dane.

Florence Ezzell Stevenson suggests spring with her lovely "Tulips" and "Spring Flowers." Richard Chase has a gorgeous piece of composition and color in "Michigan and Wacker."

The exhibition will continue to April 15 and every one should see it.

The All-Illinois Society of the Fine Arts is sponsoring the new exhibit in the Drake hotel of paintings by Alice Mason. Mrs. Mason offers several interesting portraits and several charming portraits. She seems to be nibbling the grass on both sides of the fence, however, and her modern work is less successful than her conservative painting.

30 School Children Finish Job WPA Leaves Undone

Grants Pass, Ore., March 5.—(AP)—The boys and girls of Jerome Prairie school pupils are finishing the improvement job which WPA workers began. With a homemade tractor and some shovels 30 children are cleaning up their school grounds. WPA crews stopped work on the project when funds ran out last December. The children, tired of stumbling over the grounds, decided to finish the job.

Moody Bible School to Share in Estate of Half Million

The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago is to receive a large bequest from the estate of C. W. Williams of Aurora, under the terms of a will filed yesterday in the Kane County Probate court at Geneva.

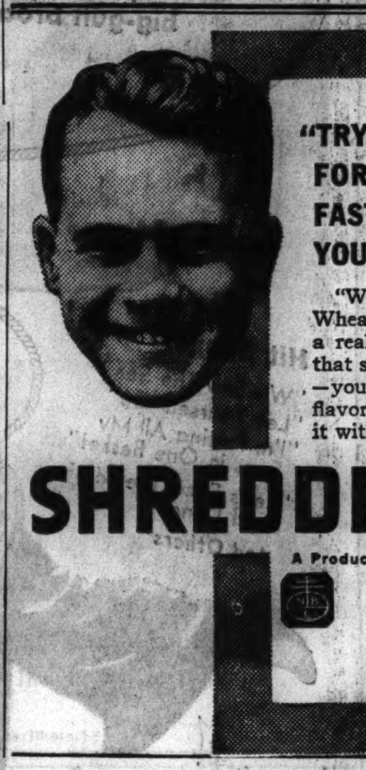
Mr. Williams, a leading figure in the breeding and racing of trotting horses in the last two decades of the 19th century, wrote into the will that he desired the part of his fortune left the institute to be used in "spreading the true gospel of Jesus Christ."

The estate is estimated at $500,000. Mrs. Jennie Williams, the widow, is left $50,000 in the will, while three sons and a daughter, all of whom are residents of Canada, are to be given $75,000 each. With the exception of a minor bequest for the upkeep of a cemetery lot the remainder of the Williams fortune goes to the Bible institute.

In the will it was directed that 33,000 acres of Canadian wheat lands owned by Mr. Williams be sold when the executor of the estate feels that market conditions are favorable. His 160 acre farm in Kane county and his home at 1334 Downer street, Aurora, are also to be sold before the division is made.

University Women.

The American Association of University Women and the Chicago College club will hold a reception and dinner at 6 o'clock this evening at the club house, 196 East Delaware place.



Miss Fazenda Repeats Role of Silent Film

Given Part of Maid in Talkie Remake.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 5.—[Special.]—Louise Fazenda is setting something of a record; she is now playing the same rôle she had in silent pictures thirteen years ago. It is the rôle of the Swedish maid to the doctor and his wife in "I Married a Doctor," which is being refilmed as a talkie with some new gags, situations, and character rôle buildups at Warner studio. Pat O'Brien is the doctor and Josephine Hutchinson is his wife.

The mother of George Breakston, child actor, is opening a hat shop under the name of "Jacqueline Duval." That was Mrs. Breakston's name as a French war bride.

Jimmy Cagney's contract with Warner's is for $4,500 a week and raises to $5,000 weekly next year if his quarrel with the studio is composed.

While roller skating along the sidewalks in Hollywood, Ann Sothern came to a break in the pavement and tripped, ripping the one leg of her slacks from the knee down and cutting the knee.

Eloise Taylor [Mrs. Pat O'Brien], who is in the gown shop business, staged a fashion show at the Victor Hugo restaurant.

June Travis [Grabiner] got even with that practical joker, Craig Reynolds, who has been making things jittery for the cast of "Murder in the Big House" at Warner's. When Reynolds started for home the other night he found all tires of his auto flat.

The Danish museum would like to purchase Jean Hersholt's invaluable collection of original manuscripts and personal souvenirs of Hans Christian Andersen, but can't. Hersholt has the greatest Andersen collection in the world. He also possesses a library of first editions valued in excess of $100,000.

No movie households have made much effort to entertain George Bernard Shaw during his twenty-four hour stopover in Los Angeles tomorrow. When Shaw came here on his first visit in March, 1933, he made Ann Harding cry, said tart things to some others who were trying to be nice to him, refused to autograph something for John Barrymore, and remarked to Alice Brady: "Why does such a pretty face wear such an ugly hat!"

Figures made public here list Hollywood as the No. 1 city in the United States, regardless of population, in purchase of air transportation. Hollywood paid out in excess of $1,000,000 in 1935 on passenger plane flights.

On the strength of his excellent acting in the Dr. Dafoe rôle of "The Country Doctor" Jean Hersholt was called in by the head of the studio holding his contract and notified that a new contract had been written to supersede the old one. The new one nearly doubles Jean's salary, making it between $2,500 and $3,000 a week.

She is in need of a Gregg manual and a copy of the Speed Studies [red binding]. Can any reader help her?

Cagney Holds 4 in Year Is Movie Limit

Los Angeles, Cal., March 5.—[Special.]—Jimmy Cagney's objection to appearing in more than four movies a year was not from disinclination to work but "because I feel that anybody who makes more pictures than that, wears out his welcome with the public, no matter who he is."

Cagney testified before Judge Charles Bogue today in his suit against Warner brothers, his movie employers, seeking to void the contract under which Warners have been paying him $4,500 a week.

Cagney said he and Jack Warner agreed to the contract in 1932, "but Jack told me his brother Harry would think he was off his nut if we put all I wanted in the contract proper. He said it didn't have to be in the contract, that I could just take his word for it."

Cagney explained that what he wanted in 1932 was $4,000 a week, star billing and a limit of four pictures a year. We compromised with a salary of $3,000 a week."

Then the studio wanted the right to hold out $1,250 a week "to insure my being a good boy," and this was agreeable to the actor.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Fifteen Too Young to Date.

"Dear Miss Blake: Are 15 and 16 the right ages to go out with boys? "ANXIOUS."

Fifteen seems rather young for date with boys, but at 16 an occasional movie or party should be all right.

Extend an Apology.

"Dear Miss Blake: I'm in love. I said something to him for which I am sorry. Please advise. ANXIOUS."

If you feel you have reason to extend an apology, do so.

New Clara Bow Glad 'It' Girl Quit in Time

'Brooklyn Fire' Quenched by Nevada Ranch.

Clara Bow, who used to train on hard liquor and late hours, drinks lemonade and can't sleep in the city any more on account of the noise.

The pulsing, flesh and blood example of what Elinor Glyn meant when she described sex appeal as "it" has disappeared.

A tousle headed baby and the Nevada desert did it.

"They brought me to my senses," Clara said today. "I'm glad it happened in time."

She and her husband, Rex Bell, and the blonde baby, now 14 months old, came back to Hollywood from their cattle ranch near Searchlight, Nev., more than a week ago.

In the old days Clara Bow never walked across a night club floor without there being a photographer somewhere at hand. She was in the newspapers from the moment she won a beauty contest to the day nine years later when they carried her, raving, to a hospital with a nervous breakdown.

Hard days, she said.

"Gee, I never had any advantages. I was born in the slums. You don't know what it means to live the way we did, to see your mother so pitifully grateful for the slightest bit of beauty, and straining so eagerly for the smallest happiness.

"I'm sorry she couldn't live to share my complete happiness."

When Clara came to Hollywood her professional life was something to be endured for what it brought materially—$75,000 a picture. But with it came a personal life that eventually put her in the hospital.

First, a young man attempted suicide because, he said, of her. Then came her "engagement" to Harry Richman, New York night club singer. Finally, the trial of Daisy Deboe, her personal maid.

Through all this young Rex Bell stood by patiently. And when the fever left her whirling head they were married.

Now, "I've just started to live," said Clara. "I mean it. Those ten years seem like a bad dream, a nightmare. This is morning."

Their huge ranch is in the desert.

"Lonely? I should say not," she smiled. "I have friends. It's funny about them, too. People, here, used to crane their necks and stare and watch me wherever I went.

"Up there, at first, they were a little reserved and I thought they didn't like me because I had been an actress. Now, when I go into town it's 'Hi, Clara,' wherever I go. And that really means something to me.

"Sometimes I get up in the morning and get ham and eggs for Rex. He likes a lot of ham and eggs and prunes and about seven cups of coffee.

Club Federation to Hear Talk on Election Frauds

The Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs will hold a citizenship forum in the Hotel Sherman Monday at which time speakers will consider civil service legislation, law observance, and American citizenship. Speakers will include Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, president of the women's civic council, who will talk on fraudulent elections; and Judge John Gutknecht of the Traffic court, who will discuss law observance.

Man Is Unwise to Be Indebted to Girl Friend

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She is 27 and he is 23. He is going to medical school, the girl helping him with certain of his expenses. It will be five years before they can be married. He is worried about his financial indebtedness and resolves he will not marry until that all is paid back. While she has said she expects no return of the money, that marriage to him will be all she'd ever expect, the young man begins to wonder about what the future holds for him. The amount already expended by the girl for the young man's education runs into hundreds of dollars.

The money already is raising a barrier in the man's mind, so it would seem the better part of wisdom for him to transpose this heart affair as quickly as possible into a financial one and call off all matrimonial clauses. Before marrying time the man will be so involved financially that he will hate the woman for so binding him.

Besides, it is not fair billiards to obligate a man into matrimony, if that is in the woman's mind. It may not be. She may be merely anxious to help the man get his degree. But this rarely turns out other than a thankless deed on the woman's part. Better take a young nephew and put him through school, or some one with whom there can be no such future tie as matrimony.

In our experience, here and elsewhere, romances that are based on loans of money from the woman half of the heart interest invariably come a cropper.

The woman may extend her help with the best intentions and the most generous motive, even resolved not to let this be a tie that strains. But if the man doesn't play fair with her her whole attitude changes. That frequently heard futile moan, "I did everything for him," becomes the theme song. And there is something deeply psychological in the man that eventually resents the feminine hand that is raised to help financially.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THE LATE DEPARTED

Films to Pay Thousands for Job Insurance

Mae West's Tax Is $1,526 for $15 Benefit.

Sacramento, Cal., March 5.—If Mae West makes as much money this year as she made in 1934, California and the federal government may tap her bank roll for $1,526 as a reserve for a rainy day.

The money would be the blonde screen actress' contribution to the state unemployment reserve fund to which every Californian who receives a salary began making compulsory deposits on Jan. 1 regardless of the size of his pay check.

The tax is applicable only to salaries and wages and not to income from other sources.

The recent publication of incomes as reported to the federal government on income tax returns for 1934 showed Miss West was one of the country's highest paid individuals, getting $339,166.

If she receives as much this year in salary she would have to pay $1,526, or .45 of 1 per cent. Next year she will have to pay .90 of 1 per cent, and in 1938 a flat tax of 1 per cent.

The tax is assessed, along with higher taxes against employers based upon their pay rolls, to build up a fund out of which the state will begin paying benefits in 1938 to persons who lose their jobs. The 1936 revenue is estimated at 160 million dollars.

While Miss West might have to contribute as much as $122 a month to the state she could not collect more than $15 a week if she lost her job. The law permits benefits ranging from $7 to $15 weekly for limited periods, depending upon how long a person has contributed to the fund and how long he is out of work.

Court Throws Out Suit Against Coogan for Auto Crash Death

Hollywood, Cal., March 5.—[Special.]—Dismissal of a $250,000 suit against Jackie Coogan was ordered today by Superior Judge Robert Kenny on the ground that the plaintifs, Misses Grace and Gertrude Durkin, had no right to sue.

The sisters, both actresses and sisters of the late Junior Durkin, sought $250,000 in one of a number of suits brought against Coogan for deaths caused by the crash of his automobile when Coogan's father, the late Jack Coogan, was driving. Junior Durkin and the senior Coogan were two of four persons killed. The sisters asserted young Coogan was at fault in permitting his father to drive while assertedly intoxicated.

The court today ruled that the only person entitled to sue over Durkin's death is his father. Damage suits filed against Coogan totaled $550,000.

WOMAN'S AND MISS' HOME FROCK.

If you ever have had to answer the ring of the doorbell, right in the middle of your household tasks, and were acutely conscious of the fact that your frock was not chic, you will adopt this pattern as your standby to obviate any further embarrassment. The lines of this dress are tailored and simple, with softly draped waistline and trim collar and cuffs contributing an abundance of chic.

If you are smart, you will make this frock in two versions, illustrated for you. There are sufficient differences in detail to make each dress individual. One model may be of delicate print, with dark collar and cuffs of harmonizing shade. The other may employ a dark print, and have the trimmings in a light shade. If you wish, omit the pocket.

Style No. 2677 is designed for sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 35 inch material, with ¾ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

Regular Habits Are Secret of Keeping Beauty

Dusolina Giannini Is One Sponsor of Idea.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"Don't be a rotten apple!" was Miss Giannini's way of expressing the age old secret of building beauty from within.

"All of us," says the famous songbird, "have had the experience of picking up an inviting apple, its red skin glowing with the promise of luscious fruit, only to find that the core is decayed and the interior flabby and tasteless."

In her busy life Miss Giannini discovered that a well regulated personal life is the only solution to woman's familiar problem of preserving beauty under physical and nervous strain. "Whether you have to work in an office every day or sing every night, the prescription is the same. It's sleep, fresh air, exercise, simple food, and plenty of water, hot and cold.

And that, dear readers, is what every woman lives to learn.

"The effect of a good night's rest on the eyes, face, and disposition outsmarts even the most magic cream or lotion," continues the diva. "Fresh air is the elixir of natural beauty. It is truly unfortunate that so much of our existence is 'hothouse' by force of circumstances."

After tiring rehersals the opera star takes a brisk walk if only for fifteen minutes, a pick-me-up recommended over all other known revitalizers. Simple and well balanced meals at regular hours are on the famous one's schedule. In Europe she acquired the wonderful habit of drinking a glass of hot water with a little mint or lemon juice before breakfast and before retiring. There is nothing like it, she claims, for keeping the complexion clear and the system in good order. In addition, four glasses of cold water a day are made an imperative rule.

Miss Giannini is slim, dark, and vibrant. While her features betoken the Roman aristocrat, her verve and frankness are as typically American as her Philadelphia birth certificate. She has deep brown eyes with lustrous lashes, warmly tinted ivory skin, and gleaming black hair that reaches almost to her knees. She dresses her tresses with classic simplicity in a braided chignon low on her neck. To the good old-fashioned hairbrush goes all the credit for that shining crown of glory that is hers.

Gov. Fitzgerald Gives His Niece in Marriage

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Miss Marjorie Jean Reed of Flint, Mich., and Arthur Nelson, a civil engineer with the New York Central railroad, were married this afternoon at the Hotel Pennsylvania. The bride, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Reed, was given away by her uncle, Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald of Michigan. Orville Atwood, secretary of state of Michigan, was among those attending the ceremony.

Music Notes

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Coe Glade, one of the stars of the Chicago City Opera company, announces the formation of a new touring company to be known as Civic Opera Productions. It plays first in Minneapolis on March 23 as the first stop on a tour that will include Duluth, Des Moines, Toledo, and other midwestern cities and towns.

Its répertoire will be limited for the present to "Carmen" and "Rigoletto." Some of the important singers mentioned by Miss Glade as members of the new company are Helen Freund, Janet Fairbank, Sidney Raynor and Frederic Jencks.

Pietro Yon, famous Italian organist and composer, will be in the audience in Orchestra hall next Monday night to hear the Cardinal's Cathedral Choristers sing a first Chicago performance of his oratorio, "The Triumph of St. Patrick." Yon is now organist of St. Patrick's cathedral, New York City.

Mignon Spence of Illinois Wins Berlin Opera Ovation

BREMEN, Germany, March 5.—Mignon Spence, young coloratura soprano from New York and a native of Springfield, Ill., received an ovation at her debut in the main rôle of "La Traviata" at the State opera last night. The capacity house, which included many notables, accorded the young artist a twenty-minute ovation at the conclusion of the performance.

GLANDS STARVING FOR IODINE KEEP YOU RUNDOWN SKINNY!
Add 5 Lbs. in 1 Week or No Cost!

Science now knows that nervous exhaustion, rundown conditions, poor blood and skinniness come very frequently from iodine starved glands. When these glands—particularly the important gland which controls weight building—lack natural plant iodine (do not confuse this with ordinary chemical iodine which oftentimes proves toxic), even diets rich in fats and starches fail to add weight and produce strength and energy. That's why skinny, wornout, tired folks often have huge appetites, yet stay skinny.
With the discovery of Kelpamalt a mineral concentrate made from a huge 90-foot sea plant harvested off the Pacific Coast, you can now be sure of your needed ration of plant iodine in concentrated, easy-to-take form. 1300 times richer in iodine than oysters, Kelpamalt helps your food do you good, build rugged strength, increase nerve force, add weight and banish fatigue. Its 12 other minerals stimulate the digestive glands which produce juices that enable you to digest fats and starches, weight-building foods. 3 Kelpamalt Tablets contain more iron and copper than a pound of spinach or 7¼ pounds of fresh tomatoes, more iodine than 1386 pounds of lettuce, more calcium than 6 eggs.
Start Kelpamalt today. Even weak, rundown, naturally skinny folks must gain new strength and energy and add 5 pounds the first week or the trial is free. Costs but a few cents a day to use.

Invalid Child's Character, Too, Convalesces

If Care Has Spoiled Him, He'll Recover Slowly.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

I'm not going to write any more for the present about convalescence—but I feel that I should not finish any series on this subject without mentioning the effect that a long illness sometimes has on the behavior of a child.

After physical convalescence is over, there may have to be a "convalescence of personality," as a trained nurse who specializes in children once described it. This is not necessarily true. Sometimes it is possible to manage a child all through his illness, so that there is little or none of that aftermath that we call "being spoiled" through solicitude, petting, and indulgence.

But also there are times when this "spoiling" cannot be avoided. A great deal depends upon the child's temperament, upon the mother, and upon the kind and length of a child's sickness. So it is not always a matter of poor management if a child's personality needs a period of convalescence, too.

The reasons for this may be physical as well as psychological. For instance, nerves may have been directly affected. Shock may have been a factor. And the result may be a son or daughter who does not at once return to his or her usual behavior.

During this "convalescence of personality" a child may continue to expect extra petting, or being sat with at bedtime, or demand much more of his parents' companionship—or he may be irritable, discontented, given to easy tears, or to explosions of quite violent temper.

The mother's job—her duty, in fact—is to have great patience with her young one, because the fault is either just human nature's, or her's, or that of the disease. She must make allowances and overlook as much as possible. She must give time a chance to do its work. She must try wisely gradually to bring her child back to normal.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The Chicago Blackhawks still are three games ahead of the Boston Bruins in the American section of the National Hocky league and those able doormen, Michael Karakas of the Hawks and Tiny Thompson of the Bruins, still are running a dead heat for the Vezina goalies' trophy.

A gathering of 9,000 customers went to the Chicago Stadium last night, hoping to witness an adjustment of these two facts, but they saw the two teams play 70 minutes of hocky without arriving at any settlement more conclusive than a 2 to 2 tie.

Overtime Is Tame Period.

The collapse of the action occurred in the ten minute overtime, but not through any fault of the Hawks. Boston, apparently, was content with a tie which enabled it to draw even with the New York Rangers in third place of the American section and thus enhance, if only slightly, its playoff chances.

The draw left the Hawks three games ahead of Boston and New York and two back of Detroit. The Chicagoans have only two more home games, one with the Canadiens Sunday and the final with the Maroons Thursday.

Karakas and Thompson, who remained in a tie for defensive honors, each has yielded 75 goals. Karakas was credited with what some of the experts reckoned was a new big league low for stops, a total of ten for the 70 minutes. Eight of these were in the first period and two in the second.

Young Line Comes Through.

The Hawks can thank the work of their diligent young line of Eddie Ouellette, Louie Trudell, and Bill Kendall for the tie. After Red Beattie, the Bruins' English born wing, had scored in the first period on a neat solo, Mush March tied the score in the same session on a pass from big Earl Seibert. Mush's goal was the 100th point the line composed of himself, Paul Thompson, and Doc Romnes has scored this season, and they still lead the league.

Young Bill Cowley put the Bruins ahead in the third period with another solo goal and then Ouellette, Kendall, and Trudell got together and peppered Tiny Thompson until Ouellette scored the tying goal in mid period.

At least three spectators did not see the last two periods and the overtime. They were Karl Kuhlman, Jack Carey, and Paul Herber, all of Broadview academy, La Grange, who were arrested after the first period and taken to the Warren avenue station, accused of throwing electric light bulbs on the ice. Hawks officials intend to prosecute them.

Beattie Goes to Town.

The Bruin attack finally was rewarded in the 15th minute of the first period, when Beattie took the puck along the left boards in the middle of the rink. He cut a diagonal path down the right and fired one which Karakas couldn't hold.

March was penalized for checking Jenkins into the boards, but the Bruins couldn't add to their lead while he was out. Just before Mush was released, O'Neil was sentenced for spilling Gottselig. March then came back and in seconds scored the tying goal with the aid of Seibert. The latter took the puck over the blue line and passed to March, standing only about a yard inside the blue line. Mush rifled the puck home from there in 18:25.

Cub Regulars Win, but Not Till French Quits Pitching

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Avalon, Cal., March 5.—Larry French's mid-season pitching form and Bill Herman's four hit slugging spree today furnished the most pleasing features of a ball game which the Cub Regulars won from the Yannigans, 8 to 7. After French's five inning workout, Bill Lee, leading won and lost pitcher in the National league last year, came in and revealed he isn't ready by allowing the Regulars 11 hits and walking four in four innings.

French permitted two Regulars to reach first base on singles in the first inning and the first batsman in the second inning landed on an error. After that no one got a peep at first during Larry's tenancy. Clay Bryant, who opposed French during the first five innings, was effective except in the third when the Yannigans pounded out four runs before the first batsman had been retired.

Herman, Klein Waste Hits.

The regulars wasted singles by Herman and Klein in the first inning and a double by English in the Yannigan half was equally futile. The second inning also was scoreless on both sides and hitless as well.

In the first of the third French retired Bryant, Galan and Herman in order, but in the Yannigan half the boys cut loose on Bryant with great ferocity. Vitter, English and Stainback singled for one run, and a triple by Lillard sent English and Stainback across with two more runs. Gill singled, scoring Lillard. Then the regulars tightened up and retired Grimm, O'Dea and Sueme.

French finished his stint in the fifth by retiring Cavarretta, Hack and Jurges in one, two, three sequence, just as certainly as he had bowled over Klein, Stephenson and Demaree in the fourth.

First Double Plays.

The first double plays of the year showed up on both teams in the sixth, and the first of the two helped Lee out of a peck of trouble. Galan, the second batsman to face Lee, singled and raced to third on Herman's double. Klein followed with a single, scoring Galan with the first Regular run. The bases were loaded when Stephenson walked, but the threat passed when Demaree hit into a double play, launched by Jurges.

The Regulars got busy against Lee again in the seventh and this time went through with it for six runs on four hits and two walks. Cavarretta made a triple and single during the inning.

The Yannigans tied the score on their half of the seventh before their efforts were ended by a double play. English's third hit and Stainback's second single were factors, along with the wildness of Vines, who walked two and hit one with a pitched ball. Herman's fourth hit, a double, drove in Vines with two out in the eighth to give the Regulars their final 8 to 7 edge.

Before today's contest Manager Grimm announced the batteries for tomorrow's and Saturday's games. For tomorrow: Regulars, Casey and Weafer; Yannigans, Carleton and Flowers. For Saturday: Regulars, Hutchings and Shoun; Yannigans, Warneke and Root.

Capt. Woody English, despite a sore arm which has prevented him from playing shortstop for the Yannigans, went to right field for the Yans today. Policeman Spud Ryan, who sought to play right field yesterday, was benched.

Dean Ready to Battle Davis—and Frisch, Too

Bradenton, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Dizzy Dean, holdout Cardinal pitcher, not only is willing to trade punches with Catcher Virgil Davis, but with Vice President Branch Rickey and Manager Frankie Frisch also—if they want to fight.

Told tonight that Davis, 200 pound catcher to whom Dean had said he wouldn't pitch this season, had threatened to cave in his face the first time the two met in the Cardinal clubhouse, Dean roared with laughter.

Three Room Suite Needed.

"Down where I come from, nose punching is a two-sided proposition," he said. "Bring on Davis. All I'll have to do is slip him my high hard one.

"And that goes for Rickey and Frisch, too. If they want to fight, I'll take 'em on in separate rooms. What I said about Davis still goes. He cost me ball games last year and I'll not pitch to him this season—even if I sign with the Cardinals. How does he like that?"

Some weeks ago when it was announced Bill De Lancey, first string catcher would not be with the Cards this summer, Dean went on record as declaring he wouldn't pitch to Davis and suggested Frisch and Rickey go out and get another catcher.

Mr. Davis Is Nettled.

The pitcher's remarks so irked the usually mild Davis that he is said to have gone to Rickey and Frisch and told them he would punch Dean's nose the minute he entered the clubhouse.

FRANK ORDERS FACULTY, REGENTS TO MEET MONDAY

Madison, Wis., March 9.—(AP)—President Glenn Frank of the University of Wisconsin tonight ordered a meeting of regents and faculty members for Monday to discuss faculty control of athletics.

The meeting of 13 faculty members and eight regents is the outgrowth of action by the Western conference faculty committee which threatened the ejection of Wisconsin unless athletics are placed in control of the faculty. Whatever decision the 21 confreres reach will be submitted to the board of regents at their regular meeting March 10 and 11.

The regents at the same time will receive Dr. Frank's recommendations for the four athletic council vacancies created by resignations following the removal of Football Coach C. W. Spears and Athletic Director Walter E. Meanwell.

Burleigh Grimes Signs as Manager at Louisville

Louisville, Ky., March 5.—(AP)—Burleigh Grimes, former National league pitcher, today signed a contract to manage the Louisville Colonels, who finished last in the American association last year. The signing was a formality, as terms were agreed upon in December.

BONURA TURNS DOWN OFFER OF $8,500 BY SOX

Dykes to Keep Haas at First Base.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., March 5.—Zeke Bonura, the holdout first baseman of the White Sox, evidently is serious about his claim that he is a sure 'nough $15,000 per annum performer. Today he telegraphed a curt "no" from New Orleans to Manager Jim Dykes, who previously had talked to the balky athlete on long distance telephone and promised him a boost in the salary stipulated in Owner J. Louis Comiskey's original offer.

Bonura wasn't able to muster courage to turn down the increased offer when it was made. He said he wanted to think it over for a few hours and then send his reply by telegraph. The negative response came eventually, probably after the big Italian athlete had sought advice from his home town financial adviser who evidently thinks that anybody owning a big league club is a spendthrift.

Contract Offers $8,500.

The offer made over the telephone by Dykes would provide Bonura with a salary of $8,500 which is a pretty fair wage for an athlete who batted only .295 last season and who is not a polished fielder. In addition Bonura would receive a bonus in the event the Sox draw enough customers to make the season financially profitable for Comiskey. Bonura drew an extra $500 under this arrangement last year.

Dykes wouldn't say just what sort of an argument Bonura raised during the telephone conversation, but from another source it was learned the big athlete had claimed he wasn't being treated fairly by the Chicago club. When Dykes heard this he is supposed to have shot back with: "Well, if you feel that way you might find yourself back in the minor leagues."

Who Is Thinking for You, Zeke?

This didn't scare Zeke in the least. His response was that he would rather be playing in a minor circuit for what he knew would be all the salary the owner could pay than receive twice that amount from a big league club. Of course, Zeke realized he wasn't expressing his own thoughts. He was merely repeating what he had been told by his financial adviser.

All that Dykes would say for publication after receiving the one word telegram from Bonura was that the experiment with Mule Haas as first baseman would continue until such time as Bonura decides to go to work. Dykes, who has been too long in the game to worry much about holdouts, knows that Bonura will show up eventually without drawing a salary even close to $15,000. What Zeke really is shooting at is a $10,000 compromise, but he won't even be made that sort of an offer unless he is able to provide expert testimony that he is that sort of a first baseman.

Dykes Gives Up on Problem.

Dykes now declares he is not going to take another hand in Bonura's game. Dykes has turned the matter back to Owner Comiskey. The latter, however, will not be easily budged since he feels he has paid the player more than would have been handed over by most of the other big league clubs. Meanwhile Dykes will concentrate on his other problems, particularly the outfield.

To date Mike Kreevich and George Stumpf, both from the Kansas City club, have made the best impressions. If they turn out to be worth regular jobs, the Sox manager will feel that his luck has been above average. Stumpf will have his first test Sunday when he occupies center field in the opening spring exhibition against the Seattle club at Santa Monica. That is the position of greatest concern. Kreevich will be employed in left that afternoon, but will go to center later on if the other candidates for that place fall down.

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

TONIGHT at 8 o'clock Chicago Stadium's mammoth organ will peal "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," a choral group from the Lawson Y. M. C. A. will sing the "Golden Gloves Salute," and a moment later two young men in fighting trunks will enter the ring to start the final round of the greatest amateur boxing tournament the world ever has known. . . . The 32 survivors from the original field of 17,000 will fight it out for the 1936 championships before an overflow crowd of 22,000. . . . There hasn't been a seat of any kind available for a week. . . . Ringside locations were sold out four weeks ago. . . . No further evidence is needed to establish the popularity of Golden Gloves. . . .

The young men who will entertain you tonight are fighting for fun. . . . To me that is a curiously misleading phrase. . . . It doesn't seem sensible that any one fights for fun. . . . This department can see no pleasure in catching a punch on the nose, incurring a cut lip, or taking a left hook to the stomach. . . . Fun perhaps is the wrong word. . . . Maybe release is a better one. . . . Release from the shackles and humdrum of ordinary life comes to these virile young Americans when they step into the glare of the Stadium light. . . . They hear themselves acclaimed by 22,000 throats. . . . When the battle begins they share the spotlight with another, but when it is over and they have won, they stand alone as the focal point for 22,000 pairs of eyes. . . . Many a man would take a sock on the nose for that. . . . The toughest thing in the world is to be ignored, not to be noticed. . . . Every one likes to be important in his own way. . . . The boys who have reached the finals of the Golden Gloves tournament are important. . . . In fact, they are the whole show. . . . Their stature will be determined by their own strength and their own efforts. . . .

When we say they are boxing for fun we mean that they receive no money for their services. . . . Golden Gloves was conceived as an amateur contest. . . . It has been maintained as such through the years and that policy will be pursued as long as THE TRIBUNE is connected with the promotion. . . . Although some of the greatest professional boxers have come from the ranks of Golden Gloves, we never encourage a boy to become a professional fighter. . . . Invariably we discourage him when our counsel is sought. . . . The percentage of amateur fighters who succeed as professionals is too small to advise otherwise. . . .

So you may be sure that the young men you will see tonight standing toe to toe exchanging punches are real amateurs. . . . They are doing what they do for trophies, for glory, and for the thrill they get out of winning, out of hearing the crowd roar out their names. . . . When the final bell clangs tonight none can dispute the supremacy of the winners. . . . The path to Golden Gloves was barred to none. . . . Every boy who wanted to fight had his chance, provided he was physically fit and at least 16 years old. . . . The territory over which the champions will reign stretches from the edge of the Alleghenies almost to the Rockies and from the Canadian line to the Gulf of Mexico. . . . From tonight's bouts will come the Chicago squad which fights New York's champions in Madison Square Garden March 23. . . . Winners also will qualify automatically for the Olympic trials, which will be held at Chicago Stadium in May. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—Charley Hoff of Norway broke his own world pole vault record when he cleared the bar at 13 feet 6¾ inches in the National A. A. U. indoor meet at the Chicago Riding club. . . . The Jack Dempsey-Harry Wills title fight was slated for Chicago contingent upon Illinois legalizing boxing. . . . The Cubs scored seven runs in the ninth inning to nose out Los Angeles, 15 to 14, in an exhibition game. . . . Virginia Van Wie defeated Glenna Collett on the 19th hole to win the Florida golf title.

Swedish Star Beaten in U. S. Tennis Meet

New York, March 5.—(AP)—The smooth sailing of the favored players in the United States indoor tennis tournament was halted today by the defeat of Karle Schroeder, champion of Sweden, and Gilbert Hall, second seeded American, in quarter-final matches.

Frank Bowden of New York beat Schroeder, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, and Leonard Hartman, former Columbia university basketball captain, eliminated Hall, 6-4, 8-6, 8-6.

Champion Gregory Mangin and Wilmer Hines of Columbia, S. C., had comparatively rocky passages in their advance to the semi-finals. Mangin dropped a set before vanquishing Henry Culley of Santa Barbara, Cal., 7-9, 8-6, 6-2, 6-4. Hines outlasted Dr. Lawrence Kurzrok of Brooklyn, 9-7, 14-12, 7-5.

In the women's division, Florence Le Boutillier of New York, third in the list of American favorites, was eliminated by Millicent Hirsch, 6-4, 6-2, and Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France was extended while beating Mrs. Henry Brunie, seeded fourth, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4.

TRIBUNE'S NINTH ANNUAL SHOW TO JAM STADIUM

11 Chicago Boys in Field of 32.

Tourney Facts

Event—The Tribune's ninth annual Golden Gloves finals.

Place—Chicago Stadium.

Number of bouts—Twenty-four.

Time—Semi-final bouts start at 8 p. m.; championship bouts begin at 10.

Attendance—Twenty-two thousand; 3,000 general admission tickets on sale at 8 p. m.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The ninth annual Golden Gloves Tournament of Champions presented by THE TRIBUNE and for which every one of the 22,000 seats in the Chicago Stadium has been sold for more than a week, reaches its grand climax tonight.

It starts at 8 o'clock. Soon after 11 o'clock the names of eight boys will be famous, for they will have won a championship and a diamond studded Golden Glove where 16,992 others have failed.

Thirty-two brave and rugged boys this morning are waiting and ready to jump into this final mêlée. Two hours of fighting in the semi-final round will further reduce these swiftly dwindling ranks to sixteen.

Those sixteen boys will come back into the ring at 10 o'clock and will start fighting again, this time with the eight championships at stake.

Qualify for Olympic Trials.

The intensity of the whole situation is raised still another notch, for, in addition to winning places on the Chicago team which will meet New York's best in Madison Square Garden on March 23, the eight champions also will become eligible to the American Olympic trials. In that particular competition they will hold a very strong chance of winning a place on Uncle Sam's team of 16 which fights the world's finest in Germany next August.

To the Tournament of Champions this year came teams representing newspapers in 42 cities which covered the vast territory of 16 states in the central, western, southwestern, and south sections of the nation. They mustered their finest amateur boxers, held their own sectional championship tournaments and sent their eight champions to Chicago Stadium last week.

That marked the 1936 opening of the world's largest boxing tournament. Three nights of spectacular fighting in three rings reduced the field to the 32 boys who are to go back into the thick of the fighting tonight.

Eleven Are Chicago Boys.

Eleven of these boys are Chicago's own and a worthy lot of standard bearers they are. Three others represent the Omaha World Herald and a like number will carry the banner of the South Bend News-Times, Detroit Free Press and Cleveland Plain Dealer into the ring. The Michigan City Dispatch will have two representatives in these final skirmishes. The newspapers having one representative left in the thrilling battle of the champions are the Peoria Journal-Transcript, Evansville Courier and Journal, Danville Commercial News, Oklahoma City Daily Oklahoman, St. Louis Globe-Democrat, Dayton News, and the Milwaukee bureau of THE TRIBUNE.

Here's List of Contestants.

Following are the 32 contestants:

Flyweight—Joe Chizar, South Bend, Ind.; Jesse Robinson, Northwest gymnasium, Chicago; Jackie Wilson, Cleveland, and Sam Zaczek, C. Y. O., Chicago.

Bantamweight—Johnny Brown, C. Y. O., Chicago; Bruce Ferro, Milwaukee, Wis.; Frank Kainrath, C. Y. O.,

8 O'CLOCK TONIGHT

CHICAGO TO SEE OLYMPIC DISTRICT BASKET FINALS

Transfer Next Week's Play from Indianapolis.

The site of the final round of the Fifth district intercollegiate Olympic basketball tournament was moved from Indianapolis, Ind., to Chicago yesterday afternoon. The first round of games will be held at Butler university gymnasium, Indianapolis, tomorrow night, but the finals will be played at the International amphitheater, 42d and Halsted streets, next Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.

W. F. Fox, chairman of the Fifth district, suggested the change following the withdrawal of Indiana university, Western conference leader. The eight quintets which will compete in the first round include Butler, Wayne of Detroit, Indiana State Teachers, Ball State Teachers, Cincinnati, Miami university of Oxford, O., Augustana of Rock Island, Ill., and Central Normal of Indiana.

Ohio State Withdraws.

The withdrawal of Ohio State also was announced by A. A. Schabinger, national director of the district tournaments. Only one Big Ten team, Northwestern, remains in the battle for the Olympic championship. Northwestern will be joined by De Paul university, one of the leading teams in the United States, in the finals of the district competition.

Mid-term examinations were given as the reason for the withdrawal of Ohio State, Schabinger said. Illinois and Notre Dame also were invited to participate in the tournament, but they decided to withdraw.

No Major Hoosier Teams.

"When Indiana decided not to compete in the tournament," Schabinger said, "it left the meet without a major Indiana team. Mr. Fox suggested we move the finals to Chicago."

Two other teams may be invited to take the places of Illinois and Ohio State, according to Schabinger. If officials are successful in bringing two quintets into the tournament they will compete in the finals at the International amphitheater.

The Chicago tournament will be in charge of Coaches James Kelly of De Paul university and Arthur Lonborg of Northwestern.

ARMOUR BEATS SOUTH SIDE IN TRACK, 55 TO 49

Armour Tech's track team defeated South Side Junior college, 55 to 49, at the University of Chicago field house last night for the second time this season. With South Side leading by one point, Don Neal led Armour to victory by taking first in the broad jump and anchoring the sprint medley team. Neal was high point man with a total of 16.25 points.

MAYOR KELLY TO AWARD FOOTBALL TROPHIES TODAY

Mayor Edward J. Kelly will present trophies and watch charms to members and coaches of the Lindblom and Leo high school football teams, which participated in the City of Chicago annual charity game last November, this afternoon in the city council chambers.

Coach E. L. Moore of Lindblom will be on hand to accept the City of Chicago trophy, emblematic of the championship, and A. L. Cronin will represent Leo in accepting the Catholic league cup.

HOLD HOMECOMING.

The Arcadia girls' basketball team will celebrate its ninth annual homecoming Sunday afternoon in Greenbriar park fieldhouse, Peterson and Talman avenues, playing the St. Peters church girls of Glenview.

32 WILL RENEW GOLDEN GLOVES BATTLE TONIGHT

Lightweight—Andy Scrivani, C. Y. O., Chicago; James Martin, C. Y. O., Chicago; Pete Lello, Michigan City, Ind., and Dave Egan, Detroit.

Heavyweight—Paul Hartnek, Omaha, Neb.; John Washington, Trafton's gymnasium, Chicago; Arthur Oliver, Savoy Athletic club, Chicago, and Tyrus Smith, Oklahoma City.

In the great crowd which will jam Chicago Stadium tonight will not be just the general run of fight fans. Neither will it be a strictly partisan Chicago gathering.

Come From All Sections.

This crowd will represent nearly every part of the United States and there will be a small delegation from Canada here too, to cheer for a Windsor, Ont., boy who is a member of the Detroit Free Press team. There will be Indians from Oklahoma in the gathering who will give a few war whoops when their brother American, Tyrus Smith from Chilicco, climbs into the ring to seek the heavyweight championship.

From back o' the yards will come the kids to cheer for their neighborhood champion, and from the Gold Coast Chicago's social leaders will come to get their big boxing thrill of the year. And from every city represented in these final matches delegations are coming to see their representatives in action.

These folks bought their tickets early. More than 25,000 others who waited too long would have been there had Chicago Stadium been large enough to hold them. Requests for that number of tickets had to be turned back.

As for the fights no one can say which will be the best. Some of the greatest thrillers may come in the semi-final round because the pairings for these matches are made by lot. More likely, however, the championship battles will have the most to offer. Still if tonight's scraps run true to Golden Gloves tradition there will not be a dull moment during those more than three hours of fighting.

Two Team Trophies.

Two team trophies are to be awarded. One goes to the Chicago organization which scores the most points, the other to the out of town team which tops the list. A championship gives a team five points, a second place three points, and each of the boys in each division who fail to reach the championship round scores one point for his team.

The out of town boxers were quartered in Chicago last night. They had fire in their eyes.

Tuley's junior basketball team and New Phillips' senior quintet advanced to the semi-final round of play for the Chicago Public High School league championships yesterday. Tuley defeated Amundsen, 48 to 37, at Wright gymnasium, while New Phillips triumphed over Bowen, 27 to 17, at the University of Chicago fieldhouse.

The combination of Anderson and Crozier led New Phillips to victory over Bowen. Each scored five field goals and one free throw for 22 of the team's 27 points. New Phillips led at the quarter, 8 to 1, 13 to 6 at the half, and 24 to 9 at the end of the third quarter.

Schurz entered the quarter-finals in the senior division by winning second place in the north section. Schurz defeated Lake View, 31 to 18, in a playoff game. The score was tied, 12 to 12, at the half, but Schurz pulled away to a 22 to 14 lead in the third period.

PATTY BERG AND MAUREEN CREWS CONTINUE TO WIN

St. Augustine, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., threatened for a while today to crowd Patty Berg out of the second round of the Florida east coast women's golf tournament, then faltered and fell victim to the Patty's methodical play, 5 and 3.

Patty's victory sent her into the semi-finals with three of the nation's ranking golfers—Maureen Orcutt Crews of Miami, winner here last year; Mrs. Opal S. Hill of Kansas City, former western champion, and Marion Miley, Lexington, Ky., trans-Mississippi titleholder.

Winner, 1 up, in a duel with Kathryn Hemphill of Columbia, S. C., Mrs. Hill tomorrow will seek to put an end to Miss Berg's victorious Florida season.

Mrs. Crews played the best golf of the day to overwhelm Sylvia Annenberg of Flushing, N. Y., 4 and 3.

Decide Finalists in 3 Divisions of C. Y. O. Meet

The finalists for the 1936 C. Y. O. basketball titles were decided last night at Queen of Angels and St. Bernard's gymnasium.

In the heavyweight division St. Anthony's [Cicero] defeated St. Mary's [Evanston], 43 to 25, and St. Columbanus downed St. Elizabeth, 30 to 27.

In the lightweight division St. Michael and St. Pius qualified for the finals Sunday. St. Michael defeated Queen of Heaven, 40 to 32, and St. Pius eliminated St. Laurence, 40 to 28.

The girls' final game will bring together St. Ignatius, defending champion, and St. Rita's, runnersup in 1934. St. Ignatius' girls eliminated St. Gregory's, 14 to 11, while St. Rita's won from Resurrection, 10 to 8.

Knox Signs to Box Burman in Stadium Ring

Buddy Knox, young Dayton, O., heavyweight, has accepted terms for an eight round bout with Clarence [Red] Burman, Baltimore, Md., at Chicago Stadium one week from tonight.

Agreement is expected today from Burman, member of Jack Dempsey's stable. The 21 year old redhead will be making his fourth Chicago appearance, while Knox will be in quest of his seventh triumph in seven starts here. Burman has whipped Steve Roberts, Hank Bath, and Billy Treest in previous efforts.

Jim McMillen, veteran heavyweight wrestler, will meet Steve Nagy in the windup bout of the first of a new series of mat shows tonight at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Promoter Emil van der Leenden is receiving coöperation for the first time from Ed White, recognized as head of Chicago's wrestling activities. The tieup has created greater interest in tonight's show. Supporting bouts:

Tony Musto, Blue Island heavyweight, is matched to meet Jesse Radford of the Savoy Athletic club in a five round amateur contest tonight at Madison Athletic club, 4711 West Madison street. Elzie Green is paired with Phil Rosenberg at 147 pounds, and Vincent Pellegrini will oppose Homer Williams at 130 in two of six supplementary matches. . . . Billy Treest, on a honeymoon at Hot Springs, Ark., will not resume training until May 1. Treest, who married Leone Dittman of Aurora following his defeat at the hands of Red Burman, Feb. 24, is after a return meeting with Burman. . . . Leo Rodak, south side 133 pound boxer, is conditioning himself at Madison Square loop gymnasium pending his departure for Hollywood, Cal.,

Barney Ross, welterweight titleholder, left last night for Vancouver, B. C., to battle Gordon Wallace there in a ten round overweight match next Wednesday. Accompanied by his representatives, Sam Pian and Art Winch, the champion, down to 141 pounds, appeared to be in fine fettle. Barney scaled 142 in his latest bout on Jan. 27, when he stopped Lou Halper in eight rounds. . . . Tait Littman, middleweight from Cudahy, Wis., is set to clash with Bud Creed, Detroit colored boxer, at Milwaukee March 16.

second period which just skinned the left post, and Beattie replied to this with a solo sally. From that point on the game was one drive on a net succeeding an attack on the other. The Bruins thought they had a goal in the 12th minute of the play when Wieland batted the puck past Karakas, but it was no go. Mike didn't bother to even make an effort, the play obviously having been offside.

McFadyen fielded Clapper's stick with his face at the opening of the third period, but after Donnie had taken a few seconds' rest it was ruled an accident. The checking of both teams reached the vicious stage and finally Brydson was sent off for jostling Wieland. Glenn presently was joined by Shore.

Brydson was on the ice and Shore still was in the dungeon when Boston scored its second goal. Cowley took the puck in his own territory, skated around Burke and Seibert and fired the puck past Karakas. The time was 5:35.

The Hawks then went to work and hammered the Bruin defense until they tied the score on as hard an earned goal as they have scored this year. The Kendall-Ouellette-Trudell line gained control of the puck. Trudell and Kendall hugged the right side of the ice, baffling the Boston defense until they managed to pass to Ouellette.

Thompson, who had made at least four grand saves in this mêlée, came out to halt the shot, but it went through him and Ouellette fell across the goalie just in time to see the red light blink. The time was 9:10, with Trudell and Kendall drawing well deserved assists.

LUCANIAS WIN MAJOR DIVISION BASKET BATTLE

The Lucania Undertakers basketball team defeated the Ald. Keenan-Loyolas, 21 to 18, to advance to the semi-final round in the men's major division of the Chicago district basketball tournament at De La Salle gymnasium last night. Other results:

Pulaski Cavaliers, 20; Century club, 16 [boys under 15].

New York, March 5.—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings defeated the New York Americans, 4 to 1, in a speedy but colorless game before 8,000 tonight. The defeat jolted the Americans' hopes of getting into the playoffs although they retained third place in the International division.

The Red Wings scored midway in the first period when Herbie Lewis made good on a pass-out from Larry Aurie and Marty Barry. They weakened long enough to let the Americans tie the score less than two minutes later on Art Chapman's goal, but thereafter they played an airtight game.

Aurie was credited with a Detroit goal in the second period when the puck, fired by Lewis, hit his skate and glanced into the American cage. The Wings scored twice in the final period. Aurie and Barry shot the goals. Lineups:

Colorado Sends First Quintet to Loyola Tourney

Colorado will have its first representation in the national Catholic interscholastic basketball tournament when the thirteenth annual meet opens March 18 at Loyola university, it was announced yesterday by the Rev. Bernard A. Reddy, director of the meet. St. Mary's High school of Walsenburg, Colo., has accepted a bid to the tournament.

Two other quintets also have been added to the list of competitors. They are Catholic High of Baton Rouge, La., one of the standout quintets of last year's tournament, and De Padua of Ashland, Wis. The Louisiana entry is coached by Brother Peter, whose St. Stanislaus teams from Bay St. Louis added color to earlier Loyola tournaments, and in whose lineups Marchy Schwartz and Zeke Bonura appeared.

With entries pouring in daily, it is expected that the bracket of 32 teams will be closed early next week. From all indications from 15 to 20 states will be represented in the tournament which started in 1924.

HAVANA DEFEATS CARDINALS, 13-8; 14,000 SEE GAME

Cubans Pound 3 Pitchers for 16 Hits.

HAVANA, March 5.—(AP)—Before a crowd of 14,000, including President Jose Barnet, Havana defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 13 to 8, in the opening game of the major league club's four game exhibition series at Tropical stadium today. The Cubans hammered three St. Louis pitchers, Bill Walker, Mike Ryba, and Bill McGee for a total of sixteen hits.

The Cardinals got twelve hits. Trailing, 6 to 1, entering the eighth inning, the Cards rallied to score seven runs, but the Cubans got all seven back in the same inning. S. Hernandez led the Cuban hitting with a home run and two singles. Score:

St. Louis [N.]	000	100	070—	8	12	2
Havana	120	030	07*—	13	16	2

A'S SIGN WARSTLER.

Fort Myers, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Harold [Rabbit] Warstler, who played second base for the Philadelphia Athletics last year, quit the holdout ranks today.

Warstler signed a contract after he failed to get another club to purchase his release from Connie Mack. After signing he went through his first workout. The contract is believed to call for the same salary Warstler received last year.

RED ROOKIES LOSE.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 5.—(AP)—Held in check by F. Fernandez, the Cincinnati Reds, composed largely of second string and rookie players, dropped a 2 to 1 decision to the Almendares club of Cuba today. Fernandez went the route for the Cubans while Stine and Nelson divided the Reds' mound assignment with Peacock behind the bat.

HARLAND CLIFT SIGNS.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Harland Clift, third baseman, signed his contract and was in uniform today as the St. Louis Browns went through a brisk three hour workout. The pitchers began to throw curves for the first time, with little appreciable effect on the batters. Manager Rogers Hornsby especially was hitting them far and hard.

BUCHER GIVES IN.

Clearwater, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers' holdouts were reduced to three today when Jimmy Bucher came to terms with Manager Casey Stengel. His signing left Van Mungo, Joe Stripp and Johnny Cooney as the only holdouts.

Bucher is listed as an outfielder, but spent most of last season playing second or third base.

MOORE GETS RELIEF JOB.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Jimmy Wilson, manager of the Philadelphia National league baseball club, has started grooming Euel Moore, a righthand Indian pitcher, to handle relief rôles.

Wilson is not worried about the pitching prospects. In addition to Moore he has Curt Davis, Bucky Walters, Syl Johnson, Orville Jorgens, Joe Bowman and Harold Kelleher. Wilson thinks well of Kelleher, who last year pitched for Hazleton in the New York-Pennsylvania league.

INDIANS PICK ORDER.

New Orleans, La., March 5.—(AP)—Manager Steve O'Neill had the Cleveland Indians try a batting order today, composed of Milt Galatzer, Roy Hughes, Earl Averill, Joe Vosmik, Hal Trosky, Odell Hale and Bill Knickerbocker. At the end were the catchers, Frank Pytlak and Billy Sullivan.

Asked where Bruce Campbell, last year's right fielder, would fit in, O'Neill said: "I guess he'll have to hit in seventh place."

SUN HELPS PIRATES.

San Antonio, Tex., March 5.—(AP)—A bright sun dried out the field today and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a chance for a three hour practice session.

The Pirates have held outdoor work to a minimum because of rain since the training camp opened Sunday.

Only one regular hurler, Guy Bush, went on the mound. The rest of the pitching was by rookies who worked under orders not to cut loose too much.

Bill Swift, taking his turn at the bat, caught one of Johnny Wasco's offerings and smacked the ball out of the lot.

ROWE JOINS TIGERS.

Lakeland, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Tigers had 16 pitchers in training today, with the arrival of Lynwood Rowe.

Rowe took the mound in practice and bore down with a fast ball which surprised his teammates.

The Babe Can't Take It; Flees Camp Noises

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Baseball's forgotten man—the once mighty George Herman Ruth—could stand it no longer.

With two clubs of former teammates training within a mashie shot of his bungalow here, the Babe hurriedly packed his golf clubs today and left for Miami where, he hopes, the memories will not be quite so keen.

Just a year ago, the old home run king was making his last baseball stand with the Boston Nationals at Waterfront park. Prior to that, for many distinguished seasons, he was the No. 1 drawing card of the Yankees at Miller Huggins field.

He Lives in Dreams.

Since quitting the Braves early last season, Ruth has become a somewhat portly, puzzled, and disappointed citizen, who leads the quiet life and dreams about his glamorous baseball days.

"It's not so bad until the teams begin coming south," he told a friend the other day. "I go to the golf links every morning. Sometimes I go driving in the afternoon. Then I come home, have my dinner, take a couple of shorts and go to bed. When I crave excitement, I go out and take a flyer or two on the greyhounds. But it's pretty tough when you can sit on your front porch and hear bats cracking all around you."

Yankee Pals Miss Babe.

The Babe hasn't visited either ball park since the Bees and Yankees came to town. Nor has he called on the clubs at their hotels. Some of his old buddies on the Yanks have been hoping he would drop around.

He'll play in tournaments at Miami and West Palm Beach, then come back home to get ready for his trip to the Olympics this summer. After that his plans are uncertain.

Mrs. Ruth says he has declined a number of attractive business offers since coming here this winter.

"Let him take it easy," she said. "He doesn't have to work and there's no point in him hurrying into anything.

"When he plays thirty-six holes of golf he is so completely worn out when he comes home he gets into his pajamas and lounges around until bedtime. He reads every line of the baseball news and one of these days I hope he can get back into the game in some capacity. That's what he wants to do."

LOUIS' TRAINER ACCUSES STATE WITNESS IN TRIAL

Jack Blackburn, 52 years old, trainer for Joe Louis, and Willie Parnell, 50 years old, testified in Judge Robert C. O'Connell's Criminal courtroom yesterday that the only shooting in the fatal quarrel between them and John Bowman, 35 years old, last Oct. 20, was done by Bowman. All three figures in the case are colored.

Bowman, Blackburn, and Parnell were indicted for assault to kill after the fight, in which a young girl was wounded and a bystander killed. Bowman turned state's witness and was granted a separate trial.

All evidence was completed yesterday. It was expected the case would go to the jury today.

RIEGEL ELECTED CAPTAIN OF 1937 ILLINOIS QUINTET

Champaign, Ill., March 5.—[Special.]—Robert Riegel, junior center on the University of Illinois basketball team, was elected 1937 captain tonight at the annual dinner tendered by the Champaign Kiwanis club. Riegel, a student in the college of commerce, is a resident of Tolono, Ill. He ranked sixth in conference scoring his sophomore year.

Howard Braun, Belleville, Ill., senior guard, was elected honorary captain for the season of 1935-'36. Election of a leader had been deferred at the request of the squad.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

POTPOURRI.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., March 5.—What surprises northern turf followers here is the amount of newspaper space given dog racing. With three tracks in operation and publications of tips and advance information, the lineage practically equals that of Hialeah.

In Florida pari-mutuel betting on the dogs is legal. In fact, the "take" is 15 per cent and breaks, of which 3 per cent goes to the state, compared to 10 per cent and breaks at the hoss tracks, of which 3 per cent also goes to the state.

These dog track operators will give you any argument you want as to the legitimacy of their sport and claim a greater percentage of winning favorites than at the Widener track. We never have checked their claims. Form charts and tipster sheets are offered for sale just as for the horses.

Dog tracks are said to be making money, although patronage is divided three ways.

Increased interest in winter horse racing is shown in the Hialeah press box. Since we were here two years ago eight more newspapers have added regular staf correspondents to send north the tidings. These are from New York, Baltimore, and Boston. Boston's appetite, no doubt, was whetted by opening of the New England tracks.

With no wish to offend sensibilities of those invited to spend a few days or a few weeks with friends having winter homes in Florida, we may remark that the influx of northern visitors who had trouble securing accommodations and camped with friends until placed, has caused what formerly were known as guest houses to be termed [on the quiet] "Pest Houses."

A winter visitor here came in from a round on the municipal course. He is a buyer of coal, feeds, and building supplies for his numerous yards. His opponent was a member of the firm selling him large quantities of materials. "How did you shoot?" we asked. "Oh, my usual 104," he answered. "And Mr. Blank?" "About the same."

"But I thought he played in the low 90's," we commented.

"Oh, he was just shooting a little 'customer golf,'" was the explanation.

Origin of Cafeterias.

Harve: Some years ago there was bitter litigation in this country over cafeteria patent rights. As a matter of fact, the first cafeteria in existence was in vogue at Donnybrook fair. I repeat the story as told me by my parents when I was a child.

About the middle of the 18th century a woman whose first name was Molly conducted a cafeteria at Donnybrook fair. She kept a huge iron pot full of delicious corned beef and cabbage boiling over a fire kindled in a hole in the ground. Plates and cutlery were stacked on a table nearby. Those wishing to dine filed past the pot and helped themselves. All the corned beef and cabbage one could take up with a fork in three attempts was theirs for a penny [two cents in our money].

Golden Gloves.

I pray to win those Golden Gloves
[My bout comes off tonight],
A life's ambition and a crown
Are centered in that fight.
If I should win, and maybe fame
Should charm my ring career,
I still will be my simple self,
Of that I have no fear.

If I should lose, I'll grateful be
For having had my day
To fight a man both clean and hard
In ringside's fistic way.
So here's a toast to Golden Gloves!
A toast to boys who fight!
I'll ne'er forget the chance I had—
My bout comes off tonight.

In the morning race for class E skeeter boats, Charles covered the six mile course in 10 minutes 15 seconds. Second place went to Don Waterbury, Chicago bank officer and vice commodore of the Beau Skeeter Ice Yacht club.

Chester Granath, also of Chicago, won the second race for skeeter class catboats. His time for a nine mile course was 15 minutes and 13 seconds in a 20 mile per hour wind. Charles, in his Hi Voltage II., was second.

Fritz, world champion ice boat, sailed by Commodore Frederick Jungbluth, owner, and Carl Bernard, won both events for class A boats. Over a 12 mile windward and leeward course, Fritz sailed for 27 minutes and 12 seconds. Miss Geneva, sailed by August Sievers was second.

300 ATTEND 1ST ANNUAL DE PAUL D CLUB BANQUET

The first annual banquet of the De Paul university D club, composed of letter winners, was held last night in the Mirror room of the Morrison hotel. More than 300 attended. Patrick T. Driscoll, president of the D club; the Rev. M. J. O'Connell, president of the university; Jim Kelly, athletic director; Dutch Lonborg, Northwestern basketball coach, and Dick Hanley, former Northwestern football coach, were among the speakers.

Jane Douglas Wins; Enters Bermuda Golf Semi-Finals

HAMILTON, Bermuda, March 5.—(AP)—Jane Douglas of New York moved into the semi-final round of the Belmont Manor women's golf tourney today, defeating Mrs. C. King of Cincinnati, 8 and 6. Miss Douglas' opponent in the semi-finals will be Mrs. Eldon Trimingham of Bermuda.

Ghezzi's 276 Wins $2,500 Golf Tourney

Hollywood, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Young Vic Ghezzi, Deal, N. J., won the $500 first prize in the $2,500 Hollywood open golf tournament this afternoon with 276 strokes for the 72 holes.

The leader at the 54 hole mark with 204, six strokes under par, Ghezzi faded under the pressure and just lasted to beat Tony Penna, Pensacola, Fla., and Torchy Toda of Kobe, the Japanese open champion, each of whom finished with 277.

Ghezzi, who put together three straight 68s for his 54 hole total, played the out nine of the final round in 35, one under par, but needed 37, three over, coming home for 72.

In the rough off the tee at the final hole, Ghezzi recovered to within 12 feet of the cup and was down in two putts for the par four he needed to win the tournament.

One stroke behind at 278 came Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va., Willie MacFarlane of New York, and Harry Cooper of Chicago. They divided fourth, fifth, and sixth prizes, totaling $625. Bracketed at 279, and dividing $275, were Johnny Revolta of Milwaukee and Denny Shute of Boston, who had identical scores, 67—69—71—72, for the four rounds.

Two strokes farther back, at 281, were youthful Clarence Doser of Rochester, N. Y., who needed two 73s today after leading at 135 for thirty-six holes; Johnny Farrell, playing over his home course, and Frank Walsh of Chicago. They split up $255.

Wildcat Swim Team to Meet Gophers Tonight

Northwestern university's swimming team, victorious over Chicago and Illinois while losing a return meet to the Maroons, will clash with the undefeated Minnesota squad tonight at Patten gymnasium pool. The Gophers, who number among their victims Nebraska, Wisconsin, and Carleton, will invade Evanston with the strongest team to represent Minnesota in the last eight years.

This evening's encounter will be the first of a two meet week-end road trip for the Gophers. Tomorrow they face Illinois at Champaign.

Despite the Minnesota squad's impressive record, the Purple is conceded an excellent chance to hand the Gophers their first setback. Previous performances indicate the Wildcats will present a scoring front, which is likely to pick up points in each of the nine events.

Most of Minnesota's strength is centered in the free style events, where Andy Ackerman, sophomore sensation from Detroit, Mich., heads a group of speedsters. Ackerman, off his recent record, shapes up as one of the finest sprint prospects to come into the Big Ten in some time. He specializes in the 50 and 100 yard dashes.

Assisting him as the Gophers attempt to keep their record clear will be Rex Hudson, also a free styler, and Jim Comstock, backstroker.

The Wildcats will rely upon Danny Zehr, former Olympic star, who is the squad's leading point winner; Gus Horschke, breast stroker; Benny Jewell, back stroker; Capt. Bill Rollinger, Johnny Grandland, and Joe Faner, free style sprinters, and Don Hervig, veteran diver.

Ellinwood and Heg Rivals in Race Tonight

A preview of what may be the feature race of next week's Big Ten meet will take place tonight at the University of Chicago fieldhouse where Ray Ellinwood, Maroon sophomore, and Sunny Heg of Northwestern, two of the best quarter-milers in the conference, will match strides in a dual meet.

Ellinwood has been timed at :49 and at :50.4 in his two competitive appearances in the 440 so far. Heg is capable of doing :50. The two will battle it out not only in the individual event but as anchor men on the fast mile relay teams of each school. In the latter race Northwestern will pit its foursome of Ensley, Kaumanns, Fleming, and Heg against Chicago's Webster, Johnstone, Halcrow, and Ellinwood.

These events may decide the meet, for the Purple and Maroon teams seem evenly matched. Northwestern is expected to have the edge in the dash and the longer runs, Chicago in the hurdles and field events. Rivalry for points in several events will be keen between Co-Capt. Jay Berwanger of Chicago and Bob Carter of Northwestern, both football half backs.

Ladies of Isabella Hold Bowling Tourney Today

The Happy Medium

In the violent swings of public preference since December 5, 1933, from beer to hard liquor and from hard liquor to beer, we can note by our own experience that there is a growing favor for a happy medium.

The English and the Canadians have known this for centuries. Now America seems to be learning it. And in America the happy medium is . . .

SONGMAKER AND PLAY CHANCE WIN HIALEAH STAKE

Outsiders Capture Both Sections of Race.

Miami, Fla., March 5.—(AP)—Two horses, neither of which was highly regarded, came through in the feature races at Hialeah Park today with the Tranquility farm's Songmaker taking the first division and G. W. Widener's Play Chance the second section of the St. John's purse.

Songmaker, a gray gelding which has changed hands twice at the meeting, was the real outsider of the pair. He paid $27.20, while Play Chance, winner of one of his four previous starts in Florida, was held at 4 to 1.

Joe Renick brought Songmaker from off the pace to beat Lancewood, odds-on-favorite, by two lengths. Fred J. Ryan's Sachem was third, a length farther back.

Of the two winners, Songmaker turned in the fastest time. He was clocked in 1:37 2-5 and Play Chance in 1:38 4-5. Both carried 107 pounds.

Spartas and Hansas Meet in Interleague Match

The Sparta Garden City, the last local club to reach the National Western soccer cup semi-finals, will meet the Hansa of the International league in an interleague match next Sunday. The Lawndale Rangers will play a curtain raiser against the Hansa Seconds.

Time, :35. Two dollar mutuels paid: Making Time 7.40 straight, $3.10 place, $3.00 show; Jackie D. $2.50 place, $2.30 show; Bohannon $10.40 show. Winner, ch. g., 2, by Time Maker-Red Hat. Owner, E. F. Seagram. Trainer, F. Gilpin. Start good, won driving.

There was a lot of rough riding in this race in which several of the contenders were sharply interfered with. MAKING TIME broke from the inside but swerved out to the middle of the track then ran straight, finished fast. JACKIE D. was allowed to swerve all over the track, finally finished on inside. BOHANNON appeared to be in close quarters right at finish.

THIRD RACE—Six furlongs, 3 year olds and up. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, 1:18 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Miss Otis, $52.10 straight, $21.40 place, $9.20 show; Airforce, $7.00 place, $4.10 show; Herondas, $4.40 show. Winner, br. f., 3, by Sickle-Coquetry. Owner, C. V. Whitney. Trainer, L. A. Healy. Start good. Won driving; place same.

MISS OTIS, showing marked improvement, was sent to the front, displayed good speed and held on gamely. COMBAHEE finished with a rush, but interfered with AIRFORCE right at the finish, for which he was disqualified for foul. AIRFORCE was outrun to the stretch, where he closed with a rush and would have won but for interference. HERONDAS ran good race. BUBBLETTE ran a very bad race.

FIFTH RACE—One mile, 3 year old. Purse $1,100. Net value to winner, $775; second, $175; third, $100; fourth, $50.

CROWNED HEAD, very mean at the gate, was finally placed on outside, got away well in motion, was rated along back of the early pace, moved into lead at far turn, opened up a wide gap tired, but gamely held on to win. SEAWICK, showing smart improvement, closed with a rush, but failed to get up. HADTOBE finished very fast. KINDRED SPIRIT displayed keen speed for seven furlongs, then tired.

EIGHTH RACE—One mile and a sixteenth. Four year olds and up. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner: $700, second $150, third $10, fourth $50.

"You don't have to be rich to enjoy rich whiskey!"

You'll get along well with Old Quaker. It has made more real friends than has any other straight whiskey in the country. Sales records prove that conclusively. Old Quaker is the sensible whiskey—sensible in taste (Man, it's smooth!)—sensible in price (and, Man, it's easy on the purse!). Old Quaker is a square deal all around, no matter which way you take it.

JURORS ACQUIT TWO ON TRIAL AS HIRED ARSONISTS

Mother of 3 Held for Quiz on Series of 8 Fires.

Two men indicted for arson were acquitted last night in the Criminal court of Judge Joseph Burke after a trial during which an attempt to influence a juror was detected. Three persons alleged to have been in the conspiracy to gain the sympathy of the juror are under arrest.

The defendants freed by the jury's action are Manny Schreiberg, 42 years old, 3057 North Sawyer avenue, and Gus Stoyas, 47 years old, 3800 West North avenue.

The pair were charged with setting fire to a bottling plant at 96th street and Exchange avenue, which burned in 1931, with a total loss of $95,000.

Two Others Face Trial.

In the trial Thomas Chelemangos, owner of the company, and Valentine Notari, who admitted that they had conspired with Schreiberg and Stoyas to have the fire set, named Schreiberg as the "torch." They are to be tried later.

Testifying in his own behalf Schreiberg declared that he never saw either Chelemangos or Notari before he was arrested. Stoyas also took the stand. He said that he had been acquainted with the bottler and with Notari for some time, but insisted he had never had any conversation with them about setting fire to any building.

After closing arguments the jury retired at 6:35 p. m. The verdict was returned at 10 p. m. None of the jurors would discuss how the decision had been reached.

Jury Fixing Inquiry Today.

Judge Burke announced, however, that he would confer with investigators today about the jury fixing attempt. He already had stated his belief that the attempt was a failure.

It was the judge who called attention to one of the fixers, Peter F. Londergan, 48 years old, 4431 South Wells street. Londergan on Tuesday went into the courtroom and put his arm around the shoulders of Schreiberg. This was done, he admitted after his arrest, in the hope of giving William Rooney, a juror, a favorable impression of Schreiberg.

Later, on information furnished by Londergan, the police arrested Daniel Rafferty, 4501 Emerald avenue, and Benjamin Jacobson, 36 years old, formerly a 20th ward political fixer.

Hold Mother for Arson Quiz.

The state's attorney's office last night was holding Mrs. Isabel Borrell, 38 years old, wife of a WPA worker and mother of three children, as a suspected arsonist. Eight fires have occurred in the building in which she lives at 4716 Sheridan road, in 18 months. She was arrested early yesterday after the last fire was extinguished. Two other residents of the building said she came out of the basement carrying a half empty kerosene can just after the blaze started.

Mr. Nash disclosed last night that John Brill, 19 years old, 8907 Cottage Grove avenue, had confessed setting fire Dec. 26 to the store of his stepfather, John Brade, at 5142 South Halsted street. The youth, formerly a CCC worker, said that Brade wished to collect $3,800 insurance, and had paid him $135 for his work. Brade is under arrest.

HOLD FUNERAL RITE TOMORROW FOR C. H. WOOD

Funeral services for Clarence Herbert Wood, 62 years old, wholesale jeweler who died on Wednesday in his home at 9531 South Seeley avenue, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in St. Paul's Union church, 9354 South Winchester avenue. Burial will be in Mount Greenwood cemetery.

Mr. Wood was born in Chicago in the old Englewood district. He began his career in the jewelry business at the age of 16, when he went to work for C. H. Knight & Co. After 17 years with this concern he went to C. & E. Marshall company, 1445 West Jackson boulevard, as vice president and technical adviser. He was regarded as an authority on imported jewelry.

Mr. Wood had resided in the Beverly Hills district for the last 34 years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Julia Reckard Wood, and a daughter, Mrs. Martha Peggelaar, both of the Seeley avenue address; a sister, Mrs. Jessie W. Draper, of Marshalltown, Ia., and a brother, Dr. Ernest A. Wood, of Ashland, Ore.

C. H. CEPERLY, 96, IS DEAD; PIONEER OF ROGERS PARK

Funeral services for Cornelius H. Ceperly, last surviving member of Cumberland post, No. 737, G. A. R., will be held at 3 p. m. today from his home at 1629 Morse avenue, where he had lived for nearly half a century and where he died on Wednesday. He was 96 years old.

Mr. Ceperly was born in New York state and came to Chicago when he was 5 years old. During the civil war he served three years in the 113th Illinois Volunteer infantry. He was one of the first contractors in Rogers Park and built many of the first houses in that district.

For six years Mr. Ceperly was a member of the North Shore park board. He served in the county clerk's office for eight years, was a building inspector for two years, and an internal revenue collector for five years. He was president of the school board of Rogers Park before that village was annexed to Chicago. Surviving are his son and four daughters.

MRS. H. E. KEOUGH DIES; WIDOW OF TRIBUNE WRITER

Mrs. Bertha Atherton Keough, widow of Hugh E. Keough, one time sports writer for THE TRIBUNE, founder of the "Wake of the News" column, died yesterday at her home at 4206 Lake Park avenue after a brief illness. Mrs. Keough was long one of Chicago's most enthusiastic sports fans and was well known in major league baseball circles. She made a 'round the world trip with the Chicago White Sox after her husband's death in 1912. She is survived by a sister, Marguerite Atherton, and a niece, Mrs. Francis Duffy. Funeral services will be held at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon in the chapel at 4141 Cottage Grove avenue. Burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery.

Richard Coleman, Deputy City Sealer, Is Dead at 31

Richard Coleman, 31 years old, 629 North Christiana avenue, a deputy city sealer for the last six years, died yesterday in the Alexian Brothers hospital after an operation. He is survived by his wife, Margaret, and a brother, Walter Coleman, chief plumbing examiner in the city water department. Funeral services will be held Monday morning at St. Matthew church, Walnut street and Albany avenue. Burial will be in Mount Carmel cemetery.

Whitman Taylor, Chicago Attorney, Dies in Bermuda

Word was received here yesterday of the death in Hamilton, Bermuda, of Whitman Taylor, 41 years old, member of the law firm of Carpenter, McCann, Taylor & Hardy. Death occurred on Wednesday and was due to a heart ailment. Mr. Taylor, who resided at 627 Drexel avenue, Glencoe, had gone to Bermuda last October in an effort to regain his health. He was accompanied by his wife. Mr. Taylor joined the law firm in 1924 and specialized in patent and trade mark cases. During the world war he was a second lieutenant in the army air corps. Burial was held in St. Paul's churchyard at Paget.

J. W. Worth, Los Angeles Yarn Manufacturer, Dies

BENTON BUKEY, SANTA FE ROAD OFFICIAL, DEAD

Benton M. Bukey, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fe railroad, died of pneumonia yesterday in a Los Angeles hotel, according to word received here last evening. He was 57 years old. His wife, Alberta, was at his bedside.

Mr. Bukey started his career as a clerk for the Southern railway in 1899 and later served the Burlington, the Missouri Pacific and the Missouri-Kansas-Texas lines. In 1906 he joined the Santa Fe as a rate clerk, becoming assistant general passenger agent in 1915 and assistant passenger traffic manager in 1929.

During 1918 and 1919 the Santa Fe granted him a leave of absence to serve as assistant manager of inland traffic for the navy department under the United States railroad administration. His Chicago home is at 7130 Jeffery avenue.

While you are well build good general resistance

They are called common "winter" ills, but they may prove just as troublesome these early spring months. It's natural they should. After a strenuous winter of hard work and too little exercise your general resistance is likely to be low. Your reserve forces are likely to be exhausted.

Adex offers you an easy, pleasant means. It provides the vitamin which contributes more than any other to good general resistance — Vitamin A. Every capsule contains not less than 6,600 units.

Adex also furnishes an abundance of Vitamin D—1,320 units with each capsule. At this season, you probably do not get enough Vitamin D from sunshine and will benefit by this extra amount. Another advantage in Adex is that only natural vitamins go into the capsules and tablets.

Start with Adex today and keep it up regularly. To get best results, you should take Adex every single day. Now at any reliable drug store. Prepared by E. R. Squibb & Sons, manufacturing chemists since 1858.

NO MORE STAYS FOR HAUPTMANN, SAYS GOVERNOR

Evidence for New Trial Only Hope Now.

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Gov. Harold G. Hoffman of New Jersey, here today to address a club luncheon, said positively that, in spite of all reports, he does not intend to grant another reprieve to Bruno Richard Hauptmann, under sentence to die the week of March 30 for the murder of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr.

"As matters now stand there will be no further reprieve," he said.

Modifying this slightly, he said there would be no reprieve "unless something arises that will bring Attorney General Wilentz and myself into agreement to go before Justice Trenchard with new evidence."

Holds Time Will be Up.

Discussing the execution date set for Hauptmann, he said he did not feel that he had the legal right to grant the condemned man another reprieve because the "ninety days from his sentence in December will have expired by the date set for his execution."

Before the governor arrived here it was learned that he has sent Andrew K. Dutch, a state motor vehicle inspector, to the Panama Canal zone in an effort to question Dr. John F. [Jafsie] Condon, the Lindbergh kidnaping ransom negotiator.

When the Court of Pardons met to consider Hauptmann's plea for clemency, the governor announced his desire to interrogate Dr. Condon, and he has since stressed this desire on several occasions. The prosecuting authorities have refused, however, to do anything about bringing the elderly lecturer back from his vacation.

Hopes for Thorough Quiz.

Ostensibly Dutch left the country for a vacation, but it is known that he hopes to question Dr. Condon extensively. It has also been learned that he expects, while in Havana, to investigate a report that the late Isador Fisch, on whose shoulders Hauptmann sought to shift the blame for the crime, once attempted to cash some of the marked ransom money there.

W. F. BADE DIES; DISCOVERED LOST CITY OF MIZPAH

Berkeley, Cal., March 5.—(AP)—Dr. William F. Bade, 65, discoverer of the lost city of Mizpah in Palestine, died last night after a paralytic stroke.

As director of the Palestine institute, Dr. Bade directed the work that determined the location of the ruins.

Dr. Bade did his first archeological excavation abroad in 1925-'26. In 1927 he returned to Palestine, locating and uncovering the Mizpah ruins. Pottery and other relics which he unearthed at that time helped to confirm, he believed, Old Testament history of civilizations both before and after the invasion of the Canaanites. His finding of the skull of a woman showing indications of modern hair dressing modes was received by the press as the discovery of a "bobbed haired Venus."

Dr. Bade was a native of Carver, Minn.

He was known as a biologist and as the literary heir of John Muir, the naturalist. A long friendship with Muir, during which Bade assisted the famous naturalist in the presentation of some of his notable works, led to his being named literary executor in Muir's will.

Memorial Mass to Be Held Here for Son of De Valera

A memorial mass for Brian De Valera, son of the president of the Irish Free State, will be held Monday morning at St. Patrick's church, Adams and Des Plaines streets, under the auspices of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic. Young De Valera was fatally injured Feb. 9 when he was thrown from his horse in Dublin.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Sophie Tucker is coming back to radio—and this time, mind you, as a band leader. On May 8 Miss Tucker will bring an orchestra she is now organizing to the Terrace room of the Morrison hotel. Thus the "last of the red hot mammas" will become the first woman to wave a baton regularly before a jazz orchestra on the air. And henceforth she is to be billed as "Public Sweetheart No. 1." If Mary Pickford, "America's Sweetheart," has any comments to make regarding this near-plagiarism they will be recorded here later.

Miss Pickford, incidentally, will introduce Freddie Bartholomew, the British boy actor, as "Little Lord Fauntleroy—a rôle she once essayed herself—on her program from New York next Tuesday. Young Bartholomew made his first major league radio appearance a week ago in the CBS presentation of "Peter Pan" and on this occasion showed resourcefulness that amazed some of the oldsters around the studios.

The bugaboo of all veteran radio actors is to find a page of the script missing during the broadcast. Well, it happened to young Freddie that night right in the middle of a speech. He ad libbed for a line or two and then grabbed the script of the young actor next to him. Presence of mind aplenty!

The ways of radio in America are somewhat befuddling to Jack Hylton, British band leader. Hylton was informed yesterday that he could not play "Yankee Doodle" and "Stars and Stripes Forever" on his sponsored program over CBS Saturday evening because of copyright restrictions. The patriotic numbers are said to be involved in the current copyright squabble. Hylton is investigating the status of "God Save the King."

Sigmund Romberg, the composer and orchestra leader, here yesterday between trains, dished out praise for Kathryn Witwer, young Chicago soprano who has made several appearances with him recently. She used to sing with the Northerners on W-G-N. Romberg expects to use her again in the fall. He was en route to Hollywood where he is to write the music for a new picture. While out there he will use west coast talent on his air show.

The Chicago Rhythm club is sponsoring a matinée concert presenting the swing music of Fletcher Henderson's orchestra, heard nightly over NBC, at the Congress hotel at 2:30 Sunday. Benny Goodman, the "sultan of swing," will assist with his clarinet. And most of the orchestra leaders around town will be on hand during this performance, which will be something of a hot jazz clinic. Goodman gave a similar concert three months ago.

Frank Black, NBC musical director, has been in bed for a week with a dislocated vertebra. He sustained the injury while conducting a program of "All Irving Berlin Music" over CBS.

SAMUEL WINEGAR, INSURANCE MAN AND PASTOR, DIES

The Rev. Samuel J. Winegar, a Baptist minister for 24 years and a life insurance broker in Chicago from 1906 until his retirement six years ago, died yesterday in the North Chicago hospital after a long illness. He was 84 years old.

After graduation from the old Chicago Theological seminary in 1882, the Rev. Mr. Winegar went to Mitchell, S. D., as a missionary-pastor. He later served a church at Sioux City, Ia., and Bethany church in Chicago until leaving the active ministry to enter the insurance business.

The family home is at 159 North Taylor avenue, Oak Park. The widow, two sons, and two daughters survive. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning in the chapel at 720 Lake street, Oak Park. Burial will be at Kenosha, Wis.

S. H. Trego Dies; Veteran Editor at Blandinsville

Macomb, Ill., March 5.—(AP)—S. H. Trego, 82, editor of the Blandinsville Star Gazette, died today. He was widely known in Republican politics. Formerly a school teacher, Mr. Trego purchased a weekly newspaper in 1908 and published it with aggressive editorial policies.

New York, March 5.—Trading in United States government loans again held the spotlight today on the New York exchange. Persistent demand for the long term treasury issues carried them to new high levels on a turnover of more than $2,000,000. Nineteen of twenty-one government issues went to new high levels for the year, and twelve established new high marks since their issuance.

Domestic corporate bonds also responded to a fairly broad demand with substantial gains on the day. Transactions amounted to $14,582,000 as compared with $15,046,000 on Wednesday.

Why Market Advanced.

The advance in government loans was attributed in trading circles to the likelihood that allotments on the new 2¾ per cent bonds and 1½ per cent notes will be scaled down to record low proportions. Gains in the outstanding federal issues ranged from 2-32 to 13-32 point, while quotations on the new securities in "when issued" dealings reached new high levels. The notes were quoted at 101 to 101 2-32 while the bonds held at a premium of close to 1½ points.

The market for secondary railroad liens showed more confidence and the upward trend was resumed over a broad list of those issues. New Haven bonds, which suffered a rather substantial setback earlier in the week, rallied today, while good sized advances ruled elsewhere throughout the group. Leading industrial and public utility loans were steady to firm in comparatively dull trading.

South Americans Strong.

Buying in South American dollar bonds featured trading in foreign obligations with the loans of Argentina, Buenos Aires, and Cordoba leading the advance. Narrow fluctuations ruled among the Italian and Japanese issues.

The market value of bonds listed on the New York exchange showed an appreciation of $276,708,944 during February. On March 1 there were 1,462 bond issues with a par value of $43,015,263,454 and having a total market value of $40,624,571,422 as compared with $40,347,862,478 on Feb. 1. The average price advanced from $93.59 to $94.44.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Reynolds Spring.

Investors' Guide: I would appreciate information about Reynolds Spring.—S. W. J.

Answer: Operations of Reynolds Spring company, Jackson, Mich., are conducted along two major lines. The most important is the manufacture of springs for automobile cushions and furniture. A development of the last few years is the "plastic mold" division, which produces bakelite and unbreakable household utensils.

Like many other companies depending primarily on the automobile industry for earnings, business for all of 1935 showed substantial improvement over 1934, due to natural increase in sale of new cars and presentation of two new series of models by automobile manufacturers during the same year. On Nov. 26, 1935, according to C. G. Munn, president, the company was operating at capacity.

Munn said that third quarter earnings were depressed somewhat because of temporary letdown in production by automobile companies while bringing out new models.

For the first nine months of 1935 net sales were $3,447,000 and net income was $263,000, or $1.82 a share. This compared with sales of $2,536,000 and net income of $196,000, or $1.35 a share, for the corresponding 1934 period.

Sales in 1934 were $2,879,000, against $1,961,000 for 1933. Net income in 1934 was $151,000, or $1.04 a share. This was just about three times the income of $49,000, or 33 cents a share, reported for 1933. In 1932 and 1931 losses of $192,000 and $195,000 respectively were sustained.

On Sept. 30, 1935, current assets were $753,000 and current liabilities were $237,000. Long term debt was $514,000. There are outstanding 145,000 shares of $1 par capital stock. The stock now pays 25 cents a quarter. In 1935 dividends totaled 80 cents a share.

Commercial Telephone.

Investors' Guide: I paid $100 for a telephone bond and I would like to know what the market price on said bond is. The bond is a telephone bond purchased from Commercial Telephone company, Madison, Wis. Therefore, please let me hear from you at once.—S. D.

Answer: According to Illinois Commercial Telephone company, Madison, Wis., all Commercial Telephone company first mortgage 8 per cent bonds, series A, dated July 1, 1926, and due July 1, 1946, were called for redemption on July 1, 1928. Funds were deposited with Chicago Trust company, Chicago, for that purpose in 1928.

NET OF KELLOGG SWITCHBOARD IS HIGHER IN 1935

Plans to Clear Arrears on Preferred Issue.

The Kellogg Switchboard and Supply company, Chicago manufacturer of telephone systems, radio apparatus, and electrical equipment, yesterday reported net income of $115,030 for 1935, against $59,780 for 1934. G. A. Yanochowski, president, said that value of orders received for the first two months of 1936 was the largest for any corresponding period since 1931.

Directors submitted a plan to stockholders that contemplates wiping out the $57.75 of accrued preferred stock dividends, totaling $1,237,871, by April 1, to be voted on at the meeting to be held March 31.

Plans Exchange of Stock.

The plan provides that for each share of $100 par 7 per cent preferred with accrued dividends the holder will receive one new share of $100 par 5 per cent cumulative preferred, convertible into common stock, five new common shares, and $7.75 cash. Common stock holdings will remain undisturbed.

The management pointed out that present earnings and prospects indicate the resumption of preferred dividend payments on July 31.

Under the present setup, earnings in 1935 were 76 per cent of preferred dividend requirements. Had the new plan been in effect, earnings would have been 1.07 times preferred dividend requirements and equal to 5 cents a common share.

Burrough's Profit Larger.

Burroughs Adding Machine company, and subsidiaries, reported 1935 net income of $5,113,528, equal to $1.02 a share, compared with $3,253,500, or 65 cents a share, in 1934.

Atlantic Refining company, and subsidiaries, reported 1935 net profit of $3,970,598, equal to $1.49 a share, against $5,512,105, or $2.07 a share, in 1934.

Duke Power company had 1935 net profit of $4,250,498, equal to $4.19 a share, compared with $2,952,370, or $2..90 a share in the preceding year.

CHICAGO STOCKS IRREGULAR; CORD SHARES ADVANCE

A heavy turnover in Cord corporation shares and ten new highs for the year featured a generally irregular market yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Aside from Cord, trading was moderate, with total volume amounting to 91,000 shares.

The flurry in Cord pushed the shares up ¾ to 7, which was ⅝ below the year's best price. Advance Aluminum spurted to 8¼, a new top, and closed at 8⅛, up 1⅛. Marshall Field touched another high at 19 and closed 1⅛ higher. Bliss & Laughlin extended its rise to a top of 29¼ and closed up 1½ at 28¾. Heileman & Prima also made new highs, Prima jumping 1⅛. E. L. Bruce and Curtis Lighting rose better than a point, while Jarvis and Jefferson Electric were up major fractions, all at new tops.

Butler Brothers and Cities Service eased fractionally. Losses of a point or more were chalked up against Keystone Steel, Lynch, Montgomery Ward A, Northwest Utilities preferred, and Central and South West preferred and prior lien issues.

SOIL CONSERVATION PLAN INSPIRES RISE IN COTTON

Cotton futures averaged slightly higher yesterday, with a little buying based on Secretary Wallace's statement at Memphis, indicating an effort would be made to withdraw about 10,000,000 acres from cultivation this season. Closing trades in Chicago were at gains of 5 to 7 points while other markets were unchanged to 10 points higher. [A point is equal to 1-100 cent.]

Spot cotton closed unchanged to 10 points higher yesterday, with New Orleans at 11.20 cents, Houston and Galveston 11.10 cents and New York 11.24 cents per pound. Prices in cents per pound:

U. S. WILL BUY BULK OF WORLD SILVER OUTPUT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—The New Deal is moving toward control of 75 per cent of the world's silver production, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. indicated today.

Morgenthau responded affirmatively to questions as to whether the treasury would enter into arrangements with South American countries similar to the purchase agreements with Canada and Mexico.

Amplifying the announcement of yesterday that the government through its fiscal agent, the New York Federal Reserve bank, would buy newly mined silver from Canada, Morgenthau said the price would be 45 cents an ounce. This is a quarter of a cent higher than the price quoted by Handy & Harman, New York silver brokers.

Pact with Mexico Recalled.

The Mexican agreement was disclosed early in January and was described as establishing a broader use of silver as a standard of monetary value on a coördinated basis with gold and providing a more effective stabilization of silver values for the benefit of the producing countries.

Agreement to purchase the Canadian and Mexican silver output gives this country command of 62 per cent of the world's production of the metal, while the addition of the South American producing countries, the largest of which is Peru, would increase the control to 75 per cent.

The treasury is buying all newly mined silver in the United States, which produced about 38,400,000 ounces last year. Mexico produced an estimated 72,200,000 ounces in 1935, Canada, 16,400,000; the South American countries, 25,000,000, and the rest of the world, 54,500,000.

Loss Near 100 Millions.

Morgenthau declined to say whether the United States would continue to buy silver in the world market. After stepping up the price to 65 cents an ounce the treasury dropped out of the London market last December and the price crashed to 45 cents, leaving the treasury upwards of 100 million dollars in the hole on silver stocks it had acquired.

It was estimated that silver stocks held by the treasury now amount to 23 per cent of the gold stocks. The holdings are approximately 2,072,000,000 ounces in silver, plus whatever undisclosed stock is included in the stabilization fund. It was reported that the treasury could bring its holdings up to 33 1-3 per cent of the gold stocks, as required by law, in two and a half years if it obtains all the annual world production.

Canadian mining officials were quoted today in dispatches from Ottawa as saying they expected about 14,000,000 ounces of newly-coined Canadian silver would be available for sale to the United States this year.

Silver Sags in London.

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—Bar silver declined farther today in the London metal market, reaching a new low of 19 1-16 pence a fine ounce for the current downturn, and within 1-16 penny of the Jan. 17 level, which was the lowest in two years. The drop from the preceding day amounted to ⅛ penny and brought the metal to an American equivalent of 42.85 cents an ounce.

In New York the price of imported bar silver remained at 44¾ cents an ounce.

ONE OF RESERVE'S NEW DIRECTORS TO BE CHAIRMAN

Announcement at Washington that Eugene M. Stevens, chairman of Federal Reserve bank of Chicago, will be retired April 30 means that the board of governors of the system will select three new directors for the Chicago bank in the next 60 days. One of the new directors will also serve as chairman of the board.

Stevens is the only remaining class C director on the board of the Chicago bank. Two vacancies already exist as a result of the expiration on Dec. 31, 1935, of the term of James Simpson and the voluntary retirement more than a year ago of F. C. Ball, Muncie, Ind., capitalist. None of the class A or B directors, selected by the stockholders of the bank, is eligible for the position of chairman.

The possibility of the reappointment of James Simpson as a class C director and his selection as chairman has been mentioned in Washington. It was pointed out here yesterday, however, that a ruling was made last spring under which no director can be reappointed who has served more than six consecutive years. Simpson served 18 years.

Elevated Trafic, Including Transfers, 25¾% Above '35

The Chicago Rapid Transit company yesterday revised its previous estimate of February passenger trafic to include transfers, showing a total gain of 25.75 per cent over February, 1935. Previous estimates, excluding transfers, placed the increase at about 13 per cent.

GEN. DAWES PREDICTS PROSPEROUS PERIOD FOR HEAVY INDUSTRY

Tucson, Ariz., March 5.—[Special.]—Former Vice President Charles Gates Dawes predicted here today a two year period of prosperity for heavy industry in which steel will set the pace. Gen. Dawes and Mrs. Dawes are here to visit Gen. John J. Pershing.

Gen. Dawes said that in his opinion this year should see the ordinary current demand in heavy industry approach normal and, in addition, there should be an unusual demand resulting from the postponed demands which have accumulated during the last five years.

"If the same thing happens at the same period in this recovery as in the two great depressions commencing in 1873 and 1893," he added, "the present upward tendency in steel ingot production and heavy industries generally should, during the calendar year, reach nearly, if not full, production capacity."

Gen. Dawes, who is chairman of the City National Bank and Trust Company of Chicago, when he was here in March, 1935, to visit Gen. Pershing gave the depression two months to end. At that time he said the country would realize the upturn not later than in July.

BANK CLEARINGS ATTAIN HIGHEST MARK IN 8 WEEKS

New York, March 5.—(AP)—Bank clearings for the twenty-two leading cities in the United States for the week ended March 4 were the highest in eight weeks and showed a gain of 1.3 per cent over the corresponding week of 1935, Dun & Bradstreet reported today.

The total was $6,062,379,000, compared with $5,947,995,000 for the like week a year ago. In the preceding week, which covered a five day period, the gain over a year ago was 8.9 per cent.

Clearings at New York City were $4,003,294,000, or 2.4 per cent below a year ago, while the aggregate for centers outside New York of $2,059,085,000 rose 11.5 per cent above the $1,946,764,000 reported in 1935. There were gains this week at eighteen of the twenty-two reporting cities. The most substantial upturns over last year's totals occurred at New Orleans, Chicago, Omaha, and San Francisco.

"Clearings both this year and last covered the heaviest monthly settlements incident to the first week of a month," the review said. For the two corresponding weeks of last year the increase was $1,338,043,000.

U. S. GYPSUM CO. BUYS NATIONAL ASBESTOS FIRM

The United States Gypsum company of Chicago has acquired the National Asbestos company of Jersey City, N. J., officials of the former company disclosed last night. They declined to state the consideration paid.

The National Asbestos company manufactures asphalt shingles and asbestos pipe covering. While the officers are resigning, the regular working force of around 200 persons will be retained.

It was explained that the National Asbestos company was acquired by U. S. Gypsum, which is one of the largest building material manufacturers in the country, to round out its line. U. S. Gypsum has more than 40 plants located in various cities of the country.

RFC to Lend West'n Pacific 3 Million for Improvements

Washington, D. C., March 5.—(AP)—Announcement of a Reconstruction Finance corporation agreement to lend the Western Pacific Railroad company $3,000,000 for rehabilitation of the road was made today by Chairman Jesse H. Jones. The RFC, Jones said, will buy at par and accrued interest 4 per cent trustee certificates in this amount.

New Financing of 3 Companies 200 Millions

Refinancing operations announced yesterday by three corporations, including two railroads, involved a total of nearly $200,000,000. One was the offering today of $60,344,000 bonds of the Virginian railway, the largest block of rail bonds offered the public in five years. The second was the request of the New York Central railroad for authority from the interstate commerce commission to refinance $62,900,000 of bank loans. The third was the filing of a registration statement by the Eastern Gas and Fuel associates with the SEC covering $75,000,000 of bonds.

The Virginian railway issue consists of first lien and refunding series A 3¾ per cent bonds, due March 1, 1966. The offering price is 102¼.

Headed by Brown, Harriman.

The offering group is headed by Brown, Harriman & Co., Inc., and includes Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Lee Higginson corporation, Kidder Peabody & Co., Mellon Securities Company, Inc., Blyth & Co., Inc., the First Boston corporation, and Edward B. Smith & Co.

Proceeds from the sale of the bonds will be used to redeem $55,344,000 of first mortgage 50 year 5 per cent series A bonds, due May 1, 1962, and $5,000,000 of 50 year 4½ per cent series B bonds, due on the same date. The series A bonds are redeemable at 110 and the series B at 102½.

In its refinancing operation the New York Central proposes to issue $40,000,000 of 10 year 3¾ per cent secured sinking fund bonds, $15,000,000 of serial secured notes, and $7,900,000 in 5 year 3 per cent promissory notes. The serial notes would be issued in five series bearing interest ranging from 1½ per cent to 2.6 per cent. The road is now paying 4 per cent on its bank loans.

For Refunding Purposes.

The registration statement filed by Eastern Gas and Fuel associates, the major unit of the Koppers group, covers a proposed issue of $75,000,000 first mortgage and collateral trust bonds, series A, 4 per cent, due March 1, 1956. It is stated that the proposed issue is primarily for refunding purposes and upon its completion the corporate structure of the company and its subsidiaries will be greatly simplified. The proposed refinancing is expected to result in savings of interest and other charges.

Permission was asked of the Interstate Commerce commission yesterday by the Great Northern railroad to waive the redemption privilege on $4,935,000 of 4 per cent serial bonds held by the Reconstruction Finance corporation. The action was taken at the request of the RFC to make the obligations more readily salable to the public.

Middle West Serial Notes Delisted by New York Curb

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—The New York Curb exchange today removed from unlisted trading certificates of deposit for Middle West Utilities company 5 per cent serial notes, following a meeting of the noteholders' committee in Chicago at which the Chicago Title and Trust company, depositary, was instructed to close permanently the transfer books as of the close of business tomorrow.

Owens-Illinois Can Takes Over Enterprise Company

Toledo, O., March 5.—[Special.]—Transfer of the Enterprise Can company of Pittsburgh, to the Owens-Illinois Can company of Toledo, was made today. Payment for the Enterprise company consisted of 20,401 shares of Owens-Illinois common stock. The Owens-Illinois Can company was formed recently by Owens-Illinois Glass to make tin containers.

U. S. WILL THROW OUT PADDED SUBSCRIPTIONS TO NEW OBLIGATIONS

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Many of the subscriptions for the treasury's latest issues of bonds and notes were not bona fide or had been padded, Secretary Morgenthau announced today. Only the subscriptions regarded as legitimate, however, will be considered, the secretary stated.

Subscriptions for the cash offering of $650,000,000 in 2¾ per cent bonds and $600,000,000 in 1½ per cent notes amounted to about $7,500,000,000.

Several manufacturers put in large subscriptions, Secretary Morgenthau said. He mentioned particularly a manufacturer in the middle west who had a "terrific subscription." The treasury and its fiscal agent, the New York Federal Reserve bank, are going through the thousands of subscriptions, to eliminate those not considered strictly legitimate.

"The banks, in their subscriptions, are limited by the treasury to an amount equal to 50 per cent of their capital and surplus," Secretary Morgenthau said. "It is not fair that manufacturers or others should be permitted to put in unlimited subscriptions."

The conversion issue also was large, a large percentage of the $559,000,000 in notes maturing April 15, having been turned in for the bonds and notes.

ILLINOIS' INCOME DURING FEBRUARY ABOVE YEAR AGO

Springfield, Ill., March 5.—(AP)—Treasurer John Stelle's office today announced that the state's income during February was $14,353,141 and disbursements $11,414,030. The revenue compared with $19,373,084 in January, $12,343,638 in February, 1935, and $10,837,929, exclusive of relief bond sales, in February, 1934.

Sources of last month's income were: Direct property tax, $360,825; inheritance tax, $463,549; beverage and liquor tax, $681,844; insurance taxes and fees, $37,025; corporation fees and taxes, $105,400; interest on state funds, $14,006; sales tax, $3,212,653; sales tax paid under protest, $585,850; sales tax, for relief, $1,946,700; motor fuel tax, $2,225,219; motor vehicle tax, $2,592,769; federal aid to roads, $863,844; trust funds, $481,708; miscellaneous fees, earnings, and refunds, $781,742.

FENTON HEADS COMMITTEE FOR BANK PARLEYS

Howard W. Fenton, president of the Harris Trust and Savings bank, yesterday was named chairman of the committee of Chicago bankers which will make arrangements for the midwest conference on banking to be held here April 2 and 3 under the auspices of the American Bankers association. John H. Hogan, vice president of Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, was named vice chairman.

The conference is one of a series of regional meetings planned to aid in the development of banking service. Robert V. Fleming, president of the bankers' association, will preside at the meetings.

World Gold Output Lower but Still Tops Year Ago

World gold production, excepting Russia, in January totaled 2,160,000 fine ounces, compared with 2,291,000 in December and 1,951,000 in January, 1935, the American Bureau of Metal Statistics announced yesterday. Gold output for the United States amounted to 291,000 ounces, compared with 382,000 ounces in the preceding month. Russia's total was estimated by the bureau at 460,000 ounces, or unchanged from last December.

STOCKS RETAIN MOMENTUM, BUT PACE IS SLOWER

Most of Gains Held to Fractions.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 5.—Spending the greater part of today's session in drifting about the starting line, the general list of stocks failed to realize much more than fractional gains, although a number of miscellaneous issues registered advances running from 1 to 4 points.

Farm implement shares, mail orders and various specialty issues reflected a certain amount of outside buying as the industrial leaders of the recent advance were allowed to rest. A number of the carrier issues were also buoyant. Total turnover for the session added up to around 2,620,000 shares in comparison with yesterday's volume of close to 3,011,000.

Rail Issues Strong.

Railroad shares made a gallant attempt early in the day to take the leadership of the market, and though interest in them waned in the closing hours not a few of them managed to finish the day with substantial gains. Union Pacific was a standout in the group, steaming ahead to tack up a gain of 5 points and close at a new high of 137. Atchison also hit a new high of 80⅛ with a net gain of 2⅛ points.

Among the miscellaneous issues making the best showing were American Safety Razor, Beatrice Creamery, Certainteed Products, Continental Diamond, Kelvinator, National Cash Register, Snider Packing and Scott Paper.

Motor shares generally failed to develop much momentum, but Auburn easily rode into new high territory with an advance of 3¾ points.

Farm Shares Spurt.

Farm implements shares were pushed ahead 1 to 3 points as more details of the government's vast plans for spreading federal money among farmers, under the camouflage of soil conservation were revealed. International Harvester showed the way to the group with a gain of 3⅛ points, with J. I. Case and Caterpillar not far behind. Mail orders fell into line, Sears Roebuck and Montgomery Ward both registering gains of more than a point.

Steels also were lower, while communication issues were mixed. American Telephone moved up a fraction, while Western Union gave up more than a point.

There was a big turnover in shares of Curtis Wright, two issues of which reached new high ground. Wright Aero was the most buoyant in the group, soaring almost 6 points.

THREE CONCERNS TO PAY EXTRAS; OTHERS ARREARS

The Acme Steel company yesterday declared an extra dividend of 25 cents along with the regular quarterly payment on the common stock, both payable April 1. Similar payments were made on Jan. 2.

Woodall Industries, Inc., declared an extra dividend of 5 cents in addition to the regular quarterly payment of 5 cents, both payable March 31.

American Chain company voted a dividend of $1.75 on account of accumulations on the 7 per cent preferred stock, payable April 1. On Jan. 1, when a payment of $3.50 was made, the arrears totaled $22.75 a share.

Ward Baking corporation announced an accumulation dividend of 50 cents on the 7 per cent preferred stock, payable April 1. On Dec. 26, when a similar amount was paid, the balance of past due payments was at $18.25 a share.

Midland Royalty corporation declared a dividend of 50 cents on account of accumulation on the $2 convertible preferred stock, payable March 16. On Dec. 23, when a similar payment was made, the arrears totaled $4 a share.

Banks Show Sharp Recovery Since Moratorium in 1933

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Banks of the nation are this week observing the third anniversary of the moratorium of 1933. During the last three years they have made great recovery.

In March, 1933, the member banks of the federal reserve system alone were in debt 1 billion 414 million dollars to the reserve banks, and their reserves were down to 1 billion 776 millions. Today they owe nothing to the reserve banks, and their reserves stand at the all time high of 5 billion 813 millions, of which 3 billion 40 millions—or more than half—are surplus above legal requirements.

Three years ago conversion of bank deposits into currency had boosted the total of money in circulation to 7 billion 538 million dollars and the nation's monetary gold stocks—including gold in hoarding—were down to 4 billion 243 million dollars.

Big Changes Are Shown.

Now the total of money in circulation is only 5 billion 848 million dollars, and monetary gold stocks have risen to 10 billion 167 millions. Net demand and time deposits of federal reserve member banks in New York and Chicago, which amounted to only 5 billion 230 million dollars in March, 1933, now total 7 billion 300 millions, not allowing for minor changes in methods of calculation.

This recovery, however, has not been without casualties. About 2,400 banks have gone out of business. The 16,000 remaining institutions have been subjected more closely to control by Washington authorities. Many of them have been recapitalized with government aid, nearly a billion dollars of Reconstruction Finance corporation funds having been poured into them.

Banks Face New Troubles.

Although they have been greatly strengthened and no longer fear runs by depositors, banks today are faced with a new set of troubles. The very liquidity which makes them strong is a pressing concern. They now have billions of idle funds for which there is no employment, except the lending of additional money to the federal government.

Commercial loans are the lowest in years, not because the banks are unwilling to lend but because, in spite of their efforts to find employment for their money, good borrowers hesitate to go into debt. The competition of government lending agencies also has reduced the number of prospective borrowers from banks.

Another worry for banks is the possibility of impairment of the government's credit because of the continuous string of federal deficits. Having invested nearly half of their deposits in the obligations of the government they would be exposed to serious losses in the event of a material decline in the market value of government securities.

Brokers' Loans Chief Factor in Credit Boost

An expansion of 100 million dollars in the volume of bank credit employed in the securities market was shown in the weekly report of the federal reserve system released last night. The increase sent the total of brokers' loans of the New York members of the reserve system to 869 millions, or 293 millions above the total outstanding a year ago.

The gains in brokers' loans showed that there has been some increase in margin trading in stocks, although much of the business being done is on a cash basis.

N. Y. Loans Up; Chicago Down.

Brokers' loans accounted for most of the 152 millions expansion in bank credit in New York in the week ended Wednesday. Commercial loans were 44 higher and loans to other banks were up 12 millions. The statement of the Chicago member banks showed a contraction of 30 millions in all types of credit outstanding.

Reserve Balances Dip.

A contraction of 26 millions occurred last week in the aggregate reserve balances of all member banks of the system. This decline accompanied a rise of 73 millions in money in circulation. At the same time the "excess" reserves, representing funds for which banks have no profitable outlet, declined 20 millions. The total of such excess reserves now stands at 3,040 million dollars.

Although a small shipment of gold moved out of the country last week to Holland the reserve system statement showed imports exceeded the outflow. Total monetary gold stocks on Wednesday were 10,167 millions, or 4 millions higher than a week earlier.

PRICES OF WIRE NAILS CUT FOR SECOND QUARTER

Cleveland, O., March 5.—(AP)—"Wire nail makers today opened books for second quarter business at $2.10 per hundredweight, Pittsburgh and Cleveland," Daily Metal Trade said today. This is a sharp reduction compared with the first quarter published price of $2.40 but represents an advance from quotations as low as $2 reported within the last week or so.

Posting of the market $6 per ton under the first quarter published level is seen as a move directed toward stabilizing the situation. Related wire products, contingent upon the nail base, are similarly affected, it is understood.

Steel Announcement Next Week.

New York, March 5.—(AP)—The Republic steel corporation will announce its quotation on steel products for second quarter delivery not later than Wednesday of next week, Tom Girdler, chairman, said today. He would make no statement concerning what the prices will be.

SOME BANKS FAIL TO PAY DIVIDENDS ON STOCK HELD BY RFC

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—Approximately 92 per cent, or $39,973,270, in dividends on $702,007,353 of preferred stock which the RFC has purchased in banks and trust companies and 90 per cent, or $18,004,885, in interest on capital notes and debentures of such institutions which it holds have been regularly paid, Jesse H. Jones, chairman, said today.

He said that of the preferred stock purchased $61,655,736 had been retired by the banks and that 87 per cent of the banks had made regular payments of dividends. Disbursements by the RFC for capital notes and debentures of banks totaled $340,413,300, of which $109,960,361 was retired and about 85 per cent of the banks paid their interest without interruption, he said.

The large percentage of retirement of capital notes, Jones said, was due to repayments by certain large state banks which had not needed capital but which coöperated with the RFC.

Jones said that the RFC was not "crowding" the banks which had failed regularly to meet their dividend and interest payments.

PUTS INTEREST AND DIVIDENDS ABOVE YEAR AGO

Investors will receive approximately $500,655,000 in dividend and interest disbursements during March, the New York Journal of Commerce estimated. This compares with $450,755,000 in March, 1935, and $368,500,000 in February, this year. The March dividend disbursements are estimated at $177,800,000, compared with $163,000,000 in March, 1935. Interest payments are estimated at $323,000,000, compared with $309,000,000 last year.

Utility and railroad corporations will pay less this year than in 1935, but payments by industrial corporations will be high.

COUNTY TO LEVY 2½ MILLION ON RFC BANK STOCK

Action Long Delayed by Court, Congress.

Personal property tax assessments aggregating approximately $2,500,000 for 1934 and 1935 will be levied immediately against the Reconstruction Finance corporation on its preferred stock holdings in Cook county banks, Assessor John S. Clark announced yesterday.

The action has been withheld since last fall, pending court decisions and legislation before congress. The assessor prepared to levy the assessments in January when the United States Supreme court held, in a Maryland case, that such stock is subject to local taxation.

Action Postponed Again.

Action was again postponed when the RFC sought to have congress pass "remedial" legislation exempting its preferred shares from taxation. Although approved by the senate after a bitter debate, in which Senator James Couzens [Rep., Mich.] assailed the RFC's giving of high salaried positions to politically favored persons, the bill was beaten in the house. Principal target of the Couzens attack was Walter J. Cummings, drawing salaries aggregating $90,000 as chairman of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company and trustee for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, both of which are debtors of the RFC.

It also was said that the assessor's office had held up the levy while the RFC sought to reach some agreement with the banks whereby the latter might pay at least part of the tax. Banks now pay personal property assessments against their common stock for stockholders. In the case of the preferred stock, it was understood, such a payment in addition to regular dividends would be considered discriminatory against common stock holders.

The back levy for 1934 amounts to $1,193,655, Assessor Clark announced. This is arrived at by taking 60 per cent of the face value of $75,500,000 as the assessed valuation. Thirty-seven per cent of the assessed valuation, the "equalization factor," cuts to $16,772,000 the amount on which a levy of $7.12 per $100 is made.

The assessor's rolls for 1935 show $76,950,000 in preferred stock held by the RFC in Cook county banks. Applying the same procedure, the taxable amount is $17,052,900. The 1935 tax rate has not been definitly determined, but is estimated at $7.60 to $7.70 per $100. At the smaller figure the tax would amount to $1,298,300, while at the higher rate it would be $1,315,383.

List of RFC Holdings.

Preferred stocks on which 1934 assessments are being made are: Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, $50,000,000 [$334 not held by RFC]; First National of Chicago, $25,000,000; First National of Evanston, $150,000; Lawndale National, $350,000; La Grange National, $50,000.

AUTO INDUSTRY NEAR 1929 PEAK IN EMPLOYMENT

Average for Workers Last Year Is 438,000.

Employment in the automobile industry during 1935 came within 10,000 men of equaling the 1929 all-time high record of about 447,000 workers, the Automobile Manufacturers association disclosed yesterday.

This high level was attained last year despite a total motor car output that was a million and a quarter cars beneath the 1929 mark, it was pointed out by Alfred Reeves, vice president and general manager of the association.

"Comparison with the industry's second best year, 1928, accentuates this showing," Reeves said. "Average employment that year was 435,000 workers by comparison with 1935's figure of 438,000 employés, but its production was 4,359,000 motor vehicles, or 350,000 greater than last year's output of 4,009,000 units."

Expects Larger Output.

"While the general expectations of the industry are for greater production in 1936 than in 1935, the figures for last year must be interpreted cautiously because of introduction of the new 1936 models in the fall," Reeves continued.

"This brought two periods of building up dealer inventories into a single year, a situation not likely to recur soon. This fact, however, does not affect expectations as to total employment for the current year."

There was a material reduction in the fluctuation of employment from month to month last year, due partly to the fall production program, but largely to other measures to stabilize employment. The average month to month variation in employment was only 8.6 per cent, compared with 12 per cent in 1934.

Employment is Stabilized.

"A further indication of improvement is shown in the fact that in 1934 average monthly employment dropped below 400,000 workers in eight months, while in 1935 only two months showed fewer than 400,000 employés and only four months broke as low as 430,000 employés."

This result, Reeves said, is in line with the objective of the employment stabilizing program now in effect throughout the industry.

ASSAILS RFC FIFTY MILLION LOAN AS FRAUD

Lawyer Attacks Dawes Bank Deal.

"How many of the officers went over to the new bank?" inquired Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

"The key men went to the new bank, practically all of them," responded Stransky.

The names of Gen. Dawes, Philip R. Clarke, C. C. Haffner and other principal officers figured in the ensuing argument with RFC counsel, who said that Dawes did not become head of the new bank until two months later.

"I wouldn't interrupt," remarked Judge Wilkerson, "except that I think it important to know whether the officers deserted the old bank for the new. Who was president of the new bank?"

Used as "Instrumentality."

"Mr. Clarke, who was president of the old bank," said Stransky. "The old bank simply was used as an instrumentality to borrow on its assets to set the new bank up in business. When the old bank was loaded down with this 50 million loan, it was allowed to sink as a scuttled ship and the officers transferred their allegiance to the new and left the little stockholders holding the bag."

Hurd interrupted to say that stockholders had the right to subscribe to shares of the new bank.

"And what benefit is that, when a man is broke," countered Stransky. "The record shows only 123 shares so taken."

Stransky declared that directors acted as promoters of the new bank and that the Central Republic was not compensated for what it transferred to the City National bank. Rogge retorted that it was paid for all it gave.

"Paid for, nothing!" exclaimed Stransky. "Good will, going concern value, and other things were just thrown in."

"They were worth nothing," replied Rogge.

Judge Gives View.

"I'd hardly say that," Judge Wilkerson interposed. "I'm thinking of the fact that old officers went to the new bank, and any prestige and ability they had was transferred from the old."

"Deposits and depositors stayed with the new bank, too," continued Stransky. "To say all these things are worth nothing shows the desperate position which opposing counsel choose to occupy."

"We can't get away from the fact that this new bank got 50 million dollars and that the 50 million came from the United States treasury," Judge Wilkerson said.

"The stockholders didn't get it," added Stransky. "If any liability arises from an implied contract it can apply only to the one who got the money."

Attacking what he termed the crux of the case, Stransky said it was never intended by the parties to the original agreement of June 27 that it should be a binding contract, that the notes themselves were to be the basis of the contract and that any liability arose from each of them, separately.

Argues Agreement Is Abandoned.

He said "anybody with any business acumen" could see that the original agreement—to loan up to 90 millions to keep the bank afloat—was abandoned immediately when Owen D. Young, chairman of General Electric company and friend of Gen. Dawes, told the RFC the bank would be forced to liquidate in any event.

The RFC refusal to advance "a paltry $475,000" proved it no longer considered the original contract binding, said Stransky, and further advances were delayed until the set up of the new bank was completed.

"This [final] contract was the product of some fertile mind," said Stransky. "Bear in mind, there were some pretty shrewd lawyers figuring it out. They saw as clearly as we can see now they were steering a canoe through dangerous waters in an effort to evade amendments of July 21 [to the RFC act].

"First, they were stopped because no loan could be made to a new bank. Next, they were stopped because the new bank had no assets on which to make a loan. They used the dead carcass of the old bank. The amendments themselves operated to forbid carrying out the original contract."

The amendments permitted loans to new banks, but forbade loans to banks having an officer who had been an RFC official in the preceding 12 months. Gen. Dawes had headed the RFC.

Aurora and Elgin Road Loss Reduced Slightly in 1935

The Chicago, Aurora and Elgin railroad had a net loss of $619,270 after all charges in 1935, as compared with a net loss of $622,265 in 1934, President Edwin C. Faber reported yesterday to stockholders. The road carried 4,584,438 passengers in 1935, as compared with 4,331,086 in 1934, an increase of 5.8 per cent. Operating revenue totaled $1,151,005, as compared with $1,110,458. Operating expenses totaled $1,844,923 and taxes amounted to $66,825, resulting in an operating loss of $238,929.

Houdaille-Hershey Head Denies Rumor of Merger

Detroit, Mich., March 5.—[Special.]—Claire L. Barnes, president of the Houdaille-Hershey corporation, yesterday denied that any merger was contemplated between Houdaille-Hershey corporation and Motor Products corporation, as rumored. The board of directors has given no consideration to such a consolidation, he said.

ROADS OPPOSE GREAT WESTERN RAIL-AUTO PLAN

Rate Structure Too Low, They Assert.

A number of leading western railroads have joined the movement launched before the interstate commerce commission in Minneapolis on Wednesday to block a plan whereby the Chicago Great Western will carry on flat cars trucks of the Keeshin Motor Express company between Chicago and St. Paul-Minneapolis, B. F. Parsons, traffic manager of the road, disclosed yesterday. Opposing carriers object to the low rate structure.

Parsons said that the road proposed a service for the Keeshin trucks similar to the arrangement now in effect between the trucking concern and the Rock Island railroad under which the railroad hauls Keeshin trucks between Chicago and Davenport, Rock Island, and Moline on flat cars.

Cost Is $42.50 a Truck.

"Keeshin estimates that it costs him 10 cents a mile to operate a truck between Chicago and St. Paul-Minneapolis," Parsons said. "Thus the cost to send a truck between the two points is about $42.50. We offered to load Keeshin's trucks on flat cars and carry them to the Twin Cities for $42.50 a truck.

"Keeshin's saving would be freedom from the hazards of highway operation and in wear and tear on his trucks. The Great Western believes that it can secure business that is now lost to it by this arrangement.

"The freight rates to the shippers would be the same as they are now, but shippers would have the benefit of a regular shipping schedule. The public would benefit from having the highways cleared of many trucks.

Running Time Is Same.

"I understand that it takes one of Keeshin's trucks about 19 hours to get to the Twin Cities. We have a train leaving here in the night which takes about the same time."

Parsons said the principal merchandise involved in this movement is package goods, dry goods, hardware, and groceries.

Among the railroads which have objected to the rate schedule filed by the Great Western are the North Western, Burlington, Milwaukee, Soo Line, Illinois Central, Santa Fe, Missouri Pacific, Wabash, Great Northern, and Northern Pacific.

COURT REFUSES TO ENJOIN BOND SALE TO WORKERS

New York, March 5.—[Special.]—An application by Attorney General John J. Bennett Jr. for an injunction restraining the Associated Gas and Electric company and seventeen affiliates from selling Associated system bonds to their employés was denied today by Supreme Court Justice John McGeehan on several grounds, among others that "if coercion was practiced the defendants should be prosecuted criminally for that crime."

The attorney general argued that the utility's practice in selling bonds to employés was a violation of the state labor law. He said that $4,500,000 worth of bonds had been sold since Oct. 8, 1931, when Associated Gas organized the Utilities Employés Security company to handle the selling of bonds to its employés.

In denying the injunction Justice McGeehan also denied an application for the appointment of a receiver for the $4,500,000 collected on the sale of the bonds.

GOVERNMENT LOSES TILT IN RAILS FIGHT ON RETIREMENT BOARD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 5.—The government today lost the first round in the legal battle of 125 railroads against the operation of the newly created railroad retirement board. District Supreme Court Justice Jennings Bailey overruled the government's motion to dismiss the railroads' suit to restrain the board from carrying out provisions of the railroad retirement act.

Government attorneys asked dismissal of the suit on the contention that the pleadings of the railroads presented no case or controversy. They held because no action of the board was in question there was no ground for the suit to stand on.

Justice Bailey ruled that as members of the board have accepted their offices the court can assume they will attempt to carry out the duties imposed upon them in the act. In addition he held that the railroads' charge in the bill of complaint that the board must gather and keep records available only from railroad files contained an allegation of fact.

WORK ON THIRD OF PWA HOUSING PROJECTS BEGUN

BY AL CHASE.

Steam shovels yesterday began excavating the site of the third of the contemplated three Public Works administration government housing developments for Chicago, to be known as the Trumbull Park project. This $3,250,000 group of buildings will occupy a 21½ acre site in South Chicago, between 105th and 109th streets, Bensley and Yates avenue, and the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad.

Excavation for the $6,000,000 Diversey housing project was started on Wednesday. Excavation work for the Jane Addams houses on the west side started several months ago.

The Trumbull park development is expected to care for 460 families. It will consist of two story row houses and three story apartment buildings. Plans for this have been completed but bids have not yet been taken. It is a substitute for the 35 acre $7,000,000 "South Park Gardens" development for colored families, which was blocked by a court ruling that the federal government could not condemn property for housing.

The Diversey project, for which $6,000,000 has been allocated, will care for 1,119 families, according to tentative plans. It is on the east bank of the north branch of the Chicago river and extends both north and south from Diversey parkway.

Better Business Forecast for Abbott Laboratories

Recalling that 1935 was the best year in the history of the company, S. De Witt Clough, president of Abbott Laboratories, told stockholders at the annual meeting yesterday that 1936 prospects are bright and that the management is anticipating increased business. Clough said a new factory unit with 25,000 square feet of floor space has been added, a branch office has been opened in Pittsburgh, and several new products have been introduced in the last year. Stockholders reëlected all directors and the board renamed all officers.

Old Bethlehem Steel Stock Is Dropped from Trading

New York, March 5.—(AP)—The New York Stock exchange has suspended from trading Bethlehem Steel corporation, New Jersey, 7 per cent preferred stock, $100 par value, and common stock, no par value, the two issues having been replaced with stock of the newly created Bethlehem Steel corporation of Delaware.

GOODYEAR TIRE ORDERED TO END PRICE 'FAVORS'

Contract with Sears Held Destructive.

Washington, D. C., March 5.—[Special.]—After two years of investigation the federal trade commission today ordered the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company to cease making price concessions to Sears, Roebuck & Co. The commission ruled that the price favors extended to the Chicago mail order and chain store organization tended to destroy competition and create a monopoly.

Officials of the tire company immediately announced that a court appeal from the commission order would be taken. Under the law the company is entitled to ask for a review of the commission's findings by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals in its own jurisdiction.

Through discounts and secret rebates granted to Sears by the Goodyear company the commission found that the business of smaller manufacturers and dealers was destroyed or seriously damaged.

Call It Common Practice.

In its defense the Goodyear company had contended that an adverse decision "would wipe out a widely used trade practice under which a substantial portion of the country's retail business is now done."

The findings of the commission have important implications according to the views held here. The commission itself described the case as "one of the most important" it had ever considered.

The commission asserted that the tire company's contract with Sears Roebuck was "a secret agreement entered into under which the Goodyear company assigned to Sears, Roebuck & Co. 18,000 shares of Goodyear common stock and also paid over to Sears Roebuck & Co. $800,000 in cash to be used in the purchase of 32,000 additional shares of Goodyear common stock as a consideration for the signing of a contract without opening it to competition."

Cite Amounts of Favors.

Goodyear's present contract with Sears expires in 1942. Under this contract, the commission found, the gross discrimination in favor of Sears Roebuck & Co. ranged from 32 to 53 per cent. The net discrimination, it found, amounted to 29 to 40 per cent.

On a comparable volume of business the commission estimated that independent concerns would have had to pay $41,000,000 more than Sears.

The commission asserted that Goodyear concealed the prices and terms at which it was selling tires to Sears from its own sales organization and from the trade generally.

Goodyear was ordered to file with the commission within 30 days a written report stating the manner in which it will comply with the order.

WHEAT PRICES VARIABLE; LESS SPREAD SHOWN

May Delivery Sags; Other Options Firmer.

Closing of spreads between May and July wheat and the failure of forecast rains to materialize in the southwest resulted in an irregular market yesterday. May wheat closed fractionally lower, while the July and September deliveries were slightly higher. May wheat, which was 11 cents per bushel premium over the July option on Wednesday, dropped to about 10 cents premium yesterday.

Rather sharp falling off in the recent aggressive demand for soft red winter wheat was said to have induced profit taking by spreaders between the May and July deliveries. Shipping sales of 32,000 bushels were reported by local handlers yesterday, compared with about 100,000 bushels per day earlier in the week.

Fear New Process Tax.

Uncertainty created by conflicting reports from Washington as to the proposed processing tax on agricultural commodities is partly responsible for the less active milling demand for cash wheat.

There was little change in the character of crop comments on winter wheat from the southwest.

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Wk. ago.
Wheat	$1.00	$1.00⅜	$1.00⅝
Corn	.61¼	.61¼	.60⅝
Oats	.28⅜	.28⅜	.29⅛
Rye	.56¾	.57¼	.56⅝

Corn Loses Early Gain.

While some improvement was reported in the outside interest in corn, trading in the aggregate was light and it took only scattered commission house buying to lift prices fractionally. The upturn was checked by selling against offers.

May oats developed independent easiness and closed fractionally lower. The open interest in May oats on Wednesday was reported at 33,443,000 bushels.

Commission house buying of May rye around 57 cents and selling around 57½ cents tended to hold prices within narrow limits yesterday. A car of Michigan malting barley sold at 89 cents per bushel, a new high for the season in the local market.

A seat on the Chicago Board of Trade sold yesterday for $5,500, an increase of $500 over the previous sale price.

PRODUCE - MARKETS

Fresh eggs were in good demand yesterday with prices steady to ½c per doz higher, the latter on current receipts. Arrivals were 12,365 cases. Butter was weak and ⅛@1¼c per lb lower. Receipts totaled 8,991 tubs. Live poultry was unchanged with receipts of 14 trucks. Potatoes sold slowly with Colorado stock firm and other varieties steady. Receipts were 86 cars with 212 cars on team track:

BUTTER PRICES EASE DUE TO IMPORTS, LARGE OUTPUT

Heavy receipts of foreign butter in New York and a reported increase in domestic production in the last week yesterday caused a moderate setback in butter prices in the Chicago market. In the cash market butter declined as much as a cent a pound on some grades. On the Chicago Mercantile exchange the March future dropped a half cent a pound but rallied to close unchanged at 30¾ cents.

The arrival of 500,000 pounds of foreign butter was reported in New York. The American association report estimated domestic production for the last week at 15 per cent over the comparable period of 1935.

Trading in eggs was quiet and prices were steady. In the cash market closing prices were unchanged to ¼ cent a pound higher. The October future closed unchanged at 21⅝ cents a dozen.

Transactions in butter futures amounted to 80 cars and sales in eggs were reported at 5 cars. The range prices in the future market follow:

FIELD SEEDS

Timothy seed was quoted at $3.10 per 100 lbs for country run and $3.50@3.55 for fancy recleaned.

Prices quoted are for irregular country run lots, unless otherwise specified, per 100 lbs. Jobbers' prices to the retail trade are higher. Red clover, country run, $12.75@18.25; fancy recleaned, $19.00@20.00; alsike, $13.75@20.25; alfalfa, Kansas, $14.75; Utah, $15.00; Idaho, $15.25; eastern affidavit Grimm, $20.50. Sweet clover, country run, $4.00@4.50. Red top, 90 to 95 per cent purity, $6.00@7.00.

MINNEAPOLIS FLOUR.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., March 5.—(AP)—FLOUR—Prices were unchanged today. Carload lots of family patents were quoted at $7.10@7.30 a barrel in 98 pound cotton sacks. Shipments were 24,304 brls. Pure brand was quoted at $16.00@16.25 and standard middlings at $16.00 per ton.

HIDE FUTURES.

NEW YORK, March 5.—[Special.]—Hide futures moved up 3@5 points as the result of commission house buying. Sales were 38 lots, or 1,320,000 lbs. Closing bids in cents per pound: March 11.08c, June 11.41c, September 11.75c, December 12.05c, March [1937] 12.35c.

HOGS SELL OFF; NEW PROCESSING TAX IS FEARED

Hog prices fluctuated sharply yesterday, closing weak to unevenly lower despite the good demand for fresh pork at 50 cents to $1 higher prices. Both the extreme top and average prices declined 5 cents at $10.65 and $10.10, respectively, but some of the final bids were off as much as 15 to 25 cents, with 2,000 of the 12,000 hogs received being carried over unsold.

Members of the trade attributed the lack of demand and the weak undercurrent of the market to proposals of a new tax on hogs. While yesterday's proposal was for only 30 cents per hundred pounds, compared with the AAA's tax of $2.25, it was recalled that the AAA's tax began at 50 cents per hundred pounds and was gradually increased until it reached $2.25.

Packers preferred the cheaper grades of steers yesterday, and these, as well as most hefers, brought fully steady prices. Other steers and most beef cows ruled weak to 25 cents lower, most longfed steers sharing in the decline. Calves slumped fully 25 cents.

Lambs recovered from the midweek slump when wholesale prices for lamb meat rose 50 cents. Top fed westerns sold at $10.

BURNHAM'S

Will Enable You to EARN MORE

The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher.

SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.

NEW
Trip to Paris Award

Velma Marsh, 5115 Nevada-st., has just been announced as winner of the semi-annual Burnham scholarship for efficiency while in training. Like Geneve Huffman, last winner, she will enjoy a wonderful trip to Paris with all expenses paid, even to spending money. She sails on S. S. Manhattan April 22d.

DAY OR EVENING CLASSES.
Pay for MOST of your tuition after graduation. It is to your advantage to register now, even if you cannot start until later. Open every day and Monday, Wednesday, Friday evenings until 9 p. m.

AUTOMOBILE LOANS.

BUY A CAR BORROW ON A CAR

There isn't an automobile dealer in town who isn't prepared to make the sale of a new or used car and let you pay for it "on time." That is one of the reasons why the price of an automobile—new or used—is so low. Manufacturers can make so many, and dealers can sell so many—mass production it is called, and mass selling.

If the price of a car—new or used—is low because of time financing, should not time financing be low, too, because of the mass of time financing?

We think so.

And that is the reason we are offering low rates and liberal terms to the buyers of cars or those who own a car and who wish to borrow on it.

FOR EXAMPLE—

$100	$12.08	$112.08	$ 9.34
$200	19.00	219.00	18.25
$300	23.04	323.04	26.92
$400	29.00	429.00	35.75
$500	35.08	535.08	44.59

Fire and theft insurance only is required—you may place the insurance with your own broker or agent.
